House Vote Kills Public Housing Measure

Overall Plan Passes 352-36 By Roll Call

President's Proposal Defeated 211 To 176; Bill Goes To Senate

Washington, April 2 (AP) — The House tonight voted to kill President Eisenhower's public housing proposals and then passed a bill carrying out many other parts of his overall housing program.

Final passage of the housing bill came on a roll call vote of 352-36.

In a final, showdown roll call, capping a week-long battle, Southern Democrats and many Republicans teamed up to run up a count of 211 to 176 against Eisenhower's plan for public housing.

The President had asked for authority to build 35,000 units each year for the next four years—a total of 140,000. The units are rented below costs to low-income families, with a government subsidy making up the loss.

Approve Lower Payments

Then the House passed a bill aimed at lower down payments and monthly payments for new or old homes or for home improvements, and a stepped up slum clearance program. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Both Democrats and Republican leaders in the House fought in vain to add authority for new public housing to the legislation.

Southerners led the fight against the program, denouncing it as "socialistic." They said it "made the people wards of a bureaucratic state."

The last roll call on public housing was on a Democratic motion to give the President just what he originally asked for. Earlier, House Republican leaders had attempted to salvage the program with a proposal carrying out the President's program for the first two years. They said this would have been satisfactory to the President.

Leave 35,000 Units

The decision left on the books authority to complete only 35,000 units on which contracts already have been made. These could be built in the fiscal year starting July 1.

A vote of 141 to 68 also stripped from the wide-ranging housing bill a provision which would have permitted the President to raise interest rates on GI home loans. This vote keeps the maximum rate at the present 4½ per cent.

Fire Ravages Six Houses, Plant

Firemen pour water onto two buildings of the Castle Novelty Company, plastics products plant at Leominster, Mass., which was destroyed by fire set off by a terrific explosion yesterday. The blaze spread to six adjoining houses in the congested sector and damage was set at $200,000.

Vietminh Force Smashes Near French Fortress

HANOI, Indochina, April 2 (AP)—Thousands of Vietminh troops smashed to within a mile of the heart of Dien Bien Phu from two sides today. The French, weary and outnumbered, counterattacked desperately. The fate of the fortress hung on the outcome.

French tanks and artillery mowed down wave after wave of the wildly screaming Communist-led rebels, but still they came on. A French army spokesman called it "the most violent" struggle ever fought in Indochina.

The French were outnumbered six or eight to one. The Vietminh had an estimated 40,000 men ringing Dien Bien Phu, whose downfall would give the rebels their biggest victory in the seven-year-old Indochina War.

The Vietminh assault on the French Union's key northwest fortress reached a new pitch of fury when thousands of fresh rebel troops stormed through raking French fire from the northwest and southeast.

In the northwest the rebels overran a key outpost and the French rushed up tanks in a desperate effort to retake it.

In the southeast the French counterattacked 11 times, but the rebel onslaughts continued.

But the Vietminh were paying a high toll for their successes. Unofficial estimates placed the rebel losses today at 1,000 killed, bringing the total to 3,000 since the latest assault began last Tuesday night.

(A French News Agency dispatch received in Paris said Vietminh regulars, apparently trying to weaken the French defense of Dien Bien Phu, had crossed from Laos into the southwest Indochina kingdom of Cambodia. The dispatch said the invaders were engaged in bitter fighting with French forces.

(It was the first report of a large scale invasion of Cambodia, which hitherto has experienced only scattered forays by rebel bands.)

Penny Edwards Turns To Work Of Lord

HOLLYWOOD, April 2 (AP)—Actress Penny Edwards, once one of the movies' top pin-up queens, today turned her heart toward "the work of the Lord."

"I guess I posed for every kind of cheesecake there is," the 25-year-old actress said. "But now my heart has been changed."

The long-limbed dancer—she says she was in Ziegfeld Follies at 12—explained that the urge for religion struck her while sitting in a room.

"Suddenly," she said, "the room seemed to light up. I felt myself bursting with love and happiness. At that moment I wanted to have a baby. Then two weeks later, I found out I was pregnant."

She said she then turned to serious reading of the Bible.

Long-Absent Goose Quills Return To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The Supreme Court hasn't been the same ever since World War II, but things are returning to normal: The long-absent goose quill is on its way back.

When the court resumes business on Monday after a three-week recess, lawyers will find the familiar crossed quills resting on their legally lined notepaper.

"We haven't had any quill pens around here since 1946," said T. Perry Lippitt, the Supreme Court marshal. "It'll seem like old home week."

No self-respecting court would have been without its goose quills before the mechanized age set in around the turn of the 20th century.

But modern times took their toll: by 1940, there was only one place in the world where the nation's highest court could buy quills. That was London.

The war played hob with that source of supply and by 1946, the Supreme Court had run out of goose quills.

"Everybody was sorry to see the go," said Lippitt. "People used to ask about them all the time."

Making handsome writing instruments from goose feathers is one of the oldest of arts. Veteran stationery men here said it's also one of the toughest, particularly in trimming the point just so.

Fortune and a New Haven gooseman named Lewis Glaser now have come to smile on the court. It seems Glaser, who raises geese, has joined with Yale professors in developing a 20th century quill pen.

"It is highly recommended for pen and ink drawings, advertising agency art work, music writing and graceful, delicate and beautiful handwriting," said Glaser.

Nation's Working Picture Believed To Be Encouraging

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Unemployment over the nation failed to show an expected decline in March but administration officials said today the fact that it increased so little was encouraging.

The Census Bureau estimated the number of jobless in March at 3,725,000, or 54,000 more than the 3,671,000 in February.

The civilian "labor force" was calculated at 63,825,000, with 60,100,000 actually employed, an increase of 45,000 from February. Farm employment rose 171,000 to 5,875,000 and non-farm employment declined 126,000 to 54,225,000.

Male Nurse Gets Honors

CLEVELAND, April 2 (AP) — A battle-hardened ex-Marine was among 26 first-year nurses honored today at Fairview Park Hospital.

"When I started the course last fall it seemed very strange," Marte Baro, 26, of Grosse Point, Mich. said. "But the girls were very helpful and accepted me."

Baro, a medical corpsman, suffered serious wounds while fighting in Korea and later had his hands, feet and legs frozen. He plans to study anesthesiology.

There have been embarrassing moments in his nursing career so far, but apparently not too many. "When a lesson in back rubbing would start," he explained, "I was asked to leave."

Instead of a white cap given female students for completing the first year of the three-year course, he will receive a pin.

Baro was a member of the 1st Marine Division in World War II and served as a Navy medical corpsman in the Korean War.

Schine Is Denied Criminal Course

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The Army said today that Pvt. G. David Schine, a central figure in the controversy between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army officials, has had too little experience to qualify as a military police criminal investigator.

The Army announcement said that Schine, a former nonsalaried consultant to McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, would not be permitted to enroll in the advanced criminal investigation course of the provost marshal's school at Camp Gordon, Ga.

Russians Told H-Bomb Getting Out Of Control

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—The Russian people were told today hydrogen bombs, such as those tested by the United States in the Pacific, can destroy "the fruits of a thousand years of human toil."

Renewed emphasis by the Russians on the destructive nature of the H-bomb aroused speculation in Moscow and elsewhere over improved chances for East-West agreement on control of nuclear weapons.

There were these additional developments related to the H-bomb:

1. Prime Minister Nehru of India called for Russia and the United States to agree on a standstill pact which would bar any more H-bomb explosions. Nehru said this agreement could be reached in the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

2. Britain's top political leaders, sought to quiet growing alarm over the H-bomb. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared the bomb in some respects could be an instrument of peace—"an appalling warning to anyone who should contemplate aggression."

The Soviet press approached the subject of destructive capabilities of the H-bomb by carrying a resolution of the Communist-sponsored World Peace Council in Vienna which declared the U.S. hydrogen bomb tests had gotten out of control.

The resolution said the peoples of the world were despairing because "science has liberated boundless forces which can destroy the fruits of a thousand years of human toil." The resolution called for immediate agreement of the big powers on banning all kinds of mass annihilation weapons.

The significant factor to observers in Moscow was that the Russian people were being told again of the U.S. tests in the Pacific.

Pravda had only mentioned the tests once before.

But Malenkov had warned previously that an atomic war could mean the destruction of civilization. There has been more information in the Soviet press on atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Gold Is Convicted As Red Supporter

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Russian-born Ben Gold, president of the Fur and Leather Workers Union, was convicted today of falsely denying he was a Communist party member and a supporter of its policies.

U. S. District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin allowed Gold to remain at liberty under $10,000 bail pending sentencing. No date was set for sentencing, but defense attorneys were given until April 12 to file various legal motions, including one asking for a new trial.

Adlai Attacks Administration On GOP Split

Says The President Must Pick Between Nation And Party

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 2 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, charging "We have been cheaply distracted long enough," declared tonight that President Eisenhower "will have to make his choice between uniting his party and uniting his nation."

Referring to the Republican fight over Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), Stevenson added that, "So long as his party is constituted as it is at present, he (the President) cannot do both."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech before a North Carolina Democratic party rally, was highly critical of the administration's economic policy and accused the administration of "calculated use for political effect of misbranding, misstatement, misrepresentation on great issues—like foreign policy, defense and the loyalty of our servants . . ."

Predicts Backing

"When our President bestirs himself, ignores the expedient counsel of smallbore politicians, and clears the high-pressure salesmen out of his house, I confidently predict that the American people will be enthusiastically and gratefully behind him."

Referring to the administration's economic program, the former Illinois governor said, "We have had occasion to see another aspect of misbranding and misrepresentation at work in the recent fight over tax legislation. You all read the pronouncements from high places describing the attitude of the Democrats in Congress on the tax bill as unsound and demogogic. Many of you were probably surprised to read that such fine and public-spirited Democrats as (Sen.) Walter George of Georgia, (Rep.) Sam Rayburn of Texas and (Rep.) Jere Cooper of Tennessee were irresponsible demogogues."

Speaking in the center of North Carolina's only Congressional District represented by a Republican, Stevenson sought a return to the Democratic ranks of Southerners who supported President Eisenhower in 1952.

Party Of Security

The Democratic party "remains the party of our security and our salvation," the former Illinois governor declared, "as more and more Southern Democrats who deserted their party in 1952 are coming to realize, after a taste of government by men whose chief qualification for office seems to be the accumulation of large fortunes during times of Democratic prosperity. . . . for my part, the lost sheep are welcome back to the Democratic fold . . ."

Noting the hydrogen bomb tests, Stevenson declared that, "The ghastly explosions . . . have pointed up the imperative necessity for new and desperate international efforts to control the unknown demons that lurk in the atom. And yet for weeks and weeks our national life is preoccupied with Republicans quarreling over the discharge of a dentist by the Army."

Nehru Attacks Use Of H-Bomb

NEW DELHI, India, April 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru declared today the hydrogen bomb threatens "the existence of man and civilization as we know it." He urged the United States and Russia to agree immediately on a standstill barring any more H-bomb explosions.

Nehru told the lower house of Parliament a Russian-U.S. agreement could be worked out in the United Nations. He said this would be a step toward prohibition of mass destruction weapons against whose threat "mankind has to awaken to avert calamity."

Nehru asserted that the only useful purpose of H-bomb tests has been to expose partly the "nature of the horror and the tragedy of the weapon."

The Prime Minister was outlining his government's views in the face of new information on the bomb's destructive power as disclosed in tests by the United States in the Pacific.

Gen. Vandenberg Dies From Cancer

Former Air Force Chief Was 55, Had Been Ill Long Time

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, the handsome, youthful looking flying general who led the Air Force through some of its most trying postwar days, died of cancer today after a lingering illness.

He was 55, and had spent 30 years in uniform. The last five were as Air Force chief of staff.

President Eisenhower said the nation will hold Vandenberg "in grateful remembrance" as a devoted and able military leader. The President's tribute added:

"Gallant commander, a decade ago, of our tactical air force in northwest Europe; unswerving advocate of the precepts and cause of the United States Air Force; a forceful fighter for a strong national defense—General Vandenberg was a courageous and tireless leader. He has left a lasting imprint on the service he loved so well and on the nation he served with all his strength and skill.

"News of his untimely death brings sorrow to his host of civilian and military friends, among whom I was privileged to be numbered."

Fought For Air Force

Vandenberg, who fought quietly and earnestly for his conviction that this country's survival depends on a strong and far-striking Air Force, was stricken with his final illness a few months after he retired with full honors last June.

Since last October he had lain in Walter Reed Hospital, too ill during the final months to receive many visitors. While the Air Force declined to state the nature of his illness until the end, private physicians who attended him during an exploratory operation in 1952 said he was suffering from cancer of the prostate gland, which spread through the pelvic area.

At the bedside when death came at 1:05 p.m. were his wife and their son and daughter.

There were many tributes.

"General Van," as he was known to military and state leaders throughout the world, became America's second Air Force chief of staff at 49. He succeeded Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz and went on to lead the fight to rebuild the U. S. Air Force, greatly weakened after World War II, into a new position of world leadership.

Vandenberg was born at Milwaukee Jan. 24, 1899. His uncle was the late Arthur H. Vandenberg, who became a noted Republican U. S. senator from Michigan.

The future general attended Columbian School in Milwaukee, and then went to the Military Academy at West Point.

He learned to fly at Brooks and Kelly Air Force Bases in Texas and was a lieutenant colonel when World War II broke out.

Went To England

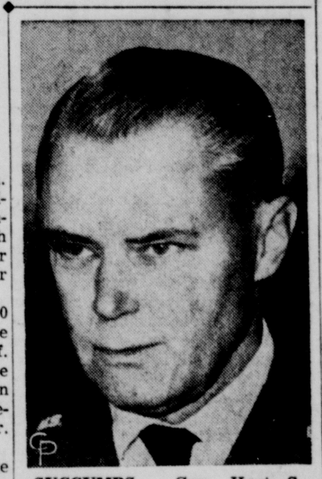

Vandenberg went to England to help organize the 12th Air Force under Gen. James Doolittle in 1942. The 12th subsequently operated out of North Africa. In February, 1943 Vandenberg, by then a brigadier general, became chief of staff of the Northwest African Strategic Air Force.

During this time "General Van" flew many missions over Tunisia, Italy, Sardinia, Sicily and Pantelleria, and received both the Silver Star and the Distinguished Flying Cross. In September, 1943 he became head of an air mission to Russia under Ambassador Averell Harriman.

In 1944 he took command of the 9th Air Force, the fighter and tactical air unit of the European war.

After postwar service as director of intelligence on the War Department General Staff, he served as director of Central Intelligence for almost a year. Returning to military duty in 1947, he became deputy commander and chief of air staff and, in 1948 was promoted to chief of staff of the Air Force.

He is survived by his widow, the former Gladys Rose of Tuxedo, N. Y.; a daughter, Gloria Rose, the wife of Air Force Lt. Col. Robert Ransome Miller, Colorado Springs, Colo.; a son, 1st Lt. Hoyt Sanford Vandenberg Jr., of the 12th Air Force in Germany.

SUCCUMBS — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, former Air Force chief of staff, died yesterday at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington after a lingering illness. Doctors said he had cancer.

President To Speak

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower will speak over television and radio from the White House Monday night on the "concerns" the American people have on international and domestic affairs, including Communist activities in this country.

Sears Is Asked To Prove That He's Impartial

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), a foe of Sen. McCarthy, disclosed today that he had put in a plug for the appointment of Samuel P. Sears as special counsel to handle the Senate inquiry into the row between McCarthy and top Army officials.

Sears, a Boston lawyer, got the job yesterday by unanimous vote of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Later it became known (1) that he had lauded McCarthy in the past and (2) that he had actively interested himself in getting the special counsel's post.

Monroney said today that he didn't know how Sears stood on McCarthy at the time he recommended him to Democratic members of the investigation subcommittee. He added that he thought a man of Sears' reputation and standing at the bar could be expected to conduct a fair investigation.

Meantime, some members of the investigations subcommittee indicated that Sears' first job will be to convince them he can be impartial.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a subcommittee member, said that when Sears was appointed "we had no knowledge" that he had praised McCarthy or had put in a bid for the counsel's job.

Most subcommittee members seemed to be reserving judgment on Sears in the light of the latest developments, preferring to wait until he meets with them Monday and can answer questions and make a statement.

Sears himself has said he feels he has "not done anything that would disqualify me." He promised to tackle the job "as dispassionately as I can" and without "partisanship."

MILLERS FALLS, Mass., April 2 (AP)—John J. Donovan, 79, was killed today by a hearse outside a church, to which the vehicle had just brought a body. The Rev. Charles Switalski interrupted funeral services to give Donovan last rites.

Union Yields To Pressure On 29th Day

NLRB Ultimatum Forces Issue; No Contract Is Signed

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—The old International Longshoremen's Assn. (independent), beaten to its knees by an historic federal mandate, today halted the longest waterfront strike in New York's history.

The union yielded in anger and bitterness.

An unprecedented 24-hour-old ultimatum from the National Labor Relations Board did the trick.

The strikers were told to get back on the job or else stay on the sidelines in a coming bargaining election.

Work Without Contract

"The strike is over and the men will go back to work tomorrow morning," the union announced.

The ILA struck 29 days ago, demanding a contract. But it went back to work without one.

Strikers at the piers when the end came took the news of their defeat glumly—but many were eager to work again.

The tieup of the world's greatest port lasted four days longer than the 25-day wildcat strike of 1951. However, the strike three years ago came during the pre-Christmas shipping rush and is still considered the port's costliest.

In the present strike, an estimated 650 million dollars worth of cargo was tied up here as pier upon pier lay dead through most of the month of March.

Another 500 million dollars worth of cargo was diverted to other ports. Shippers fear as much as 10 per cent of it may never return.

For the racket-ridden, sorely beset ILA the loss of the strike may well mark the beginning of the end.

Under Heavy Attack

Probably never before in the modern era of American labor relations was a single union under such fierce attack by local, state and federal governments.

Its picket lines were thinned out by decree. It was hauled into court for contempt, facing fines of nearly 1½ million dollars. It was bedeviled by nearly a dozen court restraints. Four federal grand juries poked and prodded it.

The once-proud dock union twisted and turned. But it found itself bereft of the friendship it once counted on from city and state officials.

And snapping at its flanks was a powerful rival, a new AFL dock union, flexing its muscles and eager to seize control of the waterfront.

A few hours before the ILA gave up, the State Supreme Court ordered the strike halted. At the same time, a federal judge banned any more picketing on New Jersey piers.

But the ILA was already licked—had been, apparently, since the NLRB ultimatum of the day before.

Maj. Peress Files Given To The FBI

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Army today turned over to the Justice Department for possible action the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, New York dentist who figured in the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army officials.

The announcement of this action was made, without clarification, by Asst. Secretary of Defense Fred Seaton and the Pentagon's general counsel, H. Struve Hensel at a news conference.

Navy's "Operation Howdy" Begins In Southwest Asia

PEARL HARBOR, April 2 (AP)—The Navy has launched a sort of "Operation Howdy," aimed at winning friends for the United States in southeast Asia where Communist influence is strong.

Carrying 216 carefully briefed officers and men, the 1,766-ton aviation tender Orca slipped without fanfare out of Sangley Point, Philippine Islands, March 15 on a three-weeks goodwill tour. The Navy's term for the operation is "Show The Flag."

If its mission of friendship to Indonesia and Malaya proves successful, it may be followed up by a division of destroyers covering a much larger area.

The "Let's Get Acquainted" mission of the Orca had the backing of the State Department in Washington.

The key to "Operation Howdy" is religion.

Briefings of the men aboard the Orca included a comprehensive picture of the countries they will visit and the people's habits, customs and religions.

"Religions are important," says Rear Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, chief of staff to the commander in chief in the Pacific, who originated the idea of the operation.

"Otherwise a friendly sailor with the best of intentions is bound to slap an ascetic Moslem on the back, offer him a drink and make an instant enemy," Hopwood told a newsman.

Hopwood said the Orca's crewmen "realize they are ambassadors of the United States and their country is judged abroad by what they do and how they do it."

Many of the Orca's ports of call, dotted about Malaya and Indonesia, are points which U. S. Navy vessels rarely visit.

But Malenkov had warned previously that an atomic war could mean the destruction of civilization. There has been more information in the Soviet press on atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Gold Is Convicted As Red Supporter

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Russian-born Ben Gold, president of the Fur and Leather Workers Union, was convicted today of falsely denying he was a Communist party member and a supporter of its policies.

U. S. District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin allowed Gold to remain at liberty under $10,000 bail pending sentencing. No date was set for sentencing, but defense attorneys were given until April 12 to file various legal motions, including one asking for a new trial.

McLaughlin Files

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 2 (AP)—Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Wash.) today filed for his third term in the State Senate. The county Republican organization said it is doubtful McLaughlin will have primary opposition.

Adlai Attacks Administration On GOP Split

Says The President Must Pick Between Nation And Party

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 2 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, charging "We have been cheaply distracted long enough," declared tonight that President Eisenhower "will have to make his choice between uniting his party and uniting his nation."

Referring to the Republican fight over Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), Stevenson added that, "So long as his party is constituted as it is at present, he (the President) cannot do both."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech before a North Carolina Democratic party rally, was highly critical of the administration's economic policy and accused the administration of "calculated use for political effect of misbranding, misstatement, misrepresentation on great issues—like foreign policy, defense and the loyalty of our servants . . ."

Predicts Backing

"When our President bestirs himself, ignores the expedient counsel of smallbore politicians, and clears the high-pressure salesmen out of his house, I confidently predict that the American people will be enthusiastically and gratefully behind him."

Referring to the administration's economic program, the former Illinois governor said, "We have had occasion to see another aspect of misbranding and misrepresentation at work in the recent fight over tax legislation. You all read the pronouncements from high places describing the attitude of the Democrats in Congress on the tax bill as unsound and demogogic. Many of you were probably surprised to read that such fine and public-spirited Democrats as (Sen.) Walter George of Georgia, (Rep.) Sam Rayburn of Texas and (Rep.) Jere Cooper of Tennessee were irresponsible demogogues."

Speaking in the center of North Carolina's only Congressional District represented by a Republican, Stevenson sought a return to the Democratic ranks of Southerners who supported President Eisenhower in 1952.

Party Of Security

The Democratic party "remains the party of our security and our salvation," the former Illinois governor declared, "as more and more Southern Democrats who deserted their party in 1952 are coming to realize, after a taste of government by men whose chief qualification for office seems to be the accumulation of large fortunes during times of Democratic prosperity. . . . for my part, the lost sheep are welcome back to the Democratic fold . . ."

Noting the hydrogen bomb tests, Stevenson declared that, "The ghastly explosions . . . have pointed up the imperative necessity for new and desperate international efforts to control the unknown demons that lurk in the atom. And yet for weeks and weeks our national life is preoccupied with Republicans quarreling over the discharge of a dentist by the Army."

Nehru Attacks Use Of H-Bomb

NEW DELHI, India, April 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru declared today the hydrogen bomb threatens "the existence of man and civilization as we know it." He urged the United States and Russia to agree immediately on a standstill barring any more H-bomb explosions.

Nehru told the lower house of Parliament a Russian-U.S. agreement could be worked out in the United Nations. He said this would be a step toward prohibition of mass destruction weapons against whose threat "mankind has to awaken to avert calamity."

Nehru asserted that the only useful purpose of H-bomb tests has been to expose partly the "nature of the horror and the tragedy of the weapon."

The Prime Minister was outlining his government's views in the face of new information on the bomb's destructive power as disclosed in tests by the United States in the Pacific.

Gen. Vandenberg Dies From Cancer

Former Air Force Chief Was 55, Had Been Ill Long Time

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, the handsome, youthful looking flying general who led the Air Force through some of its most trying postwar days, died of cancer today after a lingering illness.

He was 55, and had spent 30 years in uniform. The last five were as Air Force chief of staff.

President Eisenhower said the nation will hold Vandenberg "in grateful remembrance" as a devoted and able military leader. The President's tribute added:

"Gallant commander, a decade ago, of our tactical air force in northwest Europe; unswerving advocate of the precepts and cause of the United States Air Force; a forceful fighter for a strong national defense—General Vandenberg was a courageous and tireless leader. He has left a lasting imprint on the service he loved so well and on the nation he served with all his strength and skill.

"News of his untimely death brings sorrow to his host of civilian and military friends, among whom I was privileged to be numbered."

Fought For Air Force

Vandenberg, who fought quietly and earnestly for his conviction that this country's survival depends on a strong and far-striking Air Force, was stricken with his final illness a few months after he retired with full honors last June.

Since last October he had lain in Walter Reed Hospital, too ill during the final months to receive many visitors. While the Air Force declined to state the nature of his illness until the end, private physicians who attended him during an exploratory operation in 1952 said he was suffering from cancer of the prostate gland, which spread through the pelvic area.

At the bedside when death came at 1:05 p.m. were his wife and their son and daughter.

There were many tributes.

"General Van," as he was known to military and state leaders throughout the world, became America's second Air Force chief of staff at 49. He succeeded Gen. Carl (Tooey) Spaatz and went on to lead the fight to rebuild the U. S. Air Force, greatly weakened after World War II, into a new position of world leadership.

Vandenberg was born at Milwaukee Jan. 24, 1899. His uncle was the late Arthur H. Vandenberg, who became a noted Republican U. S. senator from Michigan.

The future general attended Columbian School in Milwaukee, and then went to the Military Academy at West Point.

He learned to fly at Brooks and Kelly Air Force Bases in Texas and was a lieutenant colonel when World War II broke out.

Went To England

Vandenberg went to England to help organize the 12th Air Force under Gen. James Doolittle in 1942. The 12th subsequently operated out of North Africa. In February, 1943 Vandenberg, by then a brigadier general, became chief of staff of the Northwest African Strategic Air Force.

During this time "General Van" flew many missions over Tunisia, Italy, Sardinia, Sicily and Pantelleria, and received both the Silver Star and the Distinguished Flying Cross. In September, 1943 he became head of an air mission to Russia under Ambassador Averell Harriman.

In 1944 he took command of the 9th Air Force, the fighter and tactical air unit of the European war.

After postwar service as director of intelligence on the War Department General Staff, he served as director of Central Intelligence for almost a year. Returning to military duty in 1947, he became deputy commander and chief of air staff and, in 1948 was promoted to chief of staff of the Air Force.

He is survived by his widow, the former Gladys Rose of Tuxedo, N. Y.; a daughter, Gloria Rose, the wife of Air Force Lt. Col. Robert Ransome Miller, Colorado Springs, Colo.; a son, 1st Lt. Hoyt Sanford Vandenberg Jr., of the 12th Air Force in Germany.

President To Speak

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower will speak over television and radio from the White House Monday night on the "concerns" the American people have on international and domestic affairs, including Communist activities in this country.

SUCCUMBS — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, former Air Force chief of staff, died yesterday at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington after a lingering illness. Doctors said he had cancer.

Sears Is Asked To Prove That He's Impartial

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), a foe of Sen. McCarthy, disclosed today that he had put in a plug for the appointment of Samuel P. Sears as special counsel to handle the Senate inquiry into the row between McCarthy and top Army officials.

Sears, a Boston lawyer, got the job yesterday by unanimous vote of the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Later it became known (1) that he had lauded McCarthy in the past and (2) that he had actively interested himself in getting the special counsel's post.

Monroney said today that he didn't know how Sears stood on McCarthy at the time he recommended him to Democratic members of the investigation subcommittee. He added that he thought a man of Sears' reputation and standing at the bar could be expected to conduct a fair investigation.

Meantime, some members of the investigations subcommittee indicated that Sears' first job will be to convince them he can be impartial.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a subcommittee member, said that when Sears was appointed "we had no knowledge" that he had praised McCarthy or had put in a bid for the counsel's job.

Most subcommittee members seemed to be reserving judgment on Sears in the light of the latest developments, preferring to wait until he meets with them Monday and can answer questions and make a statement.

Sears himself has said he feels he has "not done anything that would disqualify me." He promised to tackle the job "as dispassionately as I can" and without "partisanship."

Killed By Hearse

MILLERS FALLS, Mass., April 2 (AP)—John J. Donovan, 79, was killed today by a hearse outside a church, to which the vehicle had just brought a body. The Rev. Charles Switalski interrupted funeral services to give Donovan last rites.

Union Yields To Pressure On 29th Day

NLRB Ultimatum Forces Issue; No Contract Is Signed

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—The old International Longshoremen's Assn. (independent), beaten to its knees by an historic federal mandate, today halted the longest waterfront strike in New York's history.

The union yielded in anger and bitterness.

An unprecedented 24-hour-old ultimatum from the National Labor Relations Board did the trick.

The strikers were told to get back on the job or else stay on the sidelines in a coming bargaining election.

Work Without Contract

"The strike is over and the men will go back to work tomorrow morning," the union announced.

The ILA struck 29 days ago, demanding a contract. But it went back to work without one.

Strikers at the piers when the end came took the news of their defeat glumly—but many were eager to work again.

The tieup of the world's greatest port lasted four days longer than the 25-day wildcat strike of 1951. However, the strike three years ago came during the pre-Christmas shipping rush and is still considered the port's costliest.

In the present strike, an estimated 650 million dollars worth of cargo was tied up here as pier upon pier lay dead through most of the month of March.

Another 500 million dollars worth of cargo was diverted to other ports. Shippers fear as much as 10 per cent of it may never return.

For the racket-ridden, sorely beset ILA the loss of the strike may well mark the beginning of the end.

Under Heavy Attack

Probably never before in the modern era of American labor relations was a single union under such fierce attack by local, state and federal governments.

Its picket lines were thinned out by decree. It was hauled into court for contempt, facing fines of nearly 1½ million dollars. It was bedeviled by nearly a dozen court restraints. Four federal grand juries poked and prodded it.

The once-proud dock union twisted and turned. But it found itself bereft of the friendship it once counted on from city and state officials.

And snapping at its flanks was a powerful rival, a new AFL dock union, flexing its muscles and eager to seize control of the waterfront.

A few hours before the ILA gave up, the State Supreme Court ordered the strike halted. At the same time, a federal judge banned any more picketing on New Jersey piers.

But the ILA was already licked—had been, apparently, since the NLRB ultimatum of the day before.

Maj. Peress Files Given To The FBI

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The Army today turned over to the Justice Department for possible action the case of former Maj. Irving Peress, New York dentist who figured in the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army officials.

The announcement of this action was made, without clarification, by Asst. Secretary of Defense Fred Seaton and the Pentagon's general counsel, H. Struve Hensel at a news conference.

Penny Edwards Turns To Work Of Lord

HOLLYWOOD, April 2 (AP)—Actress Penny Edwards, once one of the movies' top pin-up queens, today turned her heart toward "the work of the Lord."

"I guess I posed for every kind of cheesecake there is," the 25-year-old actress said. "But now my heart has been changed."

The long-limbed dancer—she says she was in Ziegfeld Follies at 12—explained that the urge for religion struck her while sitting in a room.

"Suddenly," she said, "the room seemed to light up. I felt myself bursting with love and happiness. At that moment I wanted to have a baby. Then two weeks later, I found out I was pregnant."

She said she then turned to serious reading of the Bible.

Long-Absent Goose Quills Return To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The Supreme Court hasn't been the same ever since World War II, but things are returning to normal: The long-absent goose quill is on its way back.

When the court resumes business on Monday after a three-week recess, lawyers will find the familiar crossed quills resting on their legally lined notepaper.

"We haven't had any quill pens around here since 1946," said T. Perry Lippitt, the Supreme Court marshal. "It'll seem like old home week."

No self-respecting court would have been without its goose quills before the mechanized age set in around the turn of the 20th century.

But modern times took their toll: by 1940, there was only one place in the world where the nation's highest court could buy quills. That was London.

The war played hob with that source of supply and by 1946, the Supreme Court had run out of goose quills.

"Everybody was sorry to see the go," said Lippitt. "People used to ask about them all the time."

Making handsome writing instruments from goose feathers is one of the oldest of arts. Veteran stationery men here said it's also one of the toughest, particularly in trimming the point just so.

Fortune and a New Haven gooseman named Lewis Glaser now have come to smile on the court. It seems Glaser, who raises geese, has joined with Yale professors in developing a 20th century quill pen.

"It is highly recommended for pen and ink drawings, advertising agency art work, music writing and graceful, delicate and beautiful handwriting," said Glaser.

Navy's "Operation Howdy" Begins In Southwest Asia

PEARL HARBOR, April 2 (AP)—The Navy has launched a sort of "Operation Howdy," aimed at winning friends for the United States in southeast Asia where Communist influence is strong.

Carrying 216 carefully briefed officers and men, the 1,766-ton aviation tender Orca slipped without fanfare out of Sangley Point, Philippine Islands, March 15 on a three-weeks goodwill tour. The Navy's term for the operation is "Show The Flag."

If its mission of friendship to Indonesia and Malaya proves successful, it may be followed up by a division of destroyers covering a much larger area.

The "Let's Get Acquainted" mission of the Orca had the backing of the State Department in Washington.

The key to "Operation Howdy" is religion.

Briefings of the men aboard the Orca included a comprehensive picture of the countries they will visit and the people's habits, customs and religions.

"Religions are important," says Rear Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, chief of staff to the commander in chief in the Pacific, who originated the idea of the operation.

"Otherwise a friendly sailor with the best of intentions is bound to slap an ascetic Moslem on the back, offer him a drink and make an instant enemy," Hopwood told a newsman.

Hopwood said the Orca's crewmen "realize they are ambassadors of the United States and their country is judged abroad by what they do and how they do it."

Many of the Orca's ports of call, dotted about Malaya and Indonesia, are points which U. S. Navy vessels rarely visit.

M'Keldin Vetoes Veterans Bonus Measure As Illegal

Governor Also Inks 22 Bills Into Law; 7 Others Are Vetoed

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today vetoed a 100-million-dollar veterans' bonus and charged its proponents tried to make political hay by handing him an unconstitutional measure.

"I cannot agree to aid and abet, nor myself indulge in, political trickery" to win the support of ex-servicemen, he said.

"I believe that the veterans of this state are not so naive as to misunderstand the patent political device which the legislative history of this bill reflects in purporting to authorize a bonus."

The bill was one of eight rejected as the governor finished work on legislation passed in the 30-day session which ended a month ago.

Vetoes License Price Raise

McKeldin also vetoed a year's delay in raising the price of license plates by about 33 per cent. Increases now slated to go into effect in 1955 will provide an estimated six million dollars.

The governor, whose veto message was still being prepared, had said during the session a postponement until 1956 would hamper both construction and maintenance in Maryland's 12-year roads program.

He also turned down bills that would have required drivers convicted of "moving" traffic violations to come up with liability insurance within 10 days and would have allowed municipalities to set whatever speed limits they wished on local streets.

The governor signed 22 measures without comment. Some of them would:

1. Provide for annual property assessment, beginning July 1, 1956. Albert W. Ward, secretary of the State Tax Commission, had said this would eliminate the need for assessing between now and then, cutting off prematurely the present three-year rotational system.

M. William Adelson, an adviser to the governor, replied the bill fulfills an ambition long held by McKeldin to keep real estate values current for tax purposes. In effect, by making any other system useless between now and 1956 it establishes annual assessment immediately as the only workable method.

2. Place ceilings of from $9 to $15 per $100 on finance charges when motor vehicles are bought on the installment plan, and prevent dealers from overloading customers with insurance.

3. Allow Baltimore and 12 counties an estimated $350,000 in additional school aid by reducing the tax base on which local requirements are based.

Prove Ability To Pay

4. Compel minors to prove by insurance or otherwise they can pay accident damages before they are licensed to drive.

5. Deny automatic salary raises to lazy, rule-breaking or inefficient State employes.

McKeldin's language sizzled in killing the proposal to almost double the sales tax to give bonuses up to $400 to veterans of both World Wars and Korean service. It would have been subject to referendum this November.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins gave him an opinion this morning which held that proponents forced action before the budget passed, contrary to the constitution, and later parliamentary maneuvers were not sufficient to erase the legal smudge.

The attorney general opined last year that a rent control measure had passed illegally, but McKeldin signed it and said the courts could rule if necessary. He took a different tack on the bonus.

Byrd To Apply For Retirement From University

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd today notified the University of Maryland Board of Regents that he will apply for retirement under the state retirement system on July 1.

This would end his status as president emeritus and remove him from the state payroll. Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the board, said until that time the candidate for Democratic nomination as governor will continue as president emeritus at full pay.

Hartford Winner Of Fire Award

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Hartford, Conn., is the grand award winner in the 1953 national fire waste contest, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce announced today.

First place winners in six population divisions included:

Norfolk, Va., 100,000 to 250,000.

The National Fire Waste Council, organized 32 years ago by the national chamber, each year conducts a nationwide campaign for better fire prevention. Cities are judged on fire loss records, quality of fire fighting facilities and community education programs.

The following cities won honor certificates in their population classes:

Over 500,000—Baltimore, Md.

250,000 to 500,000 — Memphis, Tenn.

100,000 to 250,00 — Chattanooga, Tenn.

20,000 to 50,000 — Parkersburg, W. Va.

Three Youths Face Trial In Abduction

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—Three Virginia youths face trial in Federal Court here Monday on charges of abducting 20-year-old Marie Jolliffee of Hagerstown last Oct. 17.

The three, Earl L. Tomblin, 20, of Purcellville, and Daniel D. Walters, 20, and Marion F. Hough, 21, both of Round Hill, are accused of taking Miss Jolliffee to Round Hill against her will.

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 2 (AP) —James F. McCowan, 63, cook at the city jail, today hoisted a platter of what he described as his light, fluffy pancakes and:

Police Arrest Holdup Suspect

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—Police seeking a bandit trio that got $30,000 from a branch bank, surrounded a house near the bank today and arrested a 28-year-old man.

He was taken to headquarters for questioning and to appear in a line-up before employes and customers who were in the Canton section branch of the Provident Savings Bank yesterday.

Police declined to say what led to the man's arrest or even exactly where the house is located. They also would not say whether any of the stolen cash or anything else had been turned up to link the man with the bandit trio.

Ten customers and four employes were in the southeast Baltimore branch bank when the three pulled off what police called a well-planned robbery.

It came not long after a Brink's armored car had delivered $23,000. All the bandits wore dark glasses and tape on their faces. All wore gloves. One served as a lookout, the other guarded the employes and customers and the third gathered up the cash.

After they fled the bank they seemed to vanish. Police said no one had so far been located who saw or heard a motor vehicle speed away from the bank area. This led some investigators to figure the bandits might have holed-up in a nearby house.

Meanwhile, a state-wide teletype alarm was sent out with the serial number of 1,000 new $1 bills which were part of the loot. Police said the numbers were in sequence from X94273001G to X94274000G.

Four Hungarians Escape From Reds

GRAZ, Austria, April 2 (AP)—Four Hungarians, among them two soldiers, have escaped to the British zone of Austria after travelling half across Red-ruled Hungary, police said here tonight.

British occupation authorities, presently taking care of the refugees, refused to disclose any details of the flight.

Plant Buys Land

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 2 (AP) — Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp. has purchased 75 acres of land adjoining their plants at the Municipal Airport here, according to a deed filed today.

A spokesman for the company said the land was purchased so that it would be available for possible future development. The purchase price was $50,000.

House Labor Group Okays T-H Changes

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The House Labor Committee approved in principle today President Eisenhower's plan for pre-strike polls to determine whether workers actually want to walk out.

Chairman McConnell (R-Pa) said the requirement for such polls will now be put in legal language and reported to the House as a proposed amendment to the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The policy was agreed on by the committee in a series of votes behind closed doors, McConnell reported.

He said the committee approved 23-5 a proposal by Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) for strikes to be lawful only if workers approve the action before it is taken.

It also endorsed 18-9 another proposal by Kearns which would require a majority of the eligible union members to determine the union's course in a pre-strike vote.

A motion by Rep. Wier (D-Minn) that no vote be required in the law was defeated 17-11, McConnell said. He also reported the committee rejected 22-5 a suggestion by Kearns that the law require strikers to vote on employers' final offers before they walk out.

The chairman indicated the language of the bill will provide that pre-strike balloting be arranged by the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service but handled by state, local or private agencies.

Eisenhower recommended 14 changes in the Taft-Hartley law in a message he sent to Congress last January. The House group has approved most of them.

Still to be decided, however, is the question of how much authority should be left to the states in labor disputes, and whether to make final a tentatively approved provision giving federal courts, rather than the National Labor Relations Board, initial authority to handle charges of unfair labor practices.

The committee will meet again Monday to whip its bill into final shape. McConnell said he hopes to complete his job by Tuesday.

Worker Sues Company For $250,000 Damage

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 2 (AP) — Walter J. Nye, 32, has sued Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp and the Limbach Co., a construction firm, for $250,000.

Nye, a Hagerstown man, charges negligence in an accident March 13, 1953, when a Limbach employe dropped a metal pipe from a scaffold 40 feet up. The pipe struck Nye in the head, crushing his skull and embedding bone fragments in his brain which caused loss of memory, the plaintiff claims.

New Cancer Treatment Aids Patients Without Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2 (AP)—A medical treatment which gives prostatic cancer patients a little longer time to live without having to undergo "last resort" surgery was reported today by a University of California urologist.

The treatment, which consists of large doses of cortisone, inactivates the adrenal glands. This in turn prevents the adrenals from producing hormones which the cancer needs for vigorous growth.

There is one other way to do this—removal of the adrenals by surgery. But the operation is a risky one with a relatively high death rate, said Dr. Frank Hinman Jr., who devised the chemical alternative.

Dr. Hinman told science writers that the medical procedure had prolonged the lives of eight out of ten patients for an average of 82 days. In six of the eight patients were was some shrinkage of the cancer.

By comparison, Dr. Hinman said, adrenal surgery on groups of patients in three tests elsewhere had prolonged life even more but they had to undergo the risk of the operation. In one of these groups only 20 of 26 patients survived the operation, he said.

In all of Dr. Hinman's patients the cancer-stricken men had been castrated and then treated with a female sex hormone to counteract adrenal production of the male sex hormone which promotes the malignant growth.

The cortisone treatment is useful only after castration and female hormone administration. Even when it fails, surgical removal of the adrenals offers the possibility of a still further extension of life, Dr. Hinman said.

Ike Popularity At New High

WAASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill) said today President Eisenhower's popularity has reached the point where he "could easily get the nomination" of both major parties in 1956.

Allen, just back from Illinois, said the President's popularity was at an all-time high, and predicted that he would be reelected at the next election.

"The people are solid for him," Allen told newsmen.

"They appreciate him and his program so much that they will certainly draft him for a second term."

Shipyard Work Prospects Bright

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Union leaders who say shipyard employment in Baltimore is off two-thirds were told at a meeting with Maryland congressmen today that prospects for more work is encouraging.

After a meeting in the office of Senator Butler (R-Md), Andrew Pettis, national vice president of the CIO shipyard workers union, told a newsman the meeting was encouraging.

Butler said the White House has been told of the problem and has shown a definite interest in shipbuilding programs. He said the president is devoted to the merchant marine and I think he is going to do something about it."

The senator said he told the president "if something is not done it will about liquidate my state."

Butler and Senator Beall (R-Md) emphasized it was a big problem to get shipbuilding legislation through because of the wide diversity of interests and problems facing congressmen.

Jack J. Gerson, regional director of the union, said Baltimore's Sparrows Point, Key Highway and Maryland Drydock yards have only about a third of their normal postward employment because of a lack of repairs and orders.

He said there is a "disastrous dissipation of the nation's shipbuilders' skill through idleness and migration to other industries."

North Carolina has about 9,250,000 laying hens.

There are about 20,000 species of birds in the world, about 800 of them being in the United States.

M'Keldin Vetoes Veterans Bonus Measure As Illegal

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today vetoed a 100-million-dollar veterans' bonus and charged its proponents tried to make political hay by handing him an unconstitutional measure.

"I cannot agree to aid and abet, nor myself indulge in, political trickery" to win the support of ex-servicemen, he said.

"I believe that the veterans of this state are not so naive as to misunderstand the patent political device which the legislative history of this bill reflects in purporting to authorize a bonus."

The bill was one of eight rejected as the governor finished work on legislation passed in the 30-day session which ended a month ago.

Vetoes License Price Raise

McKeldin also vetoed a year's delay in raising the price of license plates by about 33 per cent. Increases now slated to go into effect in 1955 will provide an estimated six million dollars.

The governor, whose veto message was still being prepared, had said during the session a postponement until 1956 would hamper both construction and maintenance in Maryland's 12-year roads program.

He also turned down bills that would have required drivers convicted of "moving" traffic violations to come up with liability insurance within 10 days and would have allowed municipalities to set whatever speed limits they wished on local streets.

The governor signed 22 measures without comment. Some of them would:

1. Provide for annual property assessment, beginning July 1, 1956. Albert W. Ward, secretary of the State Tax Commission, had said this would eliminate the need for assessing between now and then, cutting off prematurely the present three-year rotational system.

M. William Adelson, an adviser to the governor, replied the bill fulfills an ambition long held by McKeldin to keep real estate values current for tax purposes. In effect, by making any other system useless between now and 1956 it establishes annual assessment immediately as the only workable method.

2. Place ceilings of from $9 to $15 per $100 on finance charges when motor vehicles are bought on the installment plan, and prevent dealers from overloading customers with insurance.

3. Allow Baltimore and 12 counties an estimated $350,000 in additional school aid by reducing the tax base on which local requirements are based.

Prove Ability To Pay

4. Compel minors to prove by insurance or otherwise they can pay accident damages before they are licensed to drive.

5. Deny automatic salary raises to lazy, rule-breaking or inefficient State employes.

McKeldin's language sizzled in killing the proposal to almost double the sales tax to give bonuses up to $400 to veterans of both World Wars and Korean service. It would have been subject to referendum this November.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins gave him an opinion this morning which held that proponents forced action before the budget passed, contrary to the constitution, and later parliamentary maneuvers were not sufficient to erase the legal smudge.

The attorney general opined last year that a rent control measure had passed illegally, but McKeldin signed it and said the courts could rule if necessary. He took a different tack on the bonus.

Byrd To Apply For Retirement From University

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd today notified the University of Maryland Board of Regents that he will apply for retirement under the state retirement system on July 1.

This would end his status as president emeritus and remove him from the state payroll. Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the board, said until that time the candidate for Democratic nomination as governor will continue as president emeritus at full pay.

Hartford Winner Of Fire Award

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — Hartford, Conn., is the grand award winner in the 1953 national fire waste contest, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce announced today.

First place winners in six population divisions included:

Norfolk, Va., 100,000 to 250,000.

The National Fire Waste Council, organized 32 years ago by the national chamber, each year conducts a nationwide campaign for better fire prevention. Cities are judged on fire loss records, quality of fire fighting facilities and community education programs.

The following cities won honor certificates in their population classes:

Over 500,000—Baltimore, Md.

250,000 to 500,000 — Memphis, Tenn.

100,000 to 250,00 — Chattanooga, Tenn.

20,000 to 50,000 — Parkersburg, W. Va.

Three Youths Face Trial In Abduction

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—Three Virginia youths face trial in Federal Court here Monday on charges of abducting 20-year-old Marie Jolliffee of Hagerstown last Oct. 17.

The three, Earl L. Tomblin, 20, of Purcellville, and Daniel D. Walters, 20, and Marion F. Hough, 21, both of Round Hill, are accused of taking Miss Jolliffee to Round Hill against her will.

Cakes Were "Light"

LONG BEACH, Calif., April 2 (AP) —James F. McCowan, 63, cook at the city jail, today hoisted a platter of what he described as his light, fluffy pancakes and:

Dislocated his right shoulder.

Police Arrest Holdup Suspect

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—Police seeking a bandit trio that got $30,000 from a branch bank, surrounded a house near the bank today and arrested a 28-year-old man.

He was taken to headquarters for questioning and to appear in a line-up before employes and customers who were in the Canton section branch of the Provident Savings Bank yesterday.

Police declined to say what led to the man's arrest or even exactly where the house is located. They also would not say whether any of the stolen cash or anything else had been turned up to link the man with the bandit trio.

Ten customers and four employes were in the southeast Baltimore branch bank when the three pulled off what police called a well-planned robbery.

It came not long after a Brink's armored car had delivered $23,000. All the bandits wore dark glasses and tape on their faces. All wore gloves. One served as a lookout, the other guarded the employes and customers and the third gathered up the cash.

After they fled the bank they seemed to vanish. Police said no one had so far been located who saw or heard a motor vehicle speed away from the bank area. This led some investigators to figure the bandits might have holed-up in a nearby house.

Meanwhile, a state-wide teletype alarm was sent out with the serial number of 1,000 new $1 bills which were part of the loot. Police said the numbers were in sequence from X94273001G to X94274000G.

Four Hungarians Escape From Reds

GRAZ, Austria, April 2 (AP)—Four Hungarians, among them two soldiers, have escaped to the British zone of Austria after travelling half across Red-ruled Hungary, police said here tonight.

British occupation authorities, presently taking care of the refugees, refused to disclose any details of the flight.

Plant Buys Land

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 2 (AP) — Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp. has purchased 75 acres of land adjoining their plants at the Municipal Airport here, according to a deed filed today.

A spokesman for the company said the land was purchased so that it would be available for possible future development. The purchase price was $50,000.

House Labor Group Okays T-H Changes

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The House Labor Committee approved in principle today President Eisenhower's plan for pre-strike polls to determine whether workers actually want to walk out.

Chairman McConnell (R-Pa) said the requirement for such polls will now be put in legal language and reported to the House as a proposed amendment to the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The policy was agreed on by the committee in a series of votes behind closed doors, McConnell reported.

He said the committee approved 23-5 a proposal by Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) for strikes to be lawful only if workers approve the action before it is taken.

It also endorsed 18-9 another proposal by Kearns which would require a majority of the eligible union members to determine the union's course in a pre-strike vote.

A motion by Rep. Wier (D-Minn) that no vote be required in the law was defeated 17-11, McConnell said. He also reported the committee rejected 22-5 a suggestion by Kearns that the law require strikers to vote on employers' final offers before they walk out.

The chairman indicated the language of the bill will provide that pre-strike balloting be arranged by the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service but handled by state, local or private agencies.

Eisenhower recommended 14 changes in the Taft-Hartley law in a message he sent to Congress last January. The House group has approved most of them.

Still to be decided, however, is the question of how much authority should be left to the states in labor disputes, and whether to make final a tentatively approved provision giving federal courts, rather than the National Labor Relations Board, initial authority to handle charges of unfair labor practices.

The committee will meet again Monday to whip its bill into final shape. McConnell said he hopes to complete his job by Tuesday.

Worker Sues Company For $250,000 Damage

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 2 (AP) — Walter J. Nye, 32, has sued Fairchild Engine and Aircraft Corp and the Limbach Co., a construction firm, for $250,000.

Nye, a Hagerstown man, charges negligence in an accident March 13, 1953, when a Limbach employe dropped a metal pipe from a scaffold 40 feet up. The pipe struck Nye in the head, crushing his skull and embedding bone fragments in his brain which caused loss of memory, the plaintiff claims.

New Cancer Treatment Aids Patients Without Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2 (AP)—A medical treatment which gives prostatic cancer patients a little longer time to live without having to undergo "last resort" surgery was reported today by a University of California urologist.

The treatment, which consists of large doses of cortisone, inactivates the adrenal glands. This in turn prevents the adrenals from producing hormones which the cancer needs for vigorous growth.

There is one other way to do this—removal of the adrenals by surgery. But the operation is a risky one with a relatively high death rate, said Dr. Frank Hinman Jr., who devised the chemical alternative.

Dr. Hinman told science writers that the medical procedure had prolonged the lives of eight out of ten patients for an average of 82 days. In six of the eight patients were was some shrinkage of the cancer.

By comparison, Dr. Hinman said, adrenal surgery on groups of patients in three tests elsewhere had prolonged life even more but they had to undergo the risk of the operation. In one of these groups only 20 of 26 patients survived the operation, he said.

In all of Dr. Hinman's patients the cancer-stricken men had been castrated and then treated with a female sex hormone to counteract adrenal production of the male sex hormone which promotes the malignant growth.

The cortisone treatment is useful only after castration and female hormone administration. Even when it fails, surgical removal of the adrenals offers the possibility of a still further extension of life, Dr. Hinman said.

Ike Popularity At New High

WAASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill) said today President Eisenhower's popularity has reached the point where he "could easily get the nomination" of both major parties in 1956.

Allen, just back from Illinois, said the President's popularity was at an all-time high, and predicted that he would be reelected at the next election.

"The people are solid for him," Allen told newsmen.

"They appreciate him and his program so much that they will certainly draft him for a second term."

Shipyard Work Prospects Bright

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Union leaders who say shipyard employment in Baltimore is off two-thirds were told at a meeting with Maryland congressmen today that prospects for more work is encouraging.

After a meeting in the office of Senator Butler (R-Md), Andrew Pettis, national vice president of the CIO shipyard workers union, told a newsman the meeting was encouraging.

Butler said the White House has been told of the problem and has shown a definite interest in shipbuilding programs. He said the president is devoted to the merchant marine and I think he is going to do something about it."

The senator said he told the president "if something is not done it will about liquidate my state."

Butler and Senator Beall (R-Md) emphasized it was a big problem to get shipbuilding legislation through because of the wide diversity of interests and problems facing congressmen.

Jack J. Gerson, regional director of the union, said Baltimore's Sparrows Point, Key Highway and Maryland Drydock yards have only about a third of their normal postward employment because of a lack of repairs and orders.

He said there is a "disastrous dissipation of the nation's shipbuilders' skill through idleness and migration to other industries."

North Carolina has about 9,250,000 laying hens.

Safe Robber Gets Four Year Sentence

FREDERICK, Md., April 2 (AP)—Nick Korprovich, 42, of Weirton, W. Va. was sentenced to four years in Maryland Penitentiary today for taking $1,148 from a safe at the Frederick Moose Lodge last Dec. 19.

Sentence was passed by Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer after he denied a motion by counsel for Korprovich for a new trial. A jury which deliberated only 10 minutes convicted Korprovich March 11.

Conlon Is Named Chairman Of Armed Forces Day Event

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr. has been named chairman of the Cumberland Armed Forces Day civic committee.

The annual observance will be staged May 15, according to Major Grant E. Hoover, project officer and advisor for local units of the U. S. Army Reserve Corps.

Serving with Conlon are five area mayors, Roy W. Eves of Cumberland, Jesse F. Jacobs of Frostburg, Virgil Alexander of Lonaconing, John D. Freeland of Keyser and D. S. Shear of Romney. Other members of the committee include:

Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church; Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church; Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris.

G. William Bibby, Malcolm A. Campbell Jr., Charles E. Smith, Gary E. Schroeder, C. Walter Haschert Jr., J. M. Miller, Arthur W. Conley, James Orr, William H. Lemmert, Edmund S. Burke, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, William G. Barger, Capt. James C. Welsh Jr., Capt. Henry W. Tubbs Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. W. E. Woodson, USN, inspector-instructor of the Navy and Marine Reserve Training Center on McKaig Hill.

Col. L. J. Mulhall of Fort Meade is overall project officer for Area V which includes Cumberland, Major Hoover said. He added that civilian members of the committee will make plans for the celebration while military members act as liaison with the armed services in securing assistance.

Hoover said the program has been endorsed by veterans, civic, women's, labor and religious groups.

Conlon and Lt. Cmdr. Woodson headed last year's celebration.

Roads ,Sewers Complaints Received By County Board

A number of complaints were received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday both in person and by letter concerning conditions of roads, ditches and sewer lines.

Four property owners of the Mexico Farms area appeared before the board to ask that a bad condition pertaining to ditches which are full of water be remedied.

Thomas Nealis, one of the group, said a ditch which runs along his property to the Potomac River is clogged up and poses a danger both to the health and safety of children. He said the ditch is very deep, is eroding his lawn and also presents a hazard to children playing in the neighborhood. Some sewage is seeping from septic tanks into the ditch, he added.

The ditch in question is clogged at one end, Nealis and the other three, Howard Brehm, George Reichel and Jack Holiday, admit that one property owner below them has refused to open it up. The county commissioners said they had trouble before with the property owner in question concerning the ditch.

The board also suggested the men report the sewage problem to the Health Department for correction. Ditches along a road will also be cleaned if necessary and J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, was instructed to investigate the matter and report back to the commissioners next week.

Charles A. Steiding, of McCoole, wrote the board that a sewer line beneath the road at the intersection of Queen and Davis Streets has been broken and asked that the county make repairs. The letter was referred to Chapman.

Elimination Of Road Hazard At Borden Shaft Discussed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has authorized J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, to write Western Maryland Railway officials concerning elimination of a traffic hazard at Borden Shaft.

For several years the volunteer fire companies of that area had been seeking some solution to the dangerous underpass at the railway's tracks in Borden Shaft. When the situation was first brought to the attention of the board a survey was made and the cost of widening the underpass, which was at an angle to the roadway, was found to be prohibitive.

Since then the Western Maryland has abandoned the trackage in the George Creek section and rails and cross ties are being removed. Chapman will seek permission from Joseph Miller, superintendent of the railway here, to remove the stone underpass as soon as possible.

Fire trucks had to detour when answering alarms in the area on the other side of the underpass and trucks delivering merchandise to homes often could not negotiate the narrow and sharply angled throughway.

Permission to use the heavy stone blocks on county road work will also be sought by Chapman. Cost of eliminating the underpass stonework is not expected to be very great.

The board received an offer today from Urner F. Wigfield, local tree service company, to remove two large trees and trim 33 others at the county farm property adjacent to Sylvan Retreat, the county mental institution. Wigfield offered to do the work for $730.50.

It will also include installation of 18 cables on trees to prevent them from splitting or limbs from being torn off during storms.

Civil Defense Cost $598.84 In March

The cost of operating the Allegany County Civil Defense organization for March totaled $598.84, according to bills summitted to the County Board of Commissioners.

William G. Barger listed the expenses, which are paid from funds provided for the Civil Defense program by the county, as $404.34 for the operation of the Ground Observer Corps; $75 for administrative expenses; $5.25 for postage; $15.50 for manuals from the Government Printing Office entitled "Nurses and Civil Defense," $98.75 for printing, supplies and other items, and $28.50 as the county's share in providing a luncheon for persons taking part in the CD field day at Beall High School football stadium in Frostburg recently. The state paid half of the cost of the meal.

The commissioners said that the money is well spent as citizens of the county donate their service in manning aircraft spotting posts and performing similar duties.

Local Recruiters Win Top Honors

The local Army and Air Force recruiting station has received the top rating among Maryland stations for recruiting work during March, according to Master Sgt. R. W. Stewart, local recruiter.

This is the third straight month the local unit has won the top honor. During this period a total of 130 men were recruited. The quota for March was exceeded when 40 men were signed up.

Latest recruits are Carl J. Deneen, Hyndman, and Walter R. Hedrick, city, who enlisted in the Air Force. They joined for four-year enlistments and have been assigned to Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y. for basic training.

A large class will be initiated in memory of the late William M. Englehart, past grand counselor. Refreshments will be served.

Planing Mill Display Room Open To Public

The South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, the "community's lumber yard since 1896," opened its new showroom on Queen Street to the public yesterday in an expression of faith in the future economic status of the city and area.

The public display began at 8 yesterday morning.

Tomorrow open house will be observed from 8 to 5 p. m.

Twenty items with a value of over $870 will be given away in addition to souvenirs for each adult.

James L. Weber, general manager of the firm, said there is nothing to compare with the showroom within 75 or 100 miles, and it represents a further expansion of the business which started with a building on a half acre of land and which has grown to 33 buildings covering four acres.

Founded by the late Louis Weber and located on Offutt Street, the factory and yards were moved in 1899 to Queen Street at the B&O Railroad crossing where they remained. At that time all equipment was moved, with exception of the mill building which still is on Offutt Street. Incorporation took place in 1912.

In 1906 active management passed from Louis Weber to his two sons, A. J. and A. L. Weber, but the father continued as president until 1949 when he became chairman of the board. At that time A. L. Weber became the company's second president.

The South Cumberland Planing Mill Company is the oldest industry of its kind in Western Maryland to operate continuously since its founding under the same family's ownership.

The company carries an inventory of more than 4,000 separate items and has 37 employes. Weber said the company's operations cover a radius of approximately 50 miles including the tri-state area, and regularly has special jobs in Fairmont, W. Va., and Baltimore.

Stocked is an extensive supply of standard and popular lumber. Special order services are offered on rare and unusual woods such as teak, birdseye maple and satinwood. A complete inventory of West Coast lumber is available in addition to stock and custom millwork, kitchen cabinets, mantles, specially designed work for schools, churches and other public buildings.

Other items on hand include windows and accessories; interior, exterior, screen and decorator doors, paint and paint products, roofing and hardware, wall and floor coverings.

South Cumberland Planing Mill also offers a complete, free planning service. The home planning service, for example, includes all popular architectural styles such as Colonial, Cape Cod, contemporary and ranch.

"Do-it-yourself" fans will find a complete line of equipment at the local concern.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has authorized J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, to write Western Maryland Railway officials concerning elimination of a traffic hazard at Borden Shaft.

For several years the volunteer fire companies of that area had been seeking some solution to the dangerous underpass at the railway's tracks in Borden Shaft. When the situation was first brought to the attention of the board a survey was made and the cost of widening the underpass, which was at an angle to the roadway, was found to be prohibitive.

Since then the Western Maryland has abandoned the trackage in the George Creek section and rails and cross ties are being removed. Chapman will seek permission from Joseph Miller, superintendent of the railway here, to remove the stone underpass as soon as possible.

Fire trucks had to detour when answering alarms in the area on the other side of the underpass and trucks delivering merchandise to homes often could not negotiate the narrow and sharply angled throughway.

Permission to use the heavy stone blocks on county road work will also be sought by Chapman. Cost of eliminating the underpass stonework is not expected to be very great.

The board received an offer today from Urner F. Wigfield, local tree service company, to remove two large trees and trim 33 others at the county farm property adjacent to Sylvan Retreat, the county mental institution. Wigfield offered to do the work for $730.50.

It will also include installation of 18 cables on trees to prevent them from splitting or limbs from being torn off during storms.

UCT Council Plans Initiation Today

Cumberland Council 179, United Commercial Travelers of America, will be visited by Grand Counselor S. L. Mills of Roanoke, Va., today in the IOOF Hall, South Mechanic Street.

A large class will be initiated in memory of the late William M. Englehart, past grand counselor. Refreshments will be served.

Civil Defense Cost $598.84 In March

The cost of operating the Allegany County Civil Defense organization for March totaled $598.84, according to bills summitted to the County Board of Commissioners.

William G. Barger listed the expenses, which are paid from funds provided for the Civil Defense program by the county, as $404.34 for the operation of the Ground Observer Corps; $75 for administrative expenses; $5.25 for postage; $15.50 for manuals from the Government Printing Office entitled "Nurses and Civil Defense," $98.75 for printing, supplies and other items, and $28.50 as the county's share in providing a luncheon for persons taking part in the CD field day at Beall High School football stadium in Frostburg recently. The state paid half of the cost of the meal.

The commissioners said that the money is well spent as citizens of the county donate their service in manning aircraft spotting posts and performing similar duties.

Local Recruiters Win Top Honors

The local Army and Air Force recruiting station has received the top rating among Maryland stations for recruiting work during March, according to Master Sgt. R. W. Stewart, local recruiter.

This is the third straight month the local unit has won the top honor. During this period a total of 130 men were recruited. The quota for March was exceeded when 40 men were signed up.

Latest recruits are Carl J. Deneen, Hyndman, and Walter R. Hedrick, city, who enlisted in the Air Force. They joined for four-year enlistments and have been assigned to Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N. Y. for basic training.

Planing Mill Display Room Open To Public

The South Cumberland Planing Mill Company, the "community's lumber yard since 1896," opened its new showroom on Queen Street to the public yesterday in an expression of faith in the future economic status of the city and area.

The public display began at 8 yesterday morning.

Tomorrow open house will be observed from 8 to 5 p. m.

Twenty items with a value of over $870 will be given away in addition to souvenirs for each adult.

James L. Weber, general manager of the firm, said there is nothing to compare with the showroom within 75 or 100 miles, and it represents a further expansion of the business which started with a building on a half acre of land and which has grown to 33 buildings covering four acres.

Founded by the late Louis Weber and located on Offutt Street, the factory and yards were moved in 1899 to Queen Street at the B&O Railroad crossing where they remained. At that time all equipment was moved, with exception of the mill building which still is on Offutt Street. Incorporation took place in 1912.

In 1906 active management passed from Louis Weber to his two sons, A. J. and A. L. Weber, but the father continued as president until 1949 when he became chairman of the board. At that time A. L. Weber became the company's second president.

The South Cumberland Planing Mill Company is the oldest industry of its kind in Western Maryland to operate continuously since its founding under the same family's ownership.

The company carries an inventory of more than 4,000 separate items and has 37 employes. Weber said the company's operations cover a radius of approximately 50 miles including the tri-state area, and regularly has special jobs in Fairmont, W. Va., and Baltimore.

Stocked is an extensive supply of standard and popular lumber. Special order services are offered on rare and unusual woods such as teak, birdseye maple and satinwood. A complete inventory of West Coast lumber is available in addition to stock and custom millwork, kitchen cabinets, mantles, specially designed work for schools, churches and other public buildings.

Other items on hand include windows and accessories; interior, exterior, screen and decorator doors, paint and paint products, roofing and hardware, wall and floor coverings.

South Cumberland Planing Mill also offers a complete, free planning service. The home planning service, for example, includes all popular architectural styles such as Colonial, Cape Cod, contemporary and ranch.

"Do-it-yourself" fans will find a complete line of equipment at the local concern.

THE VILLAGE CHURCH

The Church has been the most powerful factor in American life. Nowhere has the influence of the Church been more potent or more far-reaching than in the villages and small towns of the nation.

A large percent of our population lives in these areas, and they also furnish a large percentage of our state and national leadership. The church on Main Street or at the cross-roads draws people from far and near. They listen to the preaching and praying, join in the singing, and enjoy the fellowship of their friends and neighbors.

Many of the most cherished experiences of life are associated with these little churches. Their influence is stamped on the lives of the people, and their teachings help to form the character of this nation.

The Church needs and deserves the love and support of the people, whether it be in a big city, a small town or a rural village. It is an influence for good, a source of strength, a tie that links humanity with God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE VILLAGE CHURCH

The Church has been the most powerful factor in American life. Nowhere has the influence of the Church been more potent or more far-reaching than in the villages and small towns of the nation.

A large percent of our population lives in these areas, and they also furnish a large percentage of our state and national leadership. The church on Main Street or at the cross-roads draws people from far and near. They listen to the preaching and praying, join in the singing, and enjoy the fellowship of their friends and neighbors.

Many of the most cherished experiences of life are associated with these little churches. Their influence is stamped on the lives of the people, and their teachings help to form the character of this nation.

The Church needs and deserves the love and support of the people, whether it be in a big city, a small town or a rural village. It is an influence for good, a source of strength, a tie that links humanity with God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spintual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Legislators List Expenses In 1954 Assembly Session

During the annual General Assembly sessions in Annapolis each state senator may hire a stenographer at state expense and this year nine hired their own wives as secretaries,—at $10 a day.

In the House of Delegates where there is but one stenographer to about every seven members, the wives of four delegates and the brother of a fifth reached the legislative payroll.

The most highly paid was Mrs. Phyllis E. Reed, who collected $360 as secretary to the House minority floor leader, Del. Arthur H. Green, Garrett County Republican.

Get $200 Expenses

Mrs. Reed is the wife of Del. Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage Republican.

The wife of Del. Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County delegation, was paid $300 as reading clerk for the blind members of the legislature.

Among the senators whose wives collected $300 apiece for the session was Neil C. Fraley, Garrett County Republican.

Miss Harriett Eliason, 655 Washington Street, was paid $360 as clerk to Senator Robert B. Kimble, Senate majority leader.

All delegates and senators are allowed $200 for expenses of attending assembly sessions but according to reports filed with the comptroller's office only Delegates Horace P. Whitworth kept within this amount. All over $200 was a personal expense for delegate or senator.

Expenses Are Listed

Expenses varied from $410.20 by Delegate Charles M. See to the $200 by Whitworth.

Delegate Estel C. Kelley reported he paid $112.60 for living quarters while Delegate Harry C. Edwards (Garrett) listed only $45. Meals ranged from $224 by Delegate See to $77 for Senator Kimble.

Traveling expenses listed went from $16.99 for Kelley to $173.84 for Edwards. Miscellaneous ranged from nothing listed for Kimble, Noel Speir Cook and Fraley to $61.67 for George E. Coddington (Garrett).

The breakdown follows:

Name	Hotel	Meals	Traveling	Miscellaneous and Entertainment	Total
ALLEGANY COUNTY
Kimble	$ 65	$ 77	$121	——	$263.60
Cook	80	100	81	——	262.20
Driscoll	60	182	99	$41	382.40
Kelley	112	88	17	9	226.60
Reed	50	210	64	60	384.00
See	80	224	46	60	410.20
Whitworth	100	50	30	20	200.00
GARRETT COUNTY
Fraley	100	100	50	——	250.00
Coddington	90	129	65	61	345.67
Edwards	45	127	173	49	394.84
Green	60	125	35	22	242.00

Robey Brothers' Arraignment Is Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arraignment was postponed yesterday in the cases of Walton and Otto Robey, brothers from Cumberland who are accused of refusing to submit to induction in the armed forces.

No new date was set for the arraignment, but it probably will not be for at least three weeks.

The Robey brothers were among six members of the Jehovah Witnesses religious sect who had been scheduled for arraignment in Federal court yesterday morning. Prosecutors explained it was impossible to get all of them and their counsel together so the arraignment was put off.

Walton, who is 27, and Otto, 23, registered for the draft in 1948 but later moved to Miami, Fla., and joined the religious group. The local draft board at Cumberland reclassified them as conscientious objectors at their request when they returned here in 1951. This was overruled by the State Selective Service board but the Robey brothers refused to be inducted when they were ordered to report on July 29, 1951.

ULYSSES G. SQUIRES

Ulysses Grant Squires, 85, of 523 Frank's Lane, died yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Infirmary. He had been in ill health six years.

He was a retired worker of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and resided in Cumberland 45 years.

A native of Doddridge County, W. Va., he was born April 30, 1868 and was a son of the late James Andrew and Mary Ann (Gall) Squires.

He was a member of the Bethel Evangelical Church and Lodge 120, Improved Order of Red Men. Surviving are two sons, Harley and Leonard B. Squires, city; five grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

The body is at Scarpelli's Funeral Home.

WILLIAM CAMERON

LONACONING — William Cameron, 68, died yesterday at his home in Detmold.

He was a retired coal miner. A native of this section, he was a son of the late Arch and Jean (McLuckie) Cameron and was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Emma (Moffott) Cameron, are three sons, Arch Cameron, here; Robert Cameron, Cumberland; Raymond Cameron, here; two daughters Mrs. Milton Fairgrieve, and Mrs. John Jeffries, here and 10 grandchildren.

The body is at the residence where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. with Rev. C. H. Goshorn, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

GUST PAPPADAKIS

A funeral service for Gust Pappadakis, 72, of Keyser, W. Va., who died Thursday, will be conducted there tomorrow at 3 p.m. at the Rogers Funeral Home.

Rev. W. Cecil Shepherd, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Queen's Point Cemetery. Mr. Pappadakis was a member of Chapter No. 301, Order of Ahepa.

He had been ill several years. A native of Hendricks, he was born June 10, 1893 and was a son of the late Max and Phoebe (Helmick) Rosenau.

Mr. Rosenau entered the U. S. Army on March 8, 1918 and served until July 9, 1919. During World War I, he participated in battles at St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne, France, and was awarded two gold service chevrons.

He was a member of Company E, 51st Pioneer Infantry and the AEF. Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Inez (Parsons) Rosenau, are three sons, Ronald Rosenau, Baltimore; Robert Rosenau, San Rasel, Calif.; Billy (Rosie) Rosenau; student at Parsons High School.

Five daughters, Mrs. Eloween Flynn, Mrs. Norma Johnson, Miss Louise Rosenau, Baltimore; Mrs. Helen Knotts, Miss Kathleen Rosenau, here.

The body is at Greenlief's Funeral Home where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. L. W. Davis, pastor of the Church of God, officiating, assisted by Rev. Paul Nance, former pastor.

Burial will be in Parsons Cemetery where full military rites will be accorded by members of General Garnett Post 4322, VFW, and Blue Ridge Post 101, American Legion, Parsons.

Legislators List Expenses In 1954 Assembly Session

During the annual General Assembly sessions in Annapolis each state senator may hire a stenographer at state expense and this year nine hired their own wives as secretaries,—at $10 a day.

In the House of Delegates where there is but one stenographer to about every seven members, the wives of four delegates and the brother of a fifth reached the legislative payroll.

The most highly paid was Mrs. Phyllis E. Reed, who collected $360 as secretary to the House minority floor leader, Del. Arthur H. Green, Garrett County Republican.

Get $200 Expenses

Mrs. Reed is the wife of Del. Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage Republican.

The wife of Del. Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany County delegation, was paid $300 as reading clerk for the blind members of the legislature.

Among the senators whose wives collected $300 apiece for the session was Neil C. Fraley, Garrett County Republican.

Miss Harriett Eliason, 655 Washington Street, was paid $360 as clerk to Senator Robert B. Kimble, Senate majority leader.

All delegates and senators are allowed $200 for expenses of attending assembly sessions but according to reports filed with the comptroller's office only Delegates Horace P. Whitworth kept within this amount. All over $200 was a personal expense for delegate or senator.

Expenses Are Listed

Expenses varied from $410.20 by Delegate Charles M. See to the $200 by Whitworth.

Delegate Estel C. Kelley reported he paid $112.60 for living quarters while Delegate Harry C. Edwards (Garrett) listed only $45. Meals ranged from $224 by Delegate See to $77 for Senator Kimble.

Traveling expenses listed went from $16.99 for Kelley to $173.84 for Edwards. Miscellaneous ranged from nothing listed for Kimble, Noel Speir Cook and Fraley to $61.67 for George E. Coddington (Garrett).

The breakdown follows:

Name	Hotel	Meals	Traveling	Miscellaneous and Entertainment	Total
ALLEGANY COUNTY
Kimble	$ 65	$ 77	$121	——	$263.60
Cook	40	100	81	——	262.20

Rev. W. Cecil Shepherd, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in Queen's Point Cemetery. Mr. Pappadakis was a member of Chapter No. 301, Order of Ahepa.

Robey Brothers' Arraignment Is Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arraignment was postponed yesterday in the cases of Walton and Otto Robey, brothers from Cumberland who are accused of refusing to submit to induction in the armed forces.

No new date was set for the arraignment, but it probably will not be for at least three weeks.

The Robey brothers were among six members of the Jehovah Witnesses religious sect who had been scheduled for arraignment in Federal court yesterday morning. Prosecutors explained it was impossible to get all of them and their counsel together so the arraignment was put off.

Walton, who is 27, and Otto, 23, registered for the draft in 1948 but later moved to Miami, Fla., and joined the religious group. The local draft board at Cumberland reclassified them as conscientious objectors at their request when they returned here in 1951. This was overruled by the State Selective Service board but the Robey brothers refused to be inducted when they were ordered to report on July 29, 1951.

Wanda VanMeter To Become Bride Of D. M. Zembower

Miss Wanda Lee VanMeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. VanMeter, Fairgo, is to become the bride of Daryl M. Zembower, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zembower, Tacoma Park, tonight.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7 p. m. in St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green, with Rev. Lloyd C. Voll officiating. Mrs. Mary Louise Houdyshell is to be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Ronald Athey serves as Mr. Zembower's best man.

The bride is to be attired in a white Chantilly lace gown, with bolero jacket, fashioned with round collar, buttoned down the front, and long fitted sleeves. It has a full ballerina-length skirt. Her three-quarter-length veil is held by a crown of pearls, and completing her costume she is carrying a bouquet of lily of the valley.

Her attendant will have a sky blue net gown, made complementary to the bride's. With it she is wearing a small net hat and will carry a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mrs. VanMeter has chosen a black and pink dress for her daughter's wedding and will have a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Zembower selected a navy blue dress with a corsage of red roses.

The bride attended Allegany High School and is employed by the Department of Defense in Washington. The bridebroom attended Fort Hill High School, served 18 months in the Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Barstow, Calif. He is employed by the Western Electric Company in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party at the Bowling Green Fire Hall at 8 o'clock. Bouquets of flowers and white streamers are being used in the decorations. A minature bride and bridegroom adorn the four-tiered wedding cake and a string quartet will play during the evening.

Choral Group To Rehearse For Festival

Eight large choirs are participating in the "Sacred Choral Festival" of the Cumberland Choral Society April 12. Each will have its own director and pianist.

Opening Holy Week, the festival will be held in the auditorium at Allegany High School, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Ethel Bruce and the art department of the school, are doing the stage effects.

The first part of the program is to be the presentation of the "Seven Last Words," by the Choral Society. Robert Rosamond will be the narrator; Gordon Williams is director, with Miss Mary Robb assistant and Mrs. Ann Fisher Gormer, accompanist.

The second part of the program will be by the various choirs, each in vestments, and giving a special anthem.

For the finale the combined choirs and the Choral Society will present "God So Loved the World," from "The Crucifixion."

There will be no admission, but a silver offering will be taken.

The final rehearsal before the dress rehearsal, will be held Monday at 8 o'clock at the city hall. All members are asked to attend. Dress rehearsal will be at 8:30, April 11 at Allegany High School.

Ellerslie Methodist Church, Circle 1 will hold a rummage sale Monday from 12 until 6 at the old Webb Shoe Store, North Centre Street.

WONDERLAND CHARACTERS—The Children's Theater of Frostburg State Teachers College is sponsoring the presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" this afternoon at the college. The matinee will be at 2 o'clock, and features a number of dances. Under the direction of John Moyer, the cast of 65 includes all the Lewis Carroll characters, in addition to a flower ballet. Miss Mary K. Logsdon, president of the Little Theater, is chairman of arrangements; Eugene Brown is lighting and stage manager; and Miss Ruth Schade, tickets. Miss Edith Humphrey is in charge of dramatics at the college. Alice, portrayed by Helein Victoria Nixon, is shown at dress rehearsal watching, left to right, the Gryphon, Kathleen Noone; the large bunny, Melanie Wilmot; Mad Hatter, Waldo Harshberger; Door Mouse, Toni Harshberger; Mock Turtle, Judy McKenzie. Proceeds, from the production being given for the grade school children, are for the college.

Republican Women Name May Dinner Committees

The Women's Republican Club of Cumberland was invited by the Young Republican Club of Allegany County to join in having a reception for all candidates.

Mrs. Earl Conn, Mrs. Lester Reed, Mrs. Fred Driscoll and Mrs. Fred Kaiser were named the committee to meet with the junior club committee to select a date sometime in the first part of June. The latter committee consists of Donald Mason, J. Glenn Beall Jr., Mrs. Elaine Palmer and Miss Patricia Golden.

Mrs. Charles U. Wiebel presided, and completed committees for the May dinner, to be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club, May 4, with Mrs. Karl Bachman, and Mrs. J. Albert Nichols, cochairmen. The Program committee is Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Mrs. Paul Fletcher; Decorations, Mrs. Earl Conn, Mrs. Edgar Davis and Mrs. Reed. Tickets and Reservations, Miss Flaville Percy, phone 4658; and Mrs. Bachman, 1884-R. The general committee consists of Mrs. Joseph Boden, Mrs. Brooks Starcher, Mrs. Wilbur Sills, Mrs. Eloise Shafter, Mrs. James Morris, Mrs. William Strickler and Mrs. P. A. Creighton; and Hospitality committee, Mrs. Haud Shank, Miss Lillian Myers, Mrs. Isabelle Dawson, Mrs. Lewis Hellman, Mrs. Carl Getz and Mrs. L. O. Daugherty.

The meeting was opened with the pledge to the Flag, and the Lord's Prayer recited in unison, led by Mrs. Strickler. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Niland, Miss Bessie Baird read a letter of regret from Charles A. Stewart and J. French VanMeter, candidates who could not attend the open house. Mrs. Conn reported 71 women served on the Refreshment committee in the past eight months.

Three new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Frank J. Young, Mrs. Stanley Merritt and Mrs. Viola C. Serf.

Miss Myers speaking of the Republican party observing the 100th anniversary of its organization, reminded the women of the spring conference in Washington, April 6, 7, and 8, at which time plans for the 1954 campaign will be developed. She reported a new club formed in Baltimore with 125 members and quoted Hyde as saying, "There are two things a party can do in an election campaign, boast about its own record, or criticize the opposition's," that the Republicans are still talking about the Democratic record and are just starting to talk of their own accomplishments.

She also spoke of Sen. John M. Butler's bill proposing an amendment to fix the number of Supreme Court judges, compel retirement at 75, prohibit a justice from becoming president or vice president for five years after his term, and in Constitutional cases, remove from Congress its present power to impair appellate jurisdiction of the court. She quoted Sen. Beall on Social Security and President Eisennower on taxes and the budget; and the Puerto Ricans as saying "we are not pro-Americans but Americans."

Speaking of the trial magistrates' questioning expense accounts of county officials, she pointed out that President Eisenhower said recently, "When dealing with people, be very liberal, when dealing with their money, be conservative."

The evening concluded with a reception for the 30 candidates for county, state and city office. Mrs. Roeder introduced them, and the Harmonettes, Marian Laughlin, Rayma Wright and Rose Mary Ord, who sang several numbers, and will be on the Amateur hour tomorrow.

Easter decorations were carried out with bouquets of roses and sweetpeas centering the table and decorating the hall. The cover of the refreshment table repeated the same theme and large plush bunnies by nests of balloon eggs were arranged on the table. There were 39 members and 30 guests present.

Wanda VanMeter To Become Bride Of D. M. Zembower

Miss Wanda Lee VanMeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. VanMeter, Fairgo, is to become the bride of Daryl M. Zembower, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zembower, Tacoma Park, tonight.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7 p. m. in St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green, with Rev. Lloyd C. Voll officiating. Mrs. Mary Louise Houdyshell is to be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, while Ronald Athey serves as Mr. Zembower's best man.

The bride is to be attired in a white Chantilly lace gown, with bolero jacket, fashioned with round collar, buttoned down the front, and long fitted sleeves. It has a full ballerina-length skirt. Her three-quarter-length veil is held by a crown of pearls, and completing her costume she is carrying a bouquet of lily of the valley.

Her attendant will have a sky blue net gown, made complementary to the bride's. With it she is wearing a small net hat and will carry a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mrs. VanMeter has chosen a black and pink dress for her daughter's wedding and will have a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Zembower selected a navy blue dress with a corsage of red roses.

The bride attended Allegany High School and is employed by the Department of Defense in Washington. The bridebroom attended Fort Hill High School, served 18 months in the Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Barstow, Calif. He is employed by the Western Electric Company in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party at the Bowling Green Fire Hall at 8 o'clock. Bouquets of flowers and white streamers are being used in the decorations. A minature bride and bridegroom adorn the four-tiered wedding cake and a string quartet will play during the evening.

For their wedding trip through North Carolina the bride is wearing a light blue suit with a white orchid corsage. Mr. Zembower and his bride will reside at Tacoma Park.

Choral Group To Rehearse For Festival

Eight large choirs are participating in the "Sacred Choral Festival" of the Cumberland Choral Society April 12. Each will have its own director and pianist.

Opening Holy Week, the festival will be held in the auditorium at Allegany High School, beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Ethel Bruce and the art department of the school, are doing the stage effects.

The first part of the program is to be the presentation of the "Seven Last Words," by the Choral Society. Robert Rosamond will be the narrator; Gordon Williams is director, with Miss Mary Robb assistant and Mrs. Ann Fisher Gormer, accompanist.

The second part of the program will be by the various choirs, each in vestments, and giving a special anthem.

For the finale the combined choirs and the Choral Society will present "God So Loved the World," from "The Crucifixion."

There will be no admission, but a silver offering will be taken.

The final rehearsal before the dress rehearsal, will be held Monday at 8 o'clock at the city hall. All members are asked to attend. Dress rehearsal will be at 8:30, April 11 at Allegany High School.

Ellerslie Methodist Church, Circle 1 will hold a rummage sale Monday from 12 until 6 at the old Webb Shoe Store, North Centre Street.

WONDERLAND CHARACTERS—The Children's Theater of Frostburg State Teachers College is sponsoring the presentation of "Alice in Wonderland" this afternoon at the college. The matinee will be at 2 o'clock, and features a number of dances. Under the direction of John Moyer, the cast of 65 includes all the Lewis Carroll characters, in addition to a flower ballet. Miss Mary K. Logsdon, president of the Little Theater, is chairman of arrangements; Eugene Brown is lighting and stage manager; and Miss Ruth Schade, tickets. Miss Edith Humphrey is in charge of dramatics at the college. Alice, portrayed by Helein Victoria Nixon, is shown at dress rehearsal watching, left to right, the Gryphon, Kathleen Noone; the large bunny, Melanie Wilmot; Mad Hatter, Waldo Harshberger; Door Mouse, Toni Harshberger; Mock Turtle, Judy McKenzie. Proceeds, from the production being given for the grade school children, are for the college.

Republican Women Name May Dinner Committees

The Women's Republican Club of Cumberland was invited by the Young Republican Club of Allegany County to join in having a reception for all candidates.

Mrs. Earl Conn, Mrs. Lester Reed, Mrs. Fred Driscoll and Mrs. Fred Kaiser were named the committee to meet with the junior club committee to select a date sometime in the first part of June. The latter committee consists of Donald Mason, J. Glenn Beall Jr., Mrs. Elaine Palmer and Miss Patricia Golden.

Mrs. Charles U. Wiebel presided, and completed committees for the May dinner, to be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club, May 4, with Mrs. Karl Bachman, and Mrs. J. Albert Nichols, cochairmen. The Program committee is Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Mrs. Paul Fletcher; Decorations, Mrs. Earl Conn, Mrs. Edgar Davis and Mrs. Reed. Tickets and Reservations, Miss Flaville Percy, phone 4658; and Mrs. Bachman, 1884-R. The general committee consists of Mrs. Joseph Boden, Mrs. Brooks Starcher, Mrs. Wilbur Sills, Mrs. Eloise Shaffer, Mrs. James Morris, Mrs. William Strickler and Mrs. P. A. Creighton; and Hospitality committee, Mrs. Haud Shank, Miss Lillian Myers, Mrs. Isabelle Dawson, Mrs. Lewis Hellman, Mrs. Carl Getz and Mrs. L. O. Daugherty.

The meeting was opened with the pledge to the Flag, and the Lord's Prayer recited in unison, led by Mrs. Strickler. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Niland. Miss Bessie Baird read a letter of regret from Charles A. Stewart and J. French VanMeter, candidates who could not attend the open house. Mrs. Conn reported 71 women served on the Refreshment committee in the past eight months.

Three new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. Frank J. Young, Mrs. Stanley Merritt and Mrs. Viola C. Serf.

Miss Myers speaking of the Republican party observing the 100th anniversary of its organization, reminded the women of the spring conference in Washington, April 6, 7, and 8, at which time plans for the 1954 campaign will be developed. She reported a new club formed in Baltimore with 125 members and quoted Hyde as saying, "There are two things a party can do in an election campaign, boast about its own record, or criticize the opposition's," that the Republicans are still talking about the Democratic record and are just starting to talk of their own accomplishments.

She also spoke of Sen. John M. Butler's bill proposing an amendment to fix the number of Supreme Court judges, compel retirement at 75, prohibit a justice from becoming president or vice president for five years after his term, and in Constitutional cases, remove from Congress its present power to impair appellate jurisdiction of the court. She quoted Sen. Beall on Social Security and President Eisennower on taxes and the budget; and the Puerto Ricans as saying "we are not pro-Americans but Americans."

Speaking of the trial magistrates' questioning expense accounts of county officials, she pointed out that President Eisenhower said recently, "When dealing with people, be very liberal, when dealing with their money, be conservative."

The evening concluded with a reception for the 30 candidates for county, state and city office. Mrs. Roeder introduced them, and the Harmonettes, Marian Laughlin, Rayma Wright and Rose Mary Ord, who sang several numbers, and will be on the Amateur hour tomorrow.

Easter decorations were carried out with bouquets of roses and sweetpeas centering the table and decorating the hall. The cover of the refreshment table repeated the same theme and large plush bunnies by nests of balloon eggs were arranged on the table. There were 39 members and 30 guests present.

Frostburg Rotary Plans Installation In June

FROSTBURG — At the Monday evening meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club, John Watson was speaker and reviewed and gave statistics concerning the raising and canning of cherries for the food market. Following his talk a movie of the cherry orchards and canning plants in Michigan were shown.

Harry C. Ort presided and presented the newly elected officers of the club. New officers are Dale Arner, president, and Donald Hudson, vice president. They will be installed at the last meeting in June.

Reford Aldridge, of the International service committee, displayed copies of a letter recently received from a recipient of a "CARE" package in France. The letter came from a Bulgarian political leader who succeeded in escaping from his country at the time the Communists took over control.

In estimating distances, the Chinese once used a double scale of mileage, says the National Geographic Society. One was for long "uphill miles," the other for the shorter "downhill miles."

23 Firemen Graduate At Westernport

Robert Byrus Gives Awards To Members

WESTERNPORT—Robert Byrus, director of Fire Service extension, University of Maryland, College Park, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of Potomac Fire Company No. 2, at the Westernport Tea Room.

The banquet climaxed a basic course of fire fighting and an advanced course taken by members of the company and the Bloomington Fire Company. A total of 23 firemen completed the instructions which were held twice weekly. Over 80 members and guests attended the turkey dinner.

Clyde Michael, a member of the board of directors of Potomac Company acted as toastmaster.

Byrus stated that the time given by the firemen attending the school of instructions represented over 747 hours. He said there are 270 volunteer fire companies in the state and 88 such classes are held in the state. The only cities having paid fire companies in the state are at Cumberland, Bethesda and Baltimore. One hundred and ninety two companies take part in the classes, not equalled by any other state.

The graduation cards and shoulder pads to be worn were presented to the firemen by Byrus, assisted by Vincent Simmel, secretary of the Maryland State Firemen's Association and Joseph Stuckey, Corriganville, instructor of the courses.

Those receiving the basic course honors included Melvin O. Whitfield, James F. Thompson, Charles E. Shingler, James G. Green, Francis M. Gardine and Ira F. Boyce of Potomac Company and Carl William Whisner, Roy E. Wright, Richard Lee Streets and John Norman Pritts.

Those of the advanced course were Earl S. Ritchie, Clyde W. Sharpless, Louis Nasser, Clyde W. Michael, Paul H. Michael, William E. Mayles, Elton J. McKenzie, J. Stuart Kuhnle, Victor W. Keller, John R. Jones, Howard Hott, Harry W. Hackett and James H. Cirrillo.

The station certificate presented to Potomac Company for participating in the school was accepted by William Mayles, fire chief and the advanced course by Paul Michael, president of the company. Richard L. Streit accepted the station certificate for Bloomington in basic course.

A past president badge was presented to Victor Keller by Paul Michael.

A fire marshall's badge was presented to Clarence Bowers of Piedmont a volunteer fireman in the Tri-Towns for many years.

The toastmaster in behalf of Potomac Company presented Stuckey with a brief case in appreciation of his fine work.

The program also included invocation and benediction by the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, past chaplain of Potomac Company, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage.

Frostburg Rotary Plans Installation In June

FROSTBURG — At the Monday evening meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club, John Watson was speaker and reviewed and gave statistics concerning the raising and canning of cherries for the food market. Following his talk a movie of the cherry orchards and canning plants in Michigan were shown.

Harry C. Ort presided and presented the newly elected officers of the club. New officers are Dale Arner, president, and Donald Hudson, vice president. They will be installed at the last meeting in June.

Reford Aldridge, of the International service committee, displayed copies of a letter recently received from a recipient of a "CARE" package in France. The letter came from a Bulgarian political leader who succeeded in escaping from his country at the time the Communists took over control.

In estimating distances, the Chinese once used a double scale of mileage, says the National Geographic Society. One was for long "uphill miles," the other for the shorter "downhill miles."

23 Firemen Graduate At Westernport

Robert Byrus Gives Awards To Members

WESTERNPORT—Robert Byrus, director of Fire Service extension, University of Maryland, College Park, was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of Potomac Fire Company No. 2, at the Westernport Tea Room.

The banquet climaxed a basic course of fire fighting and an advanced course taken by members of the company and the Bloomington Fire Company. A total of 23 firemen completed the instructions which were held twice weekly. Over 80 members and guests attended the turkey dinner.

Clyde Michael, a member of the board of directors of Potomac Company acted as toastmaster.

Byrus stated that the time given by the firemen attending the school of instructions represented over 747 hours. He said there are 270 volunteer fire companies in the state and 88 such classes are held in the state. The only cities having paid fire companies in the state are at Cumberland, Bethesda and Baltimore. One hundred and ninety two companies take part in the classes, not equalled by any other state.

The graduation cards and shoulder pads to be worn were presented to the firemen by Byrus, assisted by Vincent Simmel, secretary of the Maryland State Firemen's Association and Joseph Stuckey, Corrigansville, instructor of the courses.

Those receiving the basic course honors included Melvin O. Whitfield, James F. Thompson, Charles E. Shingler, James G. Green, Francis M. Gardine and Ira F. Boyce of Potomac Company and Carl William Whisner, Roy E. Wright, Richard Lee Streets and John Norman Pritts.

Those of the advanced course were Earl S. Ritchie, Clyde W. Sharpless, Louis Nasser, Clyde W. Michael, Paul H. Michael, William E. Mayles, Elton J. McKenzie, J. Stuart Kuhnle, Victor W. Keller, John R. Jones, Howard Hott, Harry W. Hackett and James H. Cirrillo.

The station certificate presented to Potomac Company for participating in the school was accepted by William Mayles, fire chief and the advanced course by Paul Michael, president of the company. Richard L. Street accepted the station certificate for Bloomington in basic course.

A past president badge was presented to Victor Keller by Paul Michael.

A fire marshall's badge was presented to Clarence Bowers of Piedmont a volunteer fireman in the Tri-Towns for many years.

The toastmaster in behalf of Potomac Company presented Stuckey with a brief case in appreciation of his fine work.

The program also included invocation and benediction by the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, past chaplain of Potomac Company, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage.

Store Found Not Guilty On Liquor Count

A not guilty verdict was returned yesterday morning by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason in a case in which the Braddock Liquor Store, Inc. allegedly sold a half-pint of whisky to a 19-year-old youth.

The hearing resulted from the arrest of the youth March 25 on charges of being drunk and scattering litter on city streets.

Following his conviction on the charges, the youth was questioned by Detective Lt. James E. Van, who secured a signed statement that the half-pint had been purchased at the Baltimore Street store.

Yesterday morning, the clerk at the store and two other witnesses, who claimed to have been in the store at the time the purchase was said to have been made, told the court the boy had not entered the store Thursday night.

One of the witnesses was reported to have been Officer Charles W. Thompson of the City Police Department. All claimed they had never seen the youth before yesterday morning.

The Mayor and Council were represented by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and William L. Wilson Jr. was counsel for the liquor store.

Chess Club To Play Naval Academy Sunday

The Staunton Chess Club of this city will send a 16-man team to Annapolis Sunday to play its second match with the United States Naval Academy.

The delegation plans to arrive at the Academy at 10 a. m. and will attend religious services and have luncheon.

The match is slated at 2 p. m. Last fall the Cumberland club lost to an academy team, dropping 7½ of 10 games.

Army Reserve Units Report Changes

Promotions, enlistments, re-enlistments and transfers in the U. S. Army Organized Reserve Corps have been announced by Major Grant E. Hoover, instructor.

William Dressman, of LaVale, who is serving with the 3rd Armored Regiment at Camp Pickett, Va., was promoted to sergeant. He is a former member of the 729th Army Postal Unit here. Also elevated in grade were:

Sgt. William J. Jewell, 60 Marion Street, to sergeant first class; Cpl. Robert L. Donahue, city, sergeant, and Pfc. Frederick N. Bloom, city, corporal. All are members of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 398th Ordnance Battalion.

Promotions in the 372nd Police Company went to Pfc. James F. Byrnes, 53 Broadway, Frostburg, corporal; Pvt. Jerry T. McGraw, 5 Wempe Drive, and Pvt. James B. Watson, Westernport, private first class.

Sgt. James R. Woods re-enlisted for three years in the 2113th Control Group. Initial enlistments included Cpl. David S. Hahn, 221 Carroll Street, for three years with Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 398th Ordnance Battalion, and Pvt. John W. Kamauff, Westernport, for eight years in the 372nd Military Police Company.

Transfers from the 2113th Control Group to local units were:

First Lt. Jonathan J. Eckhart, Eckhart Mines, 372nd Military Police Company; Cpl. Joseph C. Kessler, 245 Humbird Street, Company "D", 302nd Signal Battalion, and Cpl. John J. Andrews, 114 Utah Avenue, Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 398th Ordnance Battalion. Lt. Eckhart is a veteran of the Korean conflict.

Guided Missile Game Is Played For Keeps

Most newspaper readers remember the remarkable series of photos released earlier this year which showed one of the Army's Nike guided missiles chewing into and exploding an obsolete World War II bomber. The incident, recorded on film by long range cameras, occurred high over the New Mexico desert last year during secret tests of the rocket missile.

The remarkable thing about this test was that the Nike hit the target squarely, although the missile itself had no explosive warhead. This is roughly equivalent to man hitting a wheeling, speeding barn swallow with a thrown rock.

Obviously, until something better comes along the Nike missile is the best defense—excluding jet interceptors, of course—against supersonic bombers. The Army's announcement of the installation of several launching sites near large cities at least indicates that defense efforts are being stepped up.

While the Nike is an Army weapon, the chain of circumstances which would send one of the missiles roaring skyward in a rush of flame shows the complications of setting up a defense against modern weapons. The initial alert might come from one of several sources: From one of the chain of subarctic radar stations, from a U. S. flying radar station, from a naval ship patrolling far at sea, or from the telephone warnings of a civilian ground observer.

Facts as to the invader's course and speed would be flashed across the nation through the Air Force alarm network. At the Nike launching sites the guiding radar system would be searching for the invading plane. Once locked on it, the tension would grow until the invader came within the range, then the missiles would be launched. At speeds of approximately 1,500 miles an hour, the rockets would close and explode within lethal range.

Absolute as the Nike would seem to be, scientists and the nation's military planners know there are means of diverting the missile through electronic counter-measures. The whole affair thus becomes a deadly game of outguessing the enemy. The stakes are tremendous—the loser gets no second chance. But the mass installation of Nike nests makes the nation's chances of surviving better than they were a mere six months ago.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

"Last Man Out"

Every Sunday night, if I could get to a radio, I listened to "Last Man Out." I thought it was the best dramatic program on the air. Well, it is off the air. It is dead.

Why? Nobody would sponsor it. Richard English, its owner, could get back door money to run it. This he rejected. His stories had to be honest. They could not be slanted to satisfy a faction or an individual who happened to have the money to pay for such a program.

The commercial sponsors felt that it was too controversial for them. Communists use soap and smoke cigarets as well as decent people do. Why antagonize the customer—any customer? Of course, lots of controversial persons are sponsored. Left wingers are sponsored. But they are not controversial personalities. They are distinguished commentators because they are sponsored and speak to a national audience. Why do they have a national audience? Because they are sponsored! Anyone who can cut through that knot is indeed a brilliant mind.

"Last Man Out" told the story of the Communist infiltration through the mouths of ex-Communists, the most useful weapons in the fight for our civilization. For 26 weeks, Richard English, at great sacrifice, kept this program on the air. It took an unbelievable amount of work and money to accomplish this. The hope was that some American advertiser would come forward with as much capacity for patriotism as Richard English has shown. It was a fruitless hope. It generally is.

Those who have most to lose show the least intelligence in safeguarding what they have. In the great fight against communism, few American capitalists have shown as much courage and patriotism as have dozens of men and women who have impoverished themselves and their families to fight for America against the machinations of the Kremlin's conspiracy.

Among these heroic personalities, Richard English will stand high. The fact that his program is off the air because it was unsponsored does not mean that it was a failure either artistically or spiritually. It only means that those who sell consumer goods are governed by commercial rules which satisfy them, and that Richard English's "Last Man Out" did not satisfy them. In their smugness, nothing but that counts.

Of course, some of those on the right objected to "Last Man Out" because it gave the ex-Communist an opportunity to tell his story. These bigoted individuals fail to realize the great value to this nation of those who, having made an error, are penitent and seek means to prove the sincerity of their renunciation by serving their country. I know hundreds of ex-Communists and ex-fellow travelers and it is my experience that without their aid little could have been achieved in combating the Kremlin's conspiracy in this country.

It is not an easy step to leave the Communist party. It often means breaking with one's family, with lifelong friends. I have known ex-Communists who have faced the most difficult personal problems. A husband may become a convert to anti-communism, but his wife, the mother of his children, will not change—and it becomes impossible for them to live together. Many such men dislike telling their stories because it involves putting the finger on a wife, a sweetheart, an old companion, even a parent. It is a difficult thing to do.

Most of all, ex-Communists face the fact that many men are suspicious of a person who went wrong, who betrayed his country and then betrayed his associates in the conspiracy. It is easy for those who have never experienced error to deny the possibility of contrition. The ex-Communist even finds that he is kept out of jobs almost as ex-convicts are kept out of jobs. Should a union be Communist-controlled, he has no chance at all, but often conservative employers fear to give him work because they expect a flare-up against him and them either from extreme left wingers or extreme right wingers. It is a tough spot.

Nevertheless, the ex-Communist can do a wonderful job for America and "Last Man Out" showed how. But now it is off the air. It is dead.

The Mummy Case

First Films Of Hydrogen Bomb Blast Forecast Possibility Of Destruction

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The 28-minute movie of the world's first hydrogen explosion shows how last year's H-blast, now dwarfed by the March 1 explosion, burns out the heart of New York City or Washington, D. C., completely annihilating everything, within a three-mile radius.

"Relating the area of damage to a city like Washington, D. C.," says the film narrator in the H-picture, "it presents a picture something like this. With the capitol as zero point, there would be complete annihilation west to Arlington Cemetery, east to the Anacostia River, north to Soldiers' Home, South to Bolling Field."

Superimposing the fiery storm center of the H-blast over the New York skyline, the film describes the fireball as "about three and one-fourth miles in diameter.

"Compared to the skyline of New York," it adds, "this means that with the Empire State Building as zero point, the fireball would extend downtown to Washington Square and uptown to Central Park. In other words, the fireball alone would engulf about one-fourth of the island of Manhattan.

Its Name Was "Mike"

In showing preparations for the historic explosion, the film flashes back to a conference at Los Alamos, N. M., at which the scientists acknowledge that the H-tests will be risky.

"Gentlemen," says Scientist Norris E. Bradbury, "up to now the laboratory has had sufficient time to compile information and revise weapon design before a field test of a weapon. As of now, the situation is changed. We must take risks—calculated risks, it is true—but risks nevertheless. According to the Presidential directive, we must ascertain if a hydrogen bomb is feasible and do this with the highest possible speed. Eniwetok will become our theoretical laboratory rather than a proving ground."

The film shows a two-story, black structure, which housed the hydrogen device, atop a lonely atoll. This is referred to as Elugelab or Shot Island. A plywood tube, looking like "a train of box cars," is shown running from Shot Island across a causeway to a detection station on another island two miles away. This is described as "a helium atmosphere box."

Television cameras give "a second-by-second account of what is happening on Shot Island," and on the control ship, the USS Estes, some 35 miles away. The hydrogen device was triggered by a scientific party led by Col. Dick Lunger, who reports in the film:

"At H minus six hours, the job was finished. The 'Mike' (hydrogen) device was on its own and ready. We made the run from Shot Island down to the anchorage of the Estes in a fast crash boat."

As the minutes tick away before the explosion, Stan Burris, commander of the scientific task force, explains that the detonation could be stopped the last minute in case of an emergency by "radio link direct to the firing panel in the Shot cabin."

32 Empire State Buildings

But there is no last-minute hitch. The switches are pulled on board the USS Estes, and the monstrous explosion rocks the screen, filling the horizon with a flaming, billowing fireball.

The narrator reports: "The tremendous upsurge of air from the detonation rapidly pushes up the cloud. Again, nothing of this height and width has ever before been witnessed. If the picture is stopped at this point in the cloud's growth, the height of the cloud is approximately 40,000 feet. This means 32 Empire State buildings at 1,250 feet per building could be piled on top the other. Some ten minutes later the mushroom cloud portion of the cloud has pushed up to around 10 miles and spreads out along the base of the stratosphere to a width of about 100 miles, while the stem itself is pushing upward deep into the stratosphere to a height of 25 miles."

Immediately after the explosion, a Navy task group, commanded by Rear Adm. Charles W. Wilkins, is dispatched to the blast area 't'o get exposed film samples and other scientific data." They must rush in and get out again before the "fall out," or radioactive rain, starts sprinkling down "at about M plus one hour."

"The helicopter must get in quickly and get out before the hour is up," the narrator announces dramatically.

Then the pilot's actual report is heard as he hovers over the blast area.

"The detection station on Bogon appears to be in good shape," the pilot barks into the microphone. "No physical sign of plywood tubes. All test islands seem to be swept clean. Elugelab is completely gone. Nothing there but water and what appears to be a deep crater. Water dark blue in color."

Then the narrator adds: "Nothing but water; an island completely erased. 'Mike' was power, the kind of titanic energy released by the stars."

Later the camera focuses on what was once Elugelab or Shot Island. "The crater is roughly a mile in diameter," the narrator reports. "When it is illustrated that some 14 Pentagon buildings could be accommodated in this hole, the size of the 'Mike' crater becomes more realistic. In profile, the crater gradually slopes down to a maximum depth of some 175 feet or equivalent to the height of a 17-story building."

The film doesn't mention it, but this first explosion was less than one-fourth the power of the March 1 hydrogen blast, which unleashed a mammoth fireball more than 12 miles in diameter and was felt over 180 miles away.

Lengthy Inquiry Into Political Pull May Be In Offing

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Selection of Samuel Sears of Boston to be counsel for the Senate subcommittee which is to investigate the dispute between the secretary of the army and members of the staff of Senator McCarthy's committee is the beginning of what may prove to be a long, drawn-out inquiry into the whole subject of political pull in Washington.

What is the political influence, for example, reaching into the armed services to get promotions? What part do members of Congress play in such inner maneuvers? How are civilians given important commissions? What communications, oral or written, have passed between the offices of the three armed services and the members of the Senate and House, with particular reference to the committees in both houses which deal with legislation affecting the military establishment?

Perspective Needed

This is the time for Congress to clean up its own "mess." For many years now it has been well known that "favored treatment" for constituents has been obtained. The Schine-Cohn case cannot be tried fairly unless it is put into perspective—that is, unless all the facts concerning the atmosphere in which the case has been projected are fully disclosed.

This correspondent is in receipt of a memorandum from a man who served as a special assistant to one of the high civilian officials of the armed services during World War II. He writes as follows:

"Of course, you are probably more familiar than I am with the large liaison staffs that the Army and Navy have maintained to process requests from the offices of senators nad congressmen which are passed on from constituents asking for special favors for their sons.

"General Persons, who headed the Army liaison for many years, was so indispensable and irreplaceable that he was made an exception to Army regulations and retained on Capitol Hill to keep congressmen and senators happy. I mean no disrespect to him because I admire him. In fact, he did a superlative job for the Army. It was so good that people in the Navy were constantly hearing unpleasant comparisons between his handling of requests for special favors in contrast to the stuffy Navy practice of the Bureau of Personnel in putting 'P.I.' for political influence" on the files of men for whom politicians had intervened.

Patterned After Army

"I know that at the request of the secretary of the navy, his assistant made a survey of the superior legislative relations of the Army over the Navy, and led to recommendations to improve the Navy's service to Capitol Hill—patterned on what the Army was doing.

"It is rank hypocrisy for anyone — particularly for some of the newspaper publishers who themselves benefitted by special favors which they never hesitated to request through their senators and congressmen—to pretend that there is anything unusual in the Cohn-Schine requests. And it is particularly ridiculous for writers to say that the special favors demanded by Cohn or McCarthy for Schine had 'devastating' effects on the morale at Fort Dix. That is hypocritical bunk, and those who write it must know it or they don't know what makes Washington, Capitol Hill or the Army and Navy tick.

"I have within the last few days talked with an officer whose duty it has been to serve in the legislative liaison section of one of the armed services. He tells me that they keep daily 'logs' of telephone and written requests affecting personnel which were received from the offices of senators and congressmen. He also gave me a table of organization of personnel engaged in processing these requests. May I suggest that the newspapers would perform a service to the public if they published with appropriate charts, the tables of organization of the machinery for handling requests from Capitol Hill about personnel and also statistics of the number of requests.

Names Are On File

"I cannot conceive that the Department of Defense would dare to place themselves in a position of tacit admission that their detailed records on Cohn and Schine amount to persecution of only two boys, which they certainly will be doing if they can't come forward promptly with similar records and statistics on the thousands of other senatorial and congressional requests for special favors. I am informed that such records are kept. I submit that the public interest would be particularly served if the requests from the office of each senator who will sit in judgment on Cohn and Schine be analyzed and published. I learned at law school something to the effect that 'he who comes into equity must come with clean hands'."

Detailed testimony before the Senate subcommittee by the man who wrote the above memorandum and by all other former officials of the government who handled relations between the armed services and Capitol Hill would provide very interesting reading. Their names are on file at the Pentagon.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Attended a lecture this week where a fellow said the dollar was worth 54 cents.

After it was over I offered the professor 54 cents for one.

He refused my generous offer with suspicion akimbo.

He wouldn't sell his dollar for less than a dollar. Which proved to me it's still worth that.

Lectures on economy, quack medicines and allied industries, all unroll charts they made themselves. The small dollar barker agreed with me that all dollars were Lucky Bucks. I asked him if he had a Fortunate Five. Or even a Temporary Ten.

But those guys do business only on fever charts. They show you why the circumference of your bankroll has shrunk from an elephant's wrist to an ant's ankle.

The fellow could point to triangle-shaped wedges on the chart and figure out your income in autumn leaves, cigar-bands and milk bottle tops.

An economic statistician figures out the contents of your pockets on the theory that you go through life standing on your head. Everything dates from pre-war years when the cost of living was hardly worth it.

Food, fuel, rent and sundries all reflect the extraneous trend of the diminishing dollar. It doesn't bother me that things were much cheaper in 1914. That's because I don't want the things now I wanted then.

To buzz the truth I've depreciated more than the dollar. No hair, no teeth and they wouldn't take my skin in a tannery.

One thing I have always noticed about the statistician. He's talking about your dollar, not his.

According to him you are shy 46 cents on every bill. You can bridge that bit of evaporation by spending 'em twice as fast.

J. N. "Lifts The Veil"

By Brother Barnabas

At the turn of the century there appeared in the region of northwestern Ohio, northeastern Indiana and southern Michigan a strange character, reminding one of an Old Testament prophet in appearance.

He was tall, dignified, of classical features, of evident culture, and was no Rube.

He called himself "the Immortal J. N." and by that cognomen he was known all over that section.

Conductors on trains did not collect when he said, "I am the Immortal J. N."

His name was an open sesame to every community he visited, and he was ever on the go. Hospitalities were showered upon him like some welcoming committee greeting a newcomer in town.

Had One Obsession

When he checked out at hotels he would propose to the clerk that if the hotel would throw off half the bill he would throw off the other half. And the clerk would have carte blanche authority to cancel the account.

His obsession was "lifting the veil." That was his only business so far as any one could find out. But he was "sold" on the proposition and wherever he went he scrawled on fences, doorsteps and sidewalks incoherent phrases, never omitting "lifting the veil."

This writer saw him one day in a small town going up and down the street penciling his inscriptions with crayon, and out of curiosity observed him writing on a neighbor's porchstep, and afterwards tried to read the jargon. All he could make out was a warning about "lifting the veil."

How he got that way was speculative. The current belief was that he had been a brilliant lawyer, and in a celebrated murder trial he had cleared his client of the charge of murder in the first degree.

Afterwards it was learned by indisputable evidence that the man was guilty and not innocent, as proven. But the Fifth Amendment "double jeopardy" provision prevented a new trial. The shock of the denouncement left him with this mental derangement.

Looked For Himself

As a rule lawyers do not have qualms like that. If they ever have any, they are non sequiter.

Incidentally, it has been said that if there had been more good lawyers in Tennessee the early population of Texas would not have been so large.

Another story of the same ilk comes from a gentleman of the cloth, and it must also be orthodox, for it was told by an Episcopalian rector.

His Reverence, having officiated at an infirmary, was on his way out when he was met by an inmate who asked him to see his people and ask them to try to get him out of "here." "You see," said he, "I don't belong here. I am perfectly normal. But don't tell them I'm Julius Caesar. They don't know that."

Frederick K. Stamm told of an insane man searching under the bed and in closets and all over the house to find himself.

A German whom Coleridge met at Frankfort always took off his hat with profound respect when he ventured to speak to himself.

We are not all cuckoo as in the case histories above cited, but he is a rara avis who doesn't at some time indulge some sort of idiosyncrasy. Not to say that either the reader or the writer of this piece is suspect, although the fact may be quid pro quo.

When one becomes an habitual cross-examiner, trying to find a Communist in a woodpile, he himself may need to be psychoanalyzed.

Daydreaming Harmless

Daydreaming is harmless if it is not overdone; but don't dream of getting rich by wildcatting, or socially and politically prominent by marrying Queen Wilhelmina.

One of the most popular of indoor sports is wishing we had been born at some other time, or in some other place, or under a different set of circumstances than marked our advent on the planet; or wishing we were somebody else than our own sweet selves.

That is a piece of imbecility that calls for some "Immortal J. N." to "lift the veil," so that we can see that the time is not "out of joint," but each one of us is born in the nick of time and for some worthy purpose.

And no one shall ever have to lament, "Born, alas, in an evil time." Rather, he can say with Emerson: "Every morning when I awake, I thank God I am alive, and live so near Boston!

Or, paraphrasing "I thank God I am alive, and live in Cumberland!

If you want to know who you are and what you are, read the papers when you file to run for council or some other important office.

If you want to know what the public thinks of you, wait for the election returns. You may be a small man in a big way, or a big man in a small way.

If you want to know what God thinks of you, read the Bible.

Health Education Helped Stem Appendicitis Deaths

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Deaths from appendicitis are on the wane except in adolescents and in adults over 50. In these groups, the mortality rate has increased slightly. The overall reduction in deaths from appendicitis stemmed originally from health education. Parents were alerted to the treacherous nature of the condition and the consequences of giving a laxative whenever a youngster complained of abdominal pain. They learned also that early operation avoided peritonitis which, in the days before the advent of the wonder drugs, often proved fatal.

Careful analysis of statistics on the disease shows more improvement in children than in the middle-aged. Apparently our senior citizens have forgotten about appendicitis or assume they are immune. But this is not all. Appendicitis in older persons frequently masquerades as "gas" pains and often is given the same treatment: A laxative or an enema which aggravates distress. Purges have the same effect upon Grandpa as on his grandson; they encourage an inflamed appendix to rupture and, within 24 hours, abdominal abscess or full-blown peritonitis ensues.

This is becoming a problem. More and more of the operations performed on the elderly are for serious neglected conditions. Many of these men and women procrastinated when told that appendicitis existed and surgery was necessary. Some were afraid because they were convinced an older individual could never live through the operation; others were certain that "gas" was responsible because appendicitis is a disease of children and young people.

Surgery and the wonder drugs have removed the sting from appendicitis but unless these measures are used, the outcome is just as serious as it was at the turn of the centry. Many victims of the disorder will continue to stall because they are not reminded, by the death of a relative or neighbor every week or month, as were their ancestors. The operation is a major one but the technique has been perfected to such an extent that virtually everyone recovers.

The effects of modern drugs offers some leeway in delaying surgery when the diagnosis is questionable. In the past, appendectomy was recommended whenever there was the remotest possibility that inflammation of the organ was the cause of abdominal tenderness and pain; the dire conquences of making an error had been impressed upon these physicians. Nowadays, questionable cases are treated medically and if improvement does not follow within a reasonable time, surgery is advised.

PROLONGED FEVER

J. D. F. writes: What causes mononucleosis, or glandular fever? My 10-year-old granddaughter seems to get a spell of it every five or six weeks and has had to miss much time from school.

REPLY

The cause is not known although a virus is suspected. Most victims recover within three to six weeks; in the remainder, the condition smoulders for many months. Recurrences and relapses have been reported but in all probability, these are not new attacks but continuations of the old. Don't be discouraged because fatalities are rare and in time, recovery ensues.

ANEMIA IN INFANTS

Mrs. R. writes: Are all infants anemic?

REPLY

No, but they might be if the mother is anemic and fails to pass along an adequate supply of iron. Most babies come into the world with enough iron to last three to six months, at which time supplementary feedings, like eggs and meat will keep anemia from developing.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Every once in a while some rawboned rookie turns up at a big league training camp to evoke comparisons with Ring Lardner's famous "busher" — and to become the butt of practical jokes dreamed up by other members of the squad. One rookie spotted a sign reading "BILLIARDS" above a tavern entrance and actually asked, "What in tarnation is billiards?" A veteran narrowly averted swallowing his chew, then answered, "Don't tell me you never had a slug of billiards, son! Best drink in the world!"

The rookie was led into the tavern, and the vet, with an elaborate wink to the barkeep, announced, "Give this lad a glass of your best brand of billiards." The barman scooped up a tall glass of soapy water from the sink, added a slug of gin, and slid the vile concoction across the bar. The rookie managed to down it, then gasped, "Them billiards is suah powerful, but did any of you fellers ever notice how much it tastes like dishwater?"

Guided Missile Game Is Played For Keeps

Most newspaper readers remember the remarkable series of photos released earlier this year which showed one of the Army's Nike guided missiles chewing into and exploding an obsolete World War II bomber. The incident, recorded on film by long range cameras, occurred high over the New Mexico desert last year during secret tests of the rocket missile.

The remarkable thing about this test was that the Nike hit the target squarely, although the missile itself had no explosive warhead. This is roughly equivalent to man hitting a wheeling, speeding barn swallow with a thrown rock.

Obviously, until something better comes along the Nike missile is the best defense—excluding jet interceptors, of course — against supersonic bombers. The Army's announcement of the installation of several launching sites near large cities at least indicates that defense efforts are being stepped up.

While the Nike is an Army weapon, the chain of circumstances which would send one of the missiles roaring skyward in a rush of flame shows the complications of setting up a defense against modern weapons. The initial alert might come from one of several sources: From one of the chain of subarctic radar stations, from a U. S. flying radar station, from a naval ship patrolling far at sea, or from the telephone warnings of a civilian ground observer.

Facts as to the invader's course and speed would be flashed across the nation through the Air Force alarm network. At the Nike launching sites the guiding radar system would be searching for the invading plane. Once locked on it, the tension would grow until the invader came within the range, then the missiles would be launched. At speeds of approximately 1,500 miles an hour, the rockets would close and explode within lethal range.

Absolute as the Nike would seem to be, scientists and the nation's military planners know there are means of diverting the missile through electronic counter-measures. The whole affair thus becomes a deadly game of outguessing the enemy. The stakes are tremendous—the loser gets no second chance. But the mass installation of Nike nests makes the nation's chances of surviving better than they were a mere six months ago.

These Days

"Last Man Out"

Every Sunday night, if I could get to a radio, I listened to "Last Man Out." I thought it was the best dramatic program on the air. Well, it is off the air. It is dead.

Why? Nobody would sponsor it. Richard English, its owner, could get back door money to run it. This he rejected. His stories had to be honest. They could not be slanted to satisfy a faction or an individual who happened to have the money to pay for such a program.

The commercial sponsors felt that it was too controversial for them. Communists use soap and smoke cigarets as well as decent people do. Why antagonize the customer—any customer? Of course, lots of controversial persons are sponsored. Left wingers are sponsored. But they are not controversial personalities. They are distinguished commentators because they are sponsored and speak to a national audience. Why do they have a national audience? Because they are sponsored! Anyone who can cut through that knot is indeed a brilliant mind.

"Last Man Out" told the story of the Communist infiltration through the mouths of ex-Communists, the most useful weapons in the fight for our civilization. For 26 weeks, Richard English, at great sacrifice, kept this program on the air. It took an unbelievable amount of work and money to accomplish this. The hope was that some American advertiser would come forward with as much capacity for patriotism as Richard English has shown. It was a fruitless hope. It generally is.

Those who have most to lose show the least intelligence in safeguarding what they have. In the great fight against communism, few American capitalists have shown as much courage and patriotism as have dozens of men and women who have impoverished themselves and their families to fight for America against the machinations of the Kremlin's conspiracy.

Among these heroic personalities, Richard English will stand high. The fact that his program is off the air because it was unsponsored does not mean that it was a failure either artistically or spiritually. It only means that those who sell consumer goods are governed by commercial rules which satisfy them, and that Richard English's "Last Man Out" did not satisfy them. In their smugness, nothing but that counts.

Of course, some of those on the right objected to "Last Man Out" because it gave the ex-Communist an opportunity to tell his story. These bigoted individuals fail to realize the great value to this nation of those who, having made an error, are penitent and seek means to prove the sincerity of their renunciation by serving their country. I know hundreds of ex-Communists and ex-fellow travelers and it is my experience that without their aid little could have been achieved in combating the Kremlin's conspiracy in this country.

It is not an easy step to leave the Communist party. It often means breaking with one's family, with lifelong friends. I have known ex-Communists who have faced the most difficult personal problems. A husband may become a convert to anti-communism, but his wife, the mother of his children, will not change—and it becomes impossible for them to live together. Many such men dislike telling their stories because it involves putting the finger on a wife, a sweetheart, an old companion, even a parent. It is a difficult thing to do.

Most of all, ex-Communists face the fact that many men are suspicious of a person who went wrong, who betrayed his country and then betrayed his associates in the conspiracy. It is easy for those who have never experienced error to deny the possibility of contrition. The ex-Communist even finds that he is kept out of jobs almost as ex-convicts are kept out of jobs. Should a union be Communist-controlled, he has no chance at all, but often conservative employers fear to give him work because they expect a flare-up against him and them either from extreme left wingers or extreme right wingers. It is a tough spot.

Nevertheless, the ex-Communist can do a wonderful job for America and "Last Man Out" showed how. But now it is off the air. It is dead.

The Mummy Case

First Films Of Hydrogen Bomb Blast Forecast Possibility Of Destruction

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The 28-minute movie of the world's first hydrogen explosion shows how last year's H-blast, now dwarfed by the March 1 explosion, burns out the heart of New York City or Washington, D. C., completely annihilating everything, within a three-mile radius.

"Relating the area of damage to a city like Washington, D. C.," says the film narrator in the H-picture, "it presents a picture something like this. With the capitol as zero point, there would be complete annihilation west to Arlington Cemetery, east to the Anacostia River, north to Soldiers' Home, South to Bolling Field."

Superimposing the fiery storm center of the H-blast over the New York skyline, the film describes the fireball as "about three and one-fourth miles in diameter.

"Compared to the skyline of New York," it adds, "this means that with the Empire State Building as zero point, the fireball would extend downtown to Washington Square and uptown to Central Park. In other words, the fireball alone would engulf about one-fourth of the island of Manhattan.

Its Name Was "Mike"

In showing preparations for the historic explosion, the film flashes back to a conference at Los Alamos, N. M., at which the scientists acknowledge that the H-tests will be risky.

"Gentlemen," says Scientist Norris E. Bradbury, "up to now the laboratory has had sufficient time to compile information and revise weapon design before a field test of a weapon. As of now, the situation is changed. We must take risks—calculated risks, it is true—but risks nevertheless. According to the Presidential directive, we must ascertain if a hydrogen bomb is feasible and do this with the highest possible speed. Eniwetok will become our theoretical laboratory rather than a proving ground."

The film shows a two-story, black structure, which housed the hydrogen device, atop a lonely atoll. This is referred to as Elugelab or Shot Island. A plywood tube, looking like "a train of box cars," is shown running from Shot Island across a causeway to a detection station on another island two miles away. This is described as "a helium atmosphere box."

Television cameras give "a second-by-second account of what is happening on Shot Island," and on the control ship, the USS Estes, some 35 miles away. The hydrogen device was triggered by a scientific party led by Col. Dick Lunger, who reports in the film:

"At H minus six hours, the job was finished. The 'Mike' (hydrogen) device was on its own and ready. We made the run from Shot Island down to the anchorage of the Estes in a fast crash boat."

As the minutes tick away before the explosion, Stan Burris, commander of the scientific task force, explains that the detonation could be stopped the last minute in case of an emergency by "radio link direct to the firing panel in the Shot cabin."

32 Empire State Buildings

But there is no last-minute hitch. The switches are pulled on board the USS Estes, and the monstrous explosion rocks the screen, filling the horizon with a flaming, billowing fireball.

The narrator reports: "The tremendous upsurge of air from the detonation rapidly pushes up the cloud. Again, nothing of this height and width has ever before been witnessed. If the picture is stopped at this point in the cloud's growth, the height of the cloud is approximately 40,000 feet. This means 32 Empire State buildings at 1,250 feet per building could be piled on top the other. Some ten minutes later the mushroom cloud portion of the cloud has pushed up to around 10 miles and spreads out along the base of the stratosphere to a width of about 100 miles, while the stem itself is pushing upward deep into the stratosphere to a height of 25 miles."

Immediately after the explosion, a Navy task group, commanded by Rear Adm. Charles W. Wilkins, is dispatched to the blast area 't'o get exposed film samples and other scientific data." They must rush in and get out again before the "fall out," or radioactive rain, starts sprinkling down "at about M plus one hour."

"The helicopter must get in quickly and get out before the hour is up," the narrator announces dramatically.

Then the pilot's actual report is heard as he hovers over the blast area.

"The detection station on Bogon appears to be in good shape," the pilot barks into the microphone. "No physical sign of plywood tubes. All test islands seem to be swept clean. Elugelab is completely gone. Nothing there but water and what appears to be a deep crater. Water dark blue in color."

Then the narrator adds: "Nothing but water; an island completely erased. 'Mike' was power, the kind of titanic energy released by the stars."

Later the camera focuses on what was once Elugelab or Shot Island. "The crater is roughly a mile in diameter," the narrator reports. "When it is illustrated that some 14 Pentagon buildings could be accommodated in this hole, the size of the 'Mike' crater becomes more realistic. In profile, the crater gradually slopes down to a maximum depth of some 175 feet or equivalent to the height of a 17-story building."

The film doesn't mention it, but this first explosion was less than one-fourth the power of the March 1 hydrogen blast, which unleashed a mammoth fireball more than 12 miles in diameter and was felt over 180 miles away.

Lengthy Inquiry Into Political Pull May Be In Offing

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Selection of Samuel Sears of Boston to be counsel for the Senate subcommittee which is to investigate the dispute between the secretary of the army and members of the staff of Senator McCarthy's committee is the beginning of what may prove to be a long, drawn-out inquiry into the whole subject of political pull in Washington.

What is the political influence, for example, reaching into the armed services to get promotions? What part do members of Congress play in such inner maneuvers? How are civilians given important commissions? What communications, oral or written, have passed between the offices of the three armed services and the members of the Senate and House, with particular reference to the committees in both houses which deal with legislation affecting the military establishment?

Perspective Needed

This is the time for Congress to clean up its own "mess." For many years now it has been well known that "favored treatment" for constituents has been obtained. The Schine-Cohn case cannot be tried fairly unless it is put into perspective—that is, unless all the facts concerning the atmosphere in which the case has been projected are fully disclosed.

This correspondent is in receipt of a memorandum from a man who served as a special assistant to one of the high civilian officials of the armed services during World War II. He writes as follows:

"Of course, you are probably more familiar than I am with the large liaison staffs that the Army and Navy have maintained to process requests from the offices of senators nad congressmen which are passed on from constituents asking for special favors for their sons.

"General Persons, who headed the Army liaison for many years, was so indispensable and irreplaceable that he was made an exception to Army regulations and retained on Capitol Hill to keep congressmen and senators happy. I mean no disrespect to him because I admire him. In fact, he did a superlative job for the Army. It was so good that people in the Navy were constantly hearing unpleasant comparisons between his handling of requests for special favors in contrast to the stuffy Navy practice of the Bureau of Personnel in putting 'P.I.' for political influence" on the files of men for whom politicians had intervened.

Patterned After Army

"I know that at the request of the secretary of the navy, his assistant made a survey of the superior legislative relations of the Army over the Navy, and led to recommendations to improve the Navy's service to Capitol Hill—patterned on what the Army was doing.

"It is rank hypocrisy for anyone — particularly for some of the newspaper publishers who themselves benefitted by special favors which they never hesitated to request through their senators and congressmen—to pretend that there is anything unusual in the Cohn-Schine requests. And it is particularly ridiculous for writers to say that the special favors demanded by Cohn or McCarthy for Schine had 'devastating' effects on the morale at Fort Dix. That is hypocritical bunk, and those who write it must know it or they don't know what makes Washington, Capitol Hill or the Army and Navy tick.

"I have within the last few days talked with an officer whose duty it has been to serve in the legislative liaison section of one of the armed services. He tells me that they keep daily 'logs' of telephone and written requests affecting personnel which were received from the offices of senators and congressmen. He also gave me a table of organization of personnel engaged in processing these requests. May I suggest that the newspapers would perform a service to the public if they published with appropriate charts, the tables of organization of the machinery for handling requests from Capitol Hill about personnel and also statistics of the number of requests.

Names Are On File

"I cannot conceive that the Department of Defense would dare to place themselves in a position of tacit admission that their detailed records on Cohn and Schine amount to persecution of only two boys, which they certainly will be doing if they can't come forward promptly with similar records and statistics on the thousands of other senatorial and congressional requests for special favors. I am informed that such records are kept. I submit that the public interest would be particularly served if the requests from the office of each senator who will sit in judgment on Cohn and Schine be analyzed and published. I learned at law school something to the effect that 'he who comes into equity must come with clean hands'."

Detailed testimony before the Senate subcommittee by the man who wrote the above memorandum and by all other former officials of the government who handled relations between the armed services and Capitol Hill would provide very interesting reading. Their names are on file at the Pentagon.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Attended a lecture this week where a fellow said the dollar was worth 54 cents.

After it was over I offered the professor 54 cents for one.

He refused my generous offer with suspicion akimbo.

He wouldn't sell his dollar for less than a dollar. Which proved to me it's still worth that.

Lectures on economy, quack medicines and allied industries, all unroll charts they made themselves. The small dollar barker agreed with me that all dollars were Lucky Bucks. I asked him if he had a Fortunate Five. Or even a Temporary Ten.

But those guys do business only on fever charts. They show you why the circumference of your bankroll has shrunk from an elephant's wrist to an ant's ankle.

The fellow could point to triangle-shaped wedges on the chart and figure out your income in autumn leaves, cigar-bands and milk bottle tops.

An economic statistician figures out the contents of your pockets on the theory that you go through life standing on your head. Everything dates from pre-war years when the cost of living was hardly worth it.

Food, fuel, rent and sundries all reflect the extraneous trend of the diminishing dollar. It doesn't bother me that things were much cheaper in 1914. That's because I don't want the things now I wanted then.

To buzz the truth I've depreciated more than the dollar. No hair, no teeth and they wouldn't take my skin in a tannery.

One thing I have always noticed about the statistician. He's talking about your dollar, not his.

According to him you are shy 46 cents on every bill. You can bridge that bit of evaporation by spending 'em twice as fast.

J. N. "Lifts The Veil"

By Brother Barnabas

At the turn of the century there appeared in the region of northwestern Ohio, northeastern Indiana and southern Michigan a strange character, reminding one of an Old Testament prophet in appearance.

He was tall, dignified, of classical features, of evident culture, and was no Rube.

He called himself "the Immortal J. N." and by that cognomen he was known all over that section.

Conductors on trains did not collect when he said, "I am the Immortal J. N."

His name was an open sesame to every community he visited, and he was ever on the go. Hospitalities were showered upon him like some welcoming committee greeting a newcomer in town.

Had One Obsession

When he checked out at hotels he would propose to the clerk that if the hotel would throw off half the bill he would throw off the other half. And the clerk would have carte blanche authority to cancel the account.

His obsession was "lifting the veil." That was his only business so far as any one could find out. But he was "sold" on the proposition and wherever he went he scrawled on fences, doorsteps and sidewalks incoherent phrases, never omitting "lifting the veil."

This writer saw him one day in a small town going up and down the street penciling his inscriptions with crayon, and out of curiosity observed him writing on a neighbor's porchstep, and afterwards tried to read the jargon. All he could make out was a warning about "lifting the veil."

How he got that way was speculative. The current belief was that he had been a brilliant lawyer, and in a celebrated murder trial he had cleared his client of the charge of murder in the first degree.

Afterwards it was learned by indisputable evidence that the man was guilty and not innocent, as proven. But the Fifth Amendment "double jeopardy" provision prevented a new trial. The shock of the denouncement left him with this mental derangement.

A veteran narrowly averted swallowing his chew, then answered, "Don't tell me you never had a slug of billiards, son! Best drink in the world!"

The rookie was led into the tavern, and the vet, with an elaborate wink to the barkeep, announced, "Give this lad a glass of your best brand of billiards." The barman scooped up a tall glass of soapy water from the sink, added a slug of gin, and slid the vile concoction across the bar. The rookie managed to down it, then gasped, "Them billiards is suah powerful, but did any of you fellers ever notice how much it tastes like dishwater?"

Olson Decisions Gavilan, Retains Middleweight Title

Verdict Split In Blistering Chicago Fight

One Judge Casts Draw Vote; Frequent Savage Exchanges Mark Battle

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO, April 2 (AP)—Tireless Bobo Olson saved his world middleweight title in a rousing battle with courageous welter champ Kid Gavilan tonight by winning the votes of the referee and one judge for a 15-round decision. The other judge scored this blistering "fight of the year" a dead-even struggle.

The near capacity crowd roared in delight as the Cuban Kid matched Olson in a toe to toe slugging bee through the final seconds of the stirring nationally-televised bout between two solid workmen.

Extra Pounds Tell Story

Blood streamed from Gavilan's slashed right eye from the ninth round on as extra pounds finally told the story of this battle of two champions.

Gavilan's bid for a double title was frustrated by the closest of margins in a bout marked by frequent savage exchanges.

Referee Bernard (Sonny) Weissman, working his first championship fight, called it for Olson by a margin of 147 points to 141. Judge Bill O'Connell had Olson on top 147-139, while Judge Ed Hintz scored 144 for each man. The AP card had Olson out front by the barest of margins, 142-141.

When the decision was announced, Olson stood poker-faced and calm in his corner, like a man who had just picked 10 bushels of apples in his orchard. The Kid looked weary.

After the decision was announced, the fighters posed for pictures in the center of the ring. Olson mustered a smile. The Kid congratulated him.

Lands "Sucker" Rights

Olson, a master of the feint, startled Gavilan by landing "sucker" right hand leads throughout the fight. Bobo lunges like a butcher working out on a side of beef, with a side-chopping motion.

From time to time, Gavilan's zooming punches to the inside would beat Olson at his own body-thumping game. But it was the presistent attack of Bobo which made Gavilan back-pedal in retreat that won the duke.

Neither was supposed to be a puncher, and it turned out that way. There were no knock downs, but the real exciting moments of the contest came when they stood toe to toe and slugged it out. Frequently it was Gavilan who made Olson break off the exchange and grab.

Kid's Weight Surprises

Olson, strong at 159½ pounds, was an 11-5 favorite over Gavilan, who came in surprisingly heavy at 155 pounds. Perhaps the extra weight slowed down the Cuban Kid, but it certainly seemed to help him on the inside.

Always a slow starter, Olson found Gavilan also waiting in the first round. Nobody wanted to punch or make a break. Gavilan opened up in the second from long range, concentrating on his left hand. Again in the third Gavilan seemed to punch more solidly, hooking with his left and doubling up to both head and body.

A solid hook to the head shook Olson midway in the fourth, but Olson drove home the best punch that far when he scored with a solid right to the head at the bell. That seemed to be the turning point for a few rounds. Gavilan came out on his bike in the fifth, backing awaay.

Olson was taking charge in the sixth. When Gavilan took a right to the head he backed off with a strange look on his face. An Olson hook to the body thumped like a man hitting a bass drum. But it found Gavilan crouching and flurrying back at the bell.

Gavilan Throws Bolo

Gavilan was fighting flat-footed by the seventh, while Olson jabbed at long range in a do-nothing round. By the eighth Gavilan seemed to have found his second wind, throwing his first bolo right of the night although he did it almost reluctantly.

During a free exchange in the ninth, when Gavilan was scoring with good effect, Olson opened a slice near the Kid's right eye.

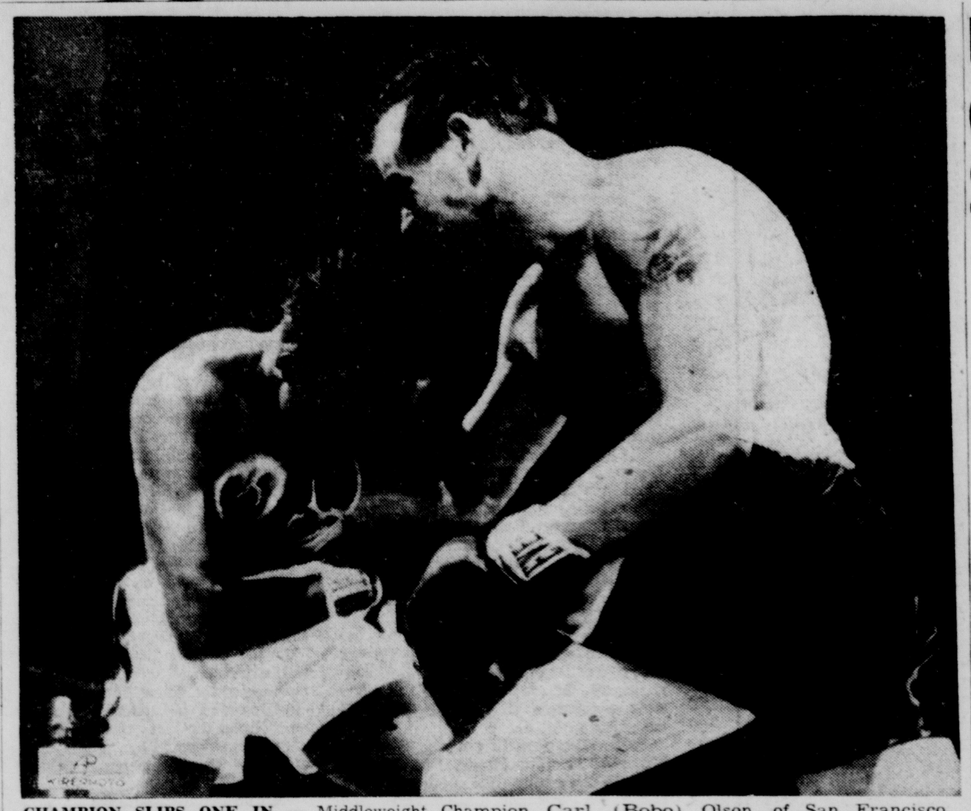

On the AP card, the tenth looks like the best of the night for Gavilan, although the cut opened again. The Kid was beating Olson at his own game with body punching, and forced the 160-pound champ to break off the attack.

That tenth round flurry must have taken its toll on the hawk from Camaguey. He was slow in the eleventh while Olson ran out of his corner to drive his chopping right to the head.

Olson had the best of a slow twelfth round and had Gavilan missing in the thirteenth and fourteenth. In the finale, Gavilan shot the works in a burst of action that brought the big crowd to its feet roaring until the final bell.

Writers Like Olson

A check of the boxing writers at ringside showed a large majority for Olson.

Golden Nugget Reaches Finals

Beats WOW Shufflers, To Meet Legion Team

Capt. Pat Frost's Golden Nugget team of Frostburg advanced to the playoff finals in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League by defeating the Cumberland Woodmen of the World by the margin of 21 points.

Jane Morgan was high scorer for Golden Nugget with 37 points while Henderson paced W.O.W. with 18.

Nine games were played by the teams and Golden Nugget held an advantage of 35 points.

The championship series of nine games between Golden Nugget and Frostburg American Legion is scheduled to get under way next Wednesday night.

A series of six games for third and fourth places will be staged by the W.O.W. and Hi Dee Club, of Cumberland.

Former Yale Gridder Dies

BLESSING, Tex., April 2 (AP) — William Walter (Pudge) Heffelfinger, Yale All-America football player of the 1880s, died at his home here today. He was 86.

Heffelfinger, once termed "football's greatest lineman," made his final public appearance last December, when he received the Football Hall of Fame award from the New York Touchdown Club.

Barrelville Team Will Drill Sunday

Raymond "Buck" Fiorita, who is managing the Barrelville Club of the Pen-Mar Basball League for the sixth consecutive season, has called a practice session for his squad on Sunday at 1:30 o'clock in Barrelville.

Fiorita announces that 17 players are now under contract.

Mike Miller's Wins

Mike Miller's, of Frostburg, scored a 2-1 decision over the Cumberland Woodmen of the World last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match at the W.O.W. Home.

Blocher led the Frostburg scorers with 24 points while Bill Gibson was high man for the Woodmen with 23.

Casey Stengel Expects Yanks To Win Again

Cerv, Skowron, Grim Praised By Manager

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 2 (AP) — Casey Stengel said today he expects his New York Yankees to win their sixth straight pennant despite their worst spring record during his regime as manager.

Casey held a press conference just before the club hit the barnstorming trail north against minor league opposition. In Florida the world champs salvaged only eight victories in 24 games.

Skirting charges of complacency hurled yesterday by co-owner Dan Topping, Casey singled out three rookies as the players who have pleased him the most this spring—first baseman Bill Skowron, outfielder Bob Cerv and pitcher Bob Grim.

Topping's blast yesterday was against the established stars of the club although he did not mention anybody by name.

Praises Cerv, Skowron

Stengel said Cerv and Skowron could be "our answer if the rest of those clubs think lefthanders can beat us all season."

Both are righthanded hitters. Skowron still is under contract to the Yanks' Kansas City farm club.

The manager also spoke with pride about Grim, an ex-marine who is signed to a Binghamton Eastern League contract. Grim, just out of service, has been the outstanding pitcher in camp.

Stengel said he wasn't ready to pick his first four starting pitchers but predicted double duty—starting and relieving—for Allie Reynolds, Johnny Sain and Tom Morgan. Reynolds has said he would much prefer one role or the other but not both.

Mantle Won't Start

The injured Mickey Mantle won't be used, Stengel said, until "I'm sure he can cover all the ground out in centerfield without hurting himself." There is no indication when Mantle will be ready. He is still recuperating from a winter operation on his leg.

The loss of second baseman Billy Martin to the Army has been the club's toughest blow this spring, Stengel said. Gerry Coleman, back from his second hitch in the Marines, was expected to step into Martin's job but the veteran has had trouble getting in shape.

The Yankees won't face major league opposition again until a week from today when they open a three game series with the Dodgers at Brooklyn.

Golf Shop To Open

Back home after spending four months as assistant winter pro at the Palm Beach (Fla.) Golf Club, Carroll Boggs, professional at the Cumberland Country Club, last night announced that the golf shop at the local course will open today.

Orioles Lose To Cubs, 8-6

Four Homers Mark Exhibition Contest

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 2 (AP)—Homers by Luis Marquez, Bill Serena and Ralph Kiner plus three unearned runs gave the Chicago Cubs an 8-6 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in an exhibition game hhere today.

The Cubs, trailing 3-0 going into the last of the third, scored six runs off starter Lou Kretlow and added two more in the fifth and sixth to insure the win despite a 3-run rally by the Birds in the top of the sixth.

In the big third inning, Marquez homered, scoring Joe Garagiola who had walked. Ernie Banks walked and stole second, scoring on Kiner's single to center to knot the score at 3-3. Hank Sauer lifted an easy fly to left field and went to third, Kiner scoring as the ball popped out of Sam Mele's glove. Serena blasted one out of the park scoring Sauer ahead of him to make it 6-3.

Wertz was the Orioles' big gun, homering with one on in the first inning for one of his three hits in three trips to the plate.

The game evened the series between the two teams at 6 games each.

Ursuline Wins Cage Tourney Second Season

Tops Red Trotters At Allegany, 51-26; Judy Minke Gets 34

Ursuline Academy walked off with its second straight Women's Rec Basketball Tournament championship last night by defeating the Red Trotters, 51 to 26, in the final game at Allegany High School.

Ursuline again used its superior height to good advantage and set up Judy Minke for 34 points as well as hawking the ball throughout.

The Red Trotters battled all the way but were unable to cope with the height advantage of Judy and the slick passwork of Sheila Kitzmiller and Mary Lou Dressman. Jean True and Donna Harris led the Red Trotters' attack with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Following the final whistle, Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department, presented the following awards:

Championship trophy to Coach Jeannette Leasure, of Ursuline.

All Tournament team: Jean True and Donna Harris, Red Trotters; Judy Minke and Jean Soethe, Ursuline; Elsie McKee and "Pete" Peterson, of the Wrecks.

Best sport, Sally Stewart, of the Red Trotters.

In the Co-Rec preliminary game, Ridgeley whipped Allegany Ballistics by the score of 42-23. The game, featuring boys and girls on each team, proved entertaining for the spectators and fun for the contestants. More games of this type will be tried next season. Lineups:

Wilson's Donates Pennant, Trophy To All-States League

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 2 — The All-States Baseball Association, through its secretary-treasurer, Frank Patrone, expressed thanks today to the Wilson Hardware Company of Cumberland for sending its representative, William "Bee" Orndorff, to its organizational meetings and for donations made to the circuit.

The Cumberland firm is supplying the baseballs for the league's all-star game July 5 and also is donating a pennant for the team that finishes in first place at the close of the regular season and a trophy for the team winning the playoffs.

Carrasquel Clouts Homer For Chicago

NEW ORLEANS, April 2 (AP) — Excellent pitching by ace Billy Pierce and a home run by shortstop Chico Carrasquel featured a 3-1 exhibition baseball victory by the Chicago White Sox over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Pierce gave up six scattered hits and only one run in seven innings. Harry Dorish finished up with neatness, allowing only one hit and no runs the last two innings.

The sox got a total of eight hits off Harvey Haddix, Stu Miller and Bob Tiefenauer. Minnie Minoso got three of the blows, two singles and a double.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 2 (AP) — Gene Conley, rookie righthander became the first Milwaukee pitcher to go the route as the Braves trounced the Dodgers 17-2 today.

A 23-game winner with Toledo last season, Conley allowed Brooklyn only five hits. Two were bunched in the first inning which saw Carl Furillo's single with the bases loaded account for the Dodger tallies.

Seeking World Series hero Carl Erskine for 11 hits in three innings and Joe Black for 10 in the next two frames, the Braves accumulated 24 safeties. Ed Mathews hit his fourth homer in three days while Jim Pendleton and Joe Adcock also belted for the circuit.

Ohio Wesleyan Chalks Up 9-7 Win Over Frostburg Teachers

McFarland Is Relief Star After Visitors Get Eight Runs Early

FROSTBURG, April 2 — Ohio Wesleyan College's baseball team wound up its four-day invasion of Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland with a 2-2 record by defeating Frostburg State Teachers College in the latter's opening game of the season here today by the score of 9-7.

The Battling Bishops actually sewed up the decision in the first two innings when they scored eight runs while John Clark was on the rubber for the Bobcats. Harry McFarland, Frostburg relief pitcher, who twirled the last seven frames turned in an outstanding performance by yielding only four hits and one run while he fired the third strike past a half dozen batsmen. The one run scored against McFarland was a homer by Hancher in the sixth inning.

A wind blown fly that fell safely in centerfield netted two runs that put the Bobcats in trouble in the very first frame. Before the side was retired four tallies had crossed the plate. Wesleyan scored four more runs in the second inning and added another in the sixth.

The teams committed 13 errors —seven being charged against the Ohioans and six against Frostburg.

Economy of Wesleyan and Bob Miller, Frostburg second sacker, led the stickers with three hits each.

One of today's fielding highlights was a double play engineered by Tommy Kelly, Bill and Bob Kirk. Kelly made a nifty over-the-shoulder catch near the fence in left field and fired the ball to Shortstop Bill Kirk who whipped the pellet to his brother Bob to cut down a runner going from first to second.

Wesleyan lost to Bridgewater, Va., split even with Potomac State and defeated Frostburg during its three-state junket in the past four days. It marked the first appearance of the Ohioans in this section.

Frostburg plays at Shepherd College next Friday.

Kansas Relay Team Hangs Up World Record

Medley Quartet Beats NYU Mark With 3:20.2

AUSTIN, Tex., April 2 (INS) — Kansas University, anchored brilliantly by Wes Santee, smashed the world record today in the sprint medley relay at the 27th annual Texas Relays in Austin.

The fabulous Jayhawk team was clocked in a time of 3:20.2, besting the record of 3:22.7 set by New York University in 1950. Anchorman Santee, who took the baton 15 yards back in third place on the 880 leg, breezed in 30 yards ahead with his usual "kick."

He was timed in an unofficial 1:48 minutes.

Kansas bettered the same world mark at last year's Texas Relays but the record was disputed because of allegedly faulty track markings. This time, relays officials were particularly careful about the track.

Santee was joined by Frank Cindrich, Ralph Moody and Dick Blair.

Southern Methodist, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Texas and Oklahoma A&M trailed the Kansans in that order.

Olson Decisions Gavilan, Retains Middleweight Title

Verdict Split In Blistering Chicago Fight

By JACK HAND

CHICAGO, April 2 (AP)—Tireless Bobo Olson saved his world middleweight title in a rousing battle with courageous welter champ Kid Gavilan tonight by winning the votes of the referee and one judge for a 15-round decision. The other judge scored this blistering "fight of the year" a dead-even struggle.

The near capacity crowd roared in delight as the Cuban Kid matched Olson in a toe to toe slugging bee through the final seconds of the stirring nationally-televised bout between two solid workmen.

Extra Pounds Tell Story

Blood streamed from Gavilan's slashed right eye from the ninth round on as extra pounds finally told the story of this battle of two champions.

Gavilan's bid for a double title was frustrated by the closest of margins in a bout marked by frequent savage exchanges.

Referee Bernard (Sonny) Weissman, working his first championship fight, called it for Olson by a margin of 147 points to 141. Judge Bill O'Connell had Olson on top 147-139, while Judge Ed Hintz scored 144 for each man. The AP card had Olson out front by the barest of margins, 142-141.

When the decision was announced, Olson stood poker-faced and calm in his corner, like a man who had just picked 10 bushels of apples in his orchard. The Kid looked weary.

After the decision was announced, the fighters posed for pictures in the center of the ring. Olson mustered a smile. The Kid congratulated him.

Lands "Sucker" Rights

Olson, a master of the feint, startled Gavilan by landing "sucker" right hand leads throughout the fight. Bobo lunges like a butcher working out on a side of beef, with a side-chopping motion.

From time to time, Gavilan's zooming punches to the inside would beat Olson at his own body-thumping game. But it was the presistent attack of Bobo which made Gavilan back-pedal in retreat that won the duke.

Neither was supposed to be a puncher, and it turned out that way. There were no knock downs, but the real exciting moments of the contest came when they stood toe to toe and slugged it out. Frequently it was Gavilan who made Olson break off the exchange and grab.

Kid's Weight Surprises

Olson, strong at 159½ pounds, was an 11-5 favorite over Gavilan, who came in surprisingly heavy at 155 pounds. Perhaps the extra weight slowed down the Cuban Kid, but it certainly seemed to help him on the inside.

Always a slow starter, Olson found Gavilan also waiting in the first round. Nobody wanted to punch or make a break. Gavilan opened up in the second from long range, concentrating on his left hand. Again in the third Gavilan seemed to punch more solidly, hooking with his left and doubling up to both head and body.

A solid hook to the head shook Olson midway in the fourth, but Olson drove home the best punch that far when he scored with a solid right to the head at the bell. That seemed to be the turning point for a few rounds. Gavilan came out on his bike in the fifth, backing awaay.

Olson was taking charge in the sixth. When Gavilan took a right to the head he backed off with a strange look on his face. An Olson hook to the body thumped like a man hitting a bass drum. But it found Gavilan crouching and flurrying back at the bell.

Gavilan Throws Bolo

Gavilan was fighting flat-footed by the seventh, while Olson jabbed at long range in a do-nothing round. By the eighth Gavilan seemed to have found his second wind, throwing his first bolo right of the night although he did it almost reluctantly.

During a free exchange in the ninth, when Gavilan was scoring with good effect, Olson opened a slice near the Kid's right eye.

On the AP card, the tenth looks like the best of the night for Gavilan, although the cut opened again. The Kid was beating Olson at his own game with body punching, and forced the 160-pound champ to break off the attack.

That tenth round flurry must have taken its toll on the hawk from Camaguey. He was slow in the eleventh while Olson ran out of his corner to drive his chopping right to the head.

Olson had the best of a slow twelfth round and had Gavilan missing in the thirteenth and fourteenth. In the finale, Gavilan shot the works in a burst of action that brought the big crowd to its feet roaring until the final bell.

Writers Like Olson

A check of the boxing writers at ringside showed a large majority for Olson.

Golden Nugget Reaches Finals

Beats WOW Shufflers, To Meet Legion Team

Capt. Pat Frost's Golden Nugget team of Frostburg advanced to the playoff finals in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League by defeating the Cumberland Woodmen of the World by the margin of 21 points.

Jane Morgan was high scorer for Golden Nugget with 37 points while Henderson paced W.O.W. with 18.

Nine games were played by the teams and Golden Nugget held an advantage of 35 points.

The championship series of nine games between Golden Nugget and Frostburg American Legion is scheduled to get under way next Wednesday night.

A series of six games for third and fourth places will be staged by the W.O.W. and Hi Dee Club, of Cumberland.

Former Yale Gridder Dies

BLESSING, Tex., April 2 (AP) — William Walter (Pudge) Heffelfinger, Yale All-America football player of the 1880s, died at his home here today. He was 86.

Heffelfinger, once termed "football's greatest lineman," made his final public appearance last December, when he received the Football Hall of Fame award from the New York Touchdown Club.

Barrelville Team Will Drill Sunday

Raymond "Buck" Fiorita, who is managing the Barrelville Club of the Pen-Mar Basball League for the sixth consecutive season, has called a practice session for his squad on Sunday at 1:30 o'clock in Barrelville.

Fiorita announces that 17 players are now under contract.

Mike Miller's Wins

Mike Miller's, of Frostburg, scored a 2-1 decision over the Cumberland Woodmen of the World last night in an Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match at the W.O.W. Home.

Blocher led the Frostburg scorers with 24 points while Bill Gibson was high man for the Woodmen with 23.

Casey Stengel Expects Yanks To Win Again

Cerv, Skowron, Grim Praised By Manager

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 2 (AP) — Casey Stengel said today he expects his New York Yankees to win their sixth straight pennant despite their worst spring record during his regime as manager.

Casey held a press conference just before the club hit the barnstorming trail north against minor league opposition. In Florida the world champs salvaged only eight victories in 24 games.

Skirting charges of complacency hurled yesterday by co-owner Dan Topping, Casey singled out three rookies as the players who have pleased him the most this spring —first baseman Bill Skowron, outfielder Bob Cerv and pitcher Bob Grim.

Topping's blast yesterday was against the established stars of the club although he did not mention anybody by name.

Praises Cery, Skowron

Stengel said Cerv and Skowron could be "our answer if the rest of those clubs think lefthanders can beat us all season."

Both are righthanded hitters. Skowron still is under contract to the Yanks' Kansas City farm club.

The manager also spoke with pride about Grim, an ex-marine who is signed to a Binghamton Eastern League contract. Grim, just out of service, has been the outstanding pitcher in camp.

Stengel said he wasn't ready to pick his first four starting pitchers but predicted double duty—starting and relieving—for Allie Reynolds, Johnny Sain and Tom Morgan. Reynolds has said he would much prefer one role or the other but not both.

Mantle Won't Start

The injured Mickey Mantle won't be used, Stengel said, until "I'm sure he can cover all the ground out in centerfield without hurting himself." There is no indication when Mantle will be ready. He is still recuperating from a winter operation on his leg.

The loss of second baseman Billy Martin to the Army has been the club's toughest blow this spring, Stengel said. Gerry Coleman, back from his second hitch in the Marines, was expected to step into Martin's job but the veteran has had trouble getting in shape.

The Yankees won't face major league opposition again until a week from today when they open a three game series with the Dodgers at Brooklyn.

Golf Shop To Open

Back home after spending four months as assistant winter pro at the Palm Beach (Fla.) Golf Club, Carroll Boggs, professional at the Cumberland Country Club, last night announced that the golf shop at the local course will open today.

Orioles Lose To Cubs, 8-6

Four Homers Mark Exhibition Contest

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 2 (AP)—Homers by Luis Marquez, Bill Serena and Ralph Kiner plus three unearned runs gave the Chicago Cubs an 8-6 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in an exhibition game hhere today.

The Cubs, trailing 3-0 going into the last of the third, scored six runs off starter Lou Kretlow and added two more in the fifth and sixth to insure the win despite a 3-run rally by the Birds in the top of the sixth.

In the big third inning, Marquez homered, scoring Joe Garagiola who had walked. Ernie Banks walked and stole second, scoring on Kiner's single to center to knot the score at 3-3. Hank Sauer lifted an easy fly to left field and went to third, Kiner scoring as the ball popped out of Sam Mele's glove. Serena blasted one out of the park scoring Sauer ahead of him to make it 6-3.

Wertz was the Orioles' big gun, homering with one on in the first inning for one of his three hits in three trips to the plate.

Owen Wallops Grand Slammer

Phillies Shut Out By Boston Sox, 8-0

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 2 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox jumped on Philadelphia Phillies' pitchers Curt Simmons and Steve Ridzik in the last three innings for all their runs to defeat the Phils for the third time this spring training season, 8-0.

The big hit of Boston's seven-hit attack was catcher Mickey Owen's grand-slam home run in the eighth inning with two out. Ridzik was pitching at the time.

Ursuline Wins Cage Tourney Second Season

Tops Red Trotters At Allegany, 51-26; Judy Minke Gets 34

Ursuline Academy walked off with its second straight Women's Rec Basketball Tournament championship last night by defeating the Red Trotters, 51 to 26, in the final game at Allegany High School.

Ursuline again used its superior height to good advantage and set up Judy Minke for 34 points as well as hawking the ball throughout.

The Red Trotters battled all the way but were unable to cope with the height advantage of Judy and the slick passwork of Sheila Kitzmiller and Mary Lou Dressman. Jean True and Donna Harris led the Red Trotters' attack with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Following the final whistle, Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department, presented the following awards:

Championship trophy to Coach Jeannette Leasure, of Ursuline.

All Tournament team: Jean True and Donna Harris, Red Trotters; Judy Minke and Jean Soethe, Ursuline; Elsie McKee and "Pete" Peterson, of the Wrecks.

Best sport, Sally Stewart, of the Red Trotters.

In the Co-Rec preliminary game, Ridgeley whipped Allegany Ballistics by the score of 42-23. The game, featuring boys and girls on each team, proved entertaining for the spectators and fun for the contestants. More games of this type will be tried next season. Lineups:

Wilson's Donates Pennant, Trophy To All-States League

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 2 — The All-States Baseball Association, through its secretary-treasurer, Frank Patrone, expressed thanks today to the Wilson Hardware Company of Cumberland for sending its representative, William "Bee" Orndorff, to its organizational meetings and for donations made to the circuit.

The Cumberland firm is supplying the baseballs for the league's all-star game July 5 and also is donating a pennant for the team that finishes in first place at the close of the regular season and a trophy for the team winning the playoffs.

Pierce Beats St. Louis, 3-1

Carrasquel Clouts Homer For Chicago

NEW ORLEANS, April 2 (AP) — Excellent pitching by ace Billy Pierce and a home run by shortstop Chico Carrasquel featured a 3-1 exhibition baseball victory by the Chicago White Sox over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Pierce gave up six scattered hits and only one run in seven innings. Harry Dorish finished up with neatness, allowing only one hit and no runs the last two innings.

The sox got a total of eight hits off Harvey Haddix, Stu Miller and Bob Tiefenauer. Minnie Minoso got three of the blows, two singles and a double.

Erskine, Black Socked, Conley Hurls 5-Hitter

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 2 (AP) — Gene Conley, rookie righthander became the first Milwaukee pitcher to go the route as the Braves trounced the Dodgers 17-2 today.

A 23-game winner with Toledo last season, Conley allowed Brooklyn only five hits. Two were bunched in the first inning which saw Carl Furillo's single with the bases loaded account for the Dodger tallies.

Seeking World Series hero Carl Erskine for 11 hits in three innings and Joe Black for 10 in the next two frames, the Braves accumulated 24 safeties. Ed Mathews hit his fourth homer in three days while Jim Pendleton and Joe Adcock also belted for the circuit.

Singles In Eleventh To Sink Redlegs, 7-6

GREENWOOD, S. C., April 2 (AP) —Mickey Vernon singled in the winning run in the 11th inning today to give the Washington Senators a 7-6 edge over the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition baseball contest.

The Reds had gone ahead 6-4 in the top of the 11th, but Red rookie righthander Willie Powell went wild, issuing three singles, two walks and three runs in the fatal frame.

Washington also overcame a two-run deficit in the ninth when Eddie Yost smashed a homer off Jack Crimian with one aboard.

Jim Greengrass and Wally Post hit home runs for the Reds.

Ohio Wesleyan Chalks Up 9-7 Win Over Frostburg Teachers

McFarland Is Relief Star After Visitors Get Eight Runs Early

FROSTBURG, April 2 — Ohio Wesleyan College's baseball team wound up its four-day invasion of Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland with a 2-2 record by defeating Frostburg State Teachers College in the latter's opening game of the season here today by the score of 9-7.

The Battling Bishops actually sewed up the decision in the first two innings when they scored eight runs while John Clark was on the rubber for the Bobcats. Harry McFarland, Frostburg relief pitcher, who twirled the last seven frames turned in an outstanding performance by yielding only four hits and one run while he fired the third strike past a half dozen batsmen. The one run scored against McFarland was a homer by Hancher in the sixth inning.

A wind blown fly that fell safely in centerfield netted two runs that put the Bobcats in trouble in the very first frame. Before the side was retired four tallies had crossed the plate. Wesleyan scored four more runs in the second inning and added another in the sixth.

The teams committed 13 errors —seven being charged against the Ohioans and six against Frostburg.

Economy of Wesleyan and Bob Miller, Frostburg second sacker, led the stickers with three hits each.

One of today's fielding highlights was a double play engineered by Tommy Kelly, Bill and Bob Kirk. Kelly made a nifty over-the-shoulder catch near the fence in left field and fired the ball to Shortstop Bill Kirk who whipped the pellet to his brother Bob to cut down a runner going from first to second.

Wesleyan lost to Bridgewater, Va., split even with Potomac State and defeated Frostburg during its three-state junket in the past four days. It marked the first appearance of the Ohioans in this section.

Frostburg plays at Shepherd College next Friday.

Medley Quartet Beats NYU Mark With 3:20.2

AUSTIN, Tex., April 2 (INS) — Kansas University, anchored brilliantly by Wes Santee, smashed the world record today in the sprint medley relay at the 27th annual Texas Relays in Austin.

The fabulous Jayhawk team was clocked in a time of 3:20.2, besting the record of 3:22.7 set by New York University in 1950. Anchorman Santee, who took the baton 15 yards back in third place on the 880 leg, breezed in 30 yards ahead with his usual "kick."

He was timed in an unofficial 1:48 minutes.

Kansas bettered the same world mark at last year's Texas Relays but the record was disputed because of allegedly faulty track markings. This time, relays officials were particularly careful about the track.

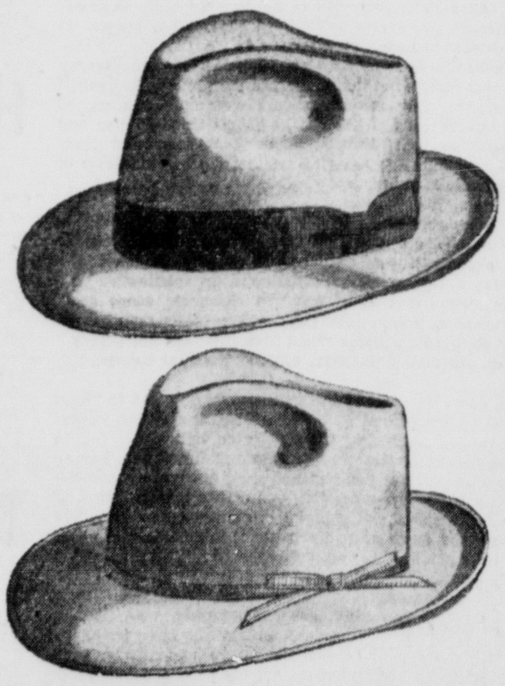

Santee was joined by Frank Cindrich, Ralph Moody and Dick Blair.

Southern Methodist, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Texas and Oklahoma A&M trailed the Kansans in that order.

K. Of C. 15th Sportsmanship Award Dinner Set For Sunday

Coach Moore Of Duquesne Will Speak

Casey Quint Reunion Is Highlight; Eight Nominated For Award

A reunion of players who performed for the Cumberland Caseys basketball teams from 1927 through 1934 will highlight the fifteenth annual Sportsmanship Award Dinner of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, Sunday at 6 p.m. at the K. of C. Home.

A majority of the cagers who played during those eight seasons and won 140 and lost 57 games against the country's leading road teams are expected to be here for the event, according to William V. "Bill" Keegan, grand knight of the local council, who was a member of the local aggregation in those days.

"Dudey" Moore Is Speaker

The principal guest speaker will be Donald "Dudey" Moore, head coach of the Duquesne University quint, whose "Iron Dukes" went to the finals of the recent National Invitation Tourney at Madison Square Garden and were defeated by Holy Cross. Moore's Duquesne teams have won 128 and lost 37 over six seasons. "Dudey" played three years at Duquesne under Coach Charles "Chick" Davies and also was player-coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates for five seasons. The current Duquesne mentor was named "Coach of the Year" by the United Press Coaches Board in 1952 and the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association. Moore again was selected 1954 "Coach of the Year" by the United Press and earned the Havey Boyle Memorial Award for being Pittsburgh's outstanding sports figure.

Other speakers on the program will include Robert "Red" Brown, coach of West Virginia University varsity basketball teams; Somerville Nicholson, former coach of Allegany High School and Central YMCA quints; Herbert Armstrong, business manager of the Baltimore Orioles, who refereed football games here in the days of the Cumberland Bulldogs, and Brother Gregory Mutien, of Orange, N. J., former director of athletics at LaSalle High School.

Remarks will be made by four high school coaches, namely, Walter L. Bowers, Allegany; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; Norman F. Geatz, Jr., LaSalle, and Chester Payne, Ridgeley.

Rev. John Sinnott Martin, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Baltimore, will be the toastmaster.

Rev. Marius Elsener, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church and chaplain of the local K. of C. council, will pronounce the invocation and benediction.

Eight Boys Nominated

Six seniors and two juniors from four Greater Cumberland High Schools have been nominated for the annual award, a gold wrist watch. The runners-up will receive miniature gold basketballs.

The seniors nominated are Dick Rank and Dave Steele, Allegany High; Denny Shuck and Bobby Christ, LaSalle High, and Bob Frant and Gene Weber, Fort Hill. Frederick "Fritz" Showers and Eddie Powelson, of Ridgeley High, are the juniors named.

The gold watch will be presented to the winner by Coach Moore while the gold basketballs will be distributed by Coach Brown.

The K. of C. Sportsmanship Award program is dedicated to the memory of Francis J. "Jute" McMullen and Jack Stakem, former Casey players who have died.

Past Award Winners

Past winners of the award, instituted in 1940, are Thomas Mont, James Radcliffe, John Vernall and Ronnie Sisk, of Allegany; Francis Shaffer, Bobby Stakem, Edward Gunning, Douglas Connolly and Marty Mullaney, LaSalle; Paul Whitford, Donald Whiteman and Milford Dean, Fort Hill; William Brehany and Paul Lindsay, Ridgeley.

Granny Hamner, shortstop of the Philadelphia Phillies, has a brother, Wes, who formerly played with the Phils and St. Louis Browns.

Blaine Earon of the Detroit Lions led the National Football League in fumble recoveries during the 1952 season. Earon, a defensive end, pounced on five enemy fumbles.

REMEMBER THIS CASEY TEAM? — When the K. of C. Sportsmanship Award Dinner is held tomorrow night, many of the old Casey basketball players will attend. The group pictured above was one of the early Casey quints that won the City League championship in 1928. The Caseys represented Cumberland for eight consecutive years, 1927 to 1934, and played some of the best road clubs in the country. The above squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—Leo Barley and Francis Coyle. SECOND ROW—Cletus "Vic" May, John Minke, Bill Keegan, Frank McMullen and Joe Neubeiser. THIRD ROW—Coach Art Slocum, Joe Dorsey, Jim Kelly, Tom Mullaney and Manager W. Arnold "Doc" Gunther. Frank McMullen died in 1940. The annual award is dedicated to the memory of McMullen and Jack Stakem who died in 1950.

Clayton Is Winner By TKO In Australia

MELBOURNE, April 2 (AP)—Welterweight Marshall Clayton, 143¼, Washington, D. C., won on a sixth round technical knockout tonight over Augustino Argote, 142¼, when the Spaniard was unable to continue because of an injured forearm. The Melbourne Stadium bout had been scheduled for 12 rounds.

Argote suffered the injury in the very first round when he blocked a powerful punch with his right forearm. From then on he was in trouble as he could barely use his right.

Detroit Wins, 12-5

TAMPA, Fla., April 2 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers roughed up Saul Rogovin, a former teammate, for the third time this spring today and coasted to a 12-5 victory over the Cincinnati Red Legs "B" team.

In their biggest batting splurge, the Tigers hammered out 19 hits—three of them home runs by Don Lund, Frank House and Al Kaline. They pounded Rogovin for 13 hits in five innings, running up a 9-4 lead.

Giants Beat Indians, 4-0

Williams Hits 3-Run Homer Off Bob Lemon

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 2 (AP) — A three-run homer by second baseman Davey Williams in the fifth inning provided the big punch as the New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-0 today.

Williams homered off Bob Lemon, the Indians' 21-game winner. The Giants already were ahead 1-0 at the time, having scored in the second inning on a triple by Willie Mays and a single by Whitey Lockman.

Combining to hurl the shutout for the Giants were a pair of lefthanders, Johnny Antonelli and John (Windy) McCall.

Nick Wall Injured At Jamaica Track

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Nick Wall, 47, one of the oldest jockeys still riding regularly, was knocked unconscious today when he was thrown from his mount at the start of the second race today at Jamaica.

Wall, a native of Boston, was unseated when Duke Fanelli stumbled coming out of the gate. The rider fell heavily on his head and shoulders, and was taken to Physicians' Hospital for x-rays of a possible spine injury.

Duke Fanelli was a strong second choice to Thymus, who won the six furlongs race and paid $6.30 for $2.

Braves Will Not Make Tax Refunds

MILWAUKEE, April 2 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves announced today they will not make tax refunds on the more than 1,000,000 tickets already sold for the 1954 baseball season.

"It would be a physical impossibility to make refunds," said Joseph Cairnes, executive vice-president of the club. "Our advance sale has been so heavy that to attempt to return the 10 per cent tax refund would be overwhelming."

A federal excise tax cut from 20 to 10 per cent, which became effective yesterday, provides that a baseball club may make refunds if it desires but if not the money must go to the federal government.

Two Italian Women Die In Auto Race

IMPERIA, Italy, April 2 (AP)—Two Italian women entrants in the "Pearl of San Remo" Women's Auto Rally were killed near here today on the last lap of the race.

Their car, an Alfa Romeo 1900, missed a curve, plunged into a ravine and burned.

The women were Mrs. Guiliana Pini, 41, driver, and Mrs. Margherita Santaguzzi, 52, passenger. Both were from Milan.

Kyle's Concord College Tossers Play In Keyser

Potomac State Host In Twin Bill Today

Bob Kyle, who played football at West Virginia University in the days of Joe Stydahar, and later coached at Romney and Keyser high schools, comes back to Keyser today in the role of baseball coach.

Bob sends his Concord College Lions, of Athens, W. Va., into action against Coach John Maiden's Potomac State College tossers in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference doubleheader at Stayman Field at 1 o'clock.

Kyle, West Virginia grad of 1936, who coached at Romney and then Keyser, about 12 years ago, is director of intramural athletics at the Athens school as well as coach of the baseball team.

Today's games mark Potomac's 1954 debut in WVIC competition. The four other games are with Shepherd and Davis & Elkins.

Potomac State opened its season Wednesday with a 9-1 decision over Ohio Wesleyan. The Buckeye Staters, however, squared the series by taking Thursday's contest, 7-8.

Unknowns Lead At Greensboro

Rosburg And Horvath Post First Round 67s

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 2 (AP) — While the gallery trooped after Sam Snead, who shot an opening round 71 in his bid to win the $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament for a fifth time, Bob Rosburg of Chicago and Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Canada, slipped in almost unnoticed with 67s today to tie for first place.

Rosburg, 27, who is in his second year as a pro, toured the muddy 6,723-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course in 34-33, four under par of 35-36. Thirty-year-old Horvath, after sliding over par in the second and third holes to turn in 36, burned it up with an incoming 31.

They were one stroke ahead of husky Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., winner of the 1952 National Open title, who had 33-35.

In fourth place with 34-36—70 was Milon Marusic, Herkimer, N.Y.

Joining Snead at par 71 was Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

Locked at 77 were such established stars as Stewart, George Fazio, Pine Valley, N.J.; John Palmer, Charlotte, N.C.; Porky Oliver, Lemont, Ill.; and Fred Wampler, Indianapolis.

K. Of C. 15th Sportsmanship Award Dinner Set For Sunday

Coach Moore Of Duquesne Will Speak

Casey Quint Reunion Is Highlight; Eight Nominated For Award

A reunion of players who performed for the Cumberland Caseys basketball teams from 1927 through 1934 will highlight the fifteenth annual Sportsmanship Award Dinner of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, Sunday at 6 p.m. at the K. of C. Home.

A majority of the cagers who played during those eight seasons and won 140 and lost 57 games against the country's leading road teams are expected to be here for the event, according to William V. "Bill" Keegan, grand knight of the local council, who was a member of the local aggregation in those days.

"Dudey" Moore Is Speaker

The principal guest speaker will be Donald "Dudey" Moore, head coach of the Duquesne University quint, whose "Iron Dukes" went to the finals of the recent National Invitation Tourney at Madison Square Garden and were defeated by Holy Cross. Moore's Duquesne teams have won 128 and lost 37 over six seasons. "Dudey" played three years at Duquesne under Coach Charles "Chick" Davies and also was player-coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates for five seasons. The current Duquesne mentor was named "Coach of the Year" by the United Press Coaches Board in 1952 and the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association. Moore again was selected 1954 "Coach of the Year" by the United Press and earned the Havey Boyle Memorial Award for being Pittsburgh's outstanding sports figure.

"DUDEY" MOORE

Other speakers on the program will include Robert "Red" Brown, coach of West Virginia University varsity basketball teams; Somerville Nicholson, former coach of Allegany High School and Central YMCA quints; Herbert Armstrong, business manager of the Baltimore Orioles, who refereed football games here in the days of the Cumberland Bulldogs, and Brother Gregory Mutien, of Orange, N. J., former director of athletics at LaSalle High School.

Remarks will be made by four high school coaches, namely, Walter L. Bowers, Allegany; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; Norman F. Geatz, Jr., LaSalle, and Chester Payne, Ridgeley.

Rev. John Sinnott Martin, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church, Baltimore, will be the toastmaster.

Rev. Marius Elsener, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church and chaplain of the local K. of C. council, will pronounce the invocation and benediction.

Eight Boys Nominated

Six seniors and two juniors from four Greater Cumberland High Schools have been nominated for the annual award, a gold wrist watch. The runners-up will receive miniature gold basketballs.

The seniors nominated are Dick Rank and Dave Steele, Allegany High; Denny Shuck and Bobby Christ, LaSalle High, and Bob Frant and Gene Weber, Fort Hill. Frederick "Fritz" Showers and Eddie Powelson, of Ridgeley High, are the juniors named.

The gold watch will be presented to the winner by Coach Moore while the gold basketballs will be distributed by Coach Brown.

The K. of C. Sportsmanship Award program is dedicated to the memory of Francis J. "Jute" McMullen and Jack Stakem, former Casey players who have died.

Past Award Winners

Past winners of the award, instituted in 1940, are Thomas Mont, James Radcliffe, John Vernall and Ronnie Sisk, of Allegany; Francis Shaffer, Bobby Stakem, Edward Gunning, Douglas Connolly and Marty Mullaney, LaSalle; Paul Whitford, Donald Whiteman and Milford Dean, Fort Hill; William Brehany and Paul Lindsay, Ridgeley.

Granny Hamner, shortstop of the Philadelphia Phillies, has a brother, Wes, who formerly played with the Phils and St. Louis Browns.

Blaine Earon of the Detroit Lions led the National Football League in fumble recoveries during the 1952 season. Earon, a defensive end, pounced on five enemy fumbles.

REMEMBER THIS CASEY TEAM? — When the K. of C. Sportsmanship Award Dinner is held tomorrow night, many of the old Casey basketball players will attend. The group pictured above was one of the early Casey quints that won the City League championship in 1928. The Caseys represented Cumberland for eight consecutive years, 1927 to 1934, and played some of the best road clubs in the country. The above squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—Leo Barley and Francis Coyle. SECOND ROW—Cletus "Vic" May, John Minke, Bill Keegan, Frank McMullen and Joe Neubeiser. THIRD ROW—Coach Art Slocum, Joe Dorsey, Jim Kelly, Tom Mullaney and Manager W. Arnold "Doc" Gunther. Frank McMullen died in 1940. The annual award is dedicated to the memory of McMullen and Jack Stakem who died in 1950.

Clayton Is Winner By TKO In Australia

MELBOURNE, April 2 (AP)—Welterweight Marshall Clayton, 143¼, Washington, D. C., won on a sixth round technical knockout tonight over Augustino Argote, 142¼, when the Spaniard was unable to continue because of an injured forearm. The Melbourne Stadium bout had been scheduled for 12 rounds.

Argote suffered the injury in the very first round when he blocked a powerful punch with his right forearm. From then on he was in trouble as he could barely use his right.

Detroit Wins, 12-5

TAMPA, Fla., April 2 (AP) — The Detroit Tigers roughed up Saul Rogovin, a former teammate, for the third time this spring today and coasted to a 12-5 victory over the Cincinnati Red Legs "B" team.

In their biggest batting splurge, the Tigers hammered out 19 hits—three of them home runs by Don Lund, Frank House and Al Kaline. They pounded Rogovin for 13 hits in five innings, running up a 9-4 lead.

Kyle's Concord College Tossers Play In Keyser

Potomac State Host In Twin Bill Today

Bob Kyle, who played football at West Virginia University in the days of Joe Stydahar, and later coached at Romney and Keyser high schools, comes back to Keyser today in the role of baseball coach.

Bob sends his Concord College Lions, of Athens, W. Va., into action against Coach John Maiden's Potomac State College tossers in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference doubleheader at Stayman Field at 1 o'clock.

Kyle, West Virginia grad of 1936, who coached at Romney and then Keyser, about 12 years ago, is director of intramural athletics at the Athens school as well as coach of the baseball team.

Today's games mark Potomac's 1954 debut in WVIC competition. The four other games are with Shepherd and Davis & Elkins.

Potomac State opened its season Wednesday with a 9-1 decision over Chio Wesleyan. The Buckeye Staters, however, squared the series by taking Thursday's contest, 7-8.

Braves Will Not Make Tax Refunds

MILWAUKEE, April 2 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves announced today they will not make tax refunds on the more than 1,000,000 tickets already sold for the 1954 baseball season.

"It would be a physical impossibility to make refunds," said Joseph Cairnes, executive vice-president of the club. "Our advance sale has been so heavy that to attempt to return the 10 per cent tax refund would be overwhelming."

A federal excise tax cut from 20 to 10 per cent, which became effective yesterday, provides that a baseball club may make refunds if it desires but if not the money must go to the federal government.

Two Italian Women Die In Auto Race

IMPERIA, Italy, April 2 (AP)—Two Italian women entrants in the "Pearl of San Remo" Women's Auto Rally were killed near here today on the last lap of the race.

Their car, an Alfa Romeo 1900, missed a curve, plunged into a ravine and burned.

Giants Beat Indians, 4-0

Williams Hits 3-Run Homer Off Bob Lemon

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 2 (AP) — A three-run homer by second baseman Davey Williams in the fifth inning provided the big punch as the New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-0 today.

Williams homered off Bob Lemon, the Indians' 21-game winner. The Giants already were ahead 1-0 at the time, having scored in the second inning on a triple by Willie Mays and a single by Whitey Lockman.

Nick Wall Injured At Jamaica Track

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Nick Wall, 47, one of the oldest jockeys still riding regularly, was knocked unconscious today when he was thrown from his mount at the start of the second race today at Jamaica.

Wall, a native of Boston, was unseated when Duke Fanelli stumbled coming out of the gate. The rider fell heavily on his head and shoulders, and was taken to Physicians' Hospital for x-rays of a possible spine injury.

Duke Fanelli was a strong second choice to Thymus, who won the six furlongs race and paid $6.30 for $2.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 2 (INS)—The blonde, curvaceous Sheree North, who rated so much ballyhoo when 20th Century-Fox signed her, makes her first picture for Columbia!

Jerry Wald put in a bid for her to play a dumb blonde in Judy Holliday's "Phfffft." However, before Sheree was loaned out, the bosses at 20th made sure the script was okay for her.

There's nothing ready now for Sheree at 20th, with Marilyn Monroe going into "No Business Like Show Business." It's not likely they'll put Sheree in the same picture, and I'm also sure Sheree won't go into "Pink Tights," because the studio still hopes that Marilyn will make this picture.

Judy Holliday, who has been detained in New York because of the serious illness of her small son, gets here next week.

Only a brief few weeks ago George Raft was very unhappy. He wasn't getting the kind of jobs he felt were right for him and his best girl had given him a pretty raw deal. Everything is changed now.

George, who brought out many of the top producers to the dinner given him by the Friars (and it was a very sentimental, warm affair) is coming back to pictures with a very good role. He plays one of the very important parts in "Rogue Cop" with Robert Taylor, Janet Leigh and Mona Freeman.

When Robert Mitchum gets back from Cannes, where he and Dorothy (Mrs. M.) are attending the Film Festival, he'll go into a huddle with Director George Sherman.

They're working out a package deal with Romer Grey, son of the late Zane Grey, for the screen rights to "30,000 on the Hoof," one of the last novels written by Grey.

Young Grey is holding out for an RKO release. So many of Zane Grey's novels were filmed in the early movies. His description of the "Purple Sage" always lingers in my memory.

The psychiatrists claim that when women are unhappy, one release is to buy hats. If this theory also extends to a clothes buying spree, then Shelley Winters isn't an unhappy gal.

Shelley, whose clothes in Hollywood were subject to criticism, is rapidly becoming one of the best dressed women in Rome — and she's buying lots and lots of dresses.

She says the reason for her clothes spree is that she gets half her salary in lira and she might as well spend it on finery.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The little note Lana Turner handed Steve Crane at the Luau when she and Lex Barker dined there, was from Steve and Lana's little daughter, Cheryl, saying she was sorry she had a cold and couldn't see her daddy.

What goes with Constance Smith? She showed up at Ciro's with no shoes, and an old Japanese coat thrown over a pair of slacks. When the maitre d' refused to let her on the dance floor she had a few thousand words to say to him—and to the photographers.

Frank Sinatra had five girls out to dinner at La Rue—all of them friends of his daughter, 13-year-old Nancy. Frankie gave the dinner following Nancy's confirmation at the Good Shepherd Church.

Dan Dailey's been taking Peggy Lee home from Ciro's practically every night. The other night they went to Bob Dalton's and stayed talking until 4 in the morning.

The pretty girl having dinner with Jeff Chandler at the Tallyho was Barbara Lehman.

Eve Arden and Brooks West move into their new ranch home which will be wonderful for the expected baby and the three adopted children.

Andrea King becomes a citizen of the United States. Although she was born in Paris she thought her marriage to an American automatically made her an American citizen. But when she applied for a passport to go to Tahiti she found she wasn't a citizen.

I am invited to a shower for Suzan Ball, being given by Barbara Thompson on April 9. I hope I can go.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Correct speech is an element of your charm that is worth occasional study.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The word "slouchy" is one usually descriptive of posture. Do you agree that it can equally well be applied to speech?

Slouchy speech may be the over-use of slang words or phrases. It may be over-dependence upon vague adjectives like "wonderful" and "terrific" and "divine."

To converse in cliches is a manner of slouching. So is the wrong use of verbs.

It is easy enough to catch yourself if you indulge in slouchy speech of types one, two and three. The fourth type, the verb slouch, isn't quite so simple to conquer.

One becomes so accustomed to saying "was" or "were" with certain singular or collective nouns, for example, that the possibility of the verb's being incorrectly used speech, you know, is the correctness of your speech. So it behooves you to recognize the rights and the wrongs of this little verb quiz. If you score ten, nice going! If you don't—watch that slouch!

1. Neither Betty nor Susan (have, has) heard from her.

2. Corned beef and cabbage (are, is) the specialty of this restaurant.

3. If I (was, were) you, I should try to attend that meeting.

4. There (is, are) several new fabrics being shown this season.

5. Only one of the dresses (has, have) a jacket.

6. The package must (of, have) arrived this morning.

7. She (don't, doesn't) seem to mind being late for the opening.

8. Available data for these subjects (is, are) varied.

9. I (will, shall) keep my promise.

10. You (was, were) the last to leave.

An easy quiz? I hope you found it so. Now check yourself on the answers:

Quiz Key

1. has; 2. is; 3. were; 4. are; 5 has; 6. have; 7. doesn't; 8. are; 9. will; 10. were.

To correct slouchy speech habits, check your use of words and phrases against similar usage in the books and newspapers you read, refer to a dictionary, or review the book on grammar that you used in school.

Word study can be interesting. And it is worth your time to bone up now and then on correct speech.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Correct speech is an element of your charm that is worth occasional study.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The word "slouchy" is one usually descriptive of posture. Do you agree that it can equally well be applied to speech?

Slouchy speech may be the over-use of slang words or phrases. It may be over-dependence upon vague adjectives like "wonderful" and "terrific" and "divine."

To converse in cliches is a manner of slouching. So is the wrong use of verbs.

It is easy enough to catch yourself if you indulge in slouchy speech of types one, two and three. The fourth type, the verb slouch, isn't quite so simple to conquer.

One becomes so accustomed to saying "was" or "were" with certain singular or collective nouns, for example, that the possibility of the verb's being incorrectly used seldom enters the mind.

Part of the charm of your speech, you know, is the correctness of your speech. So it behooves you to recognize the rights and the wrongs of this little verb quiz. If you score ten, nice going! If you don't—watch that slouch!

1. Neither Betty nor Susan (have, has) heard from her.
2. Corned beef and cabbage (are, is) the specialty of this restaurant.
3. If I (was, were) you, I should try to attend that meeting.
4. There (is, are) several new fabrics being shown this season.
5. Only one of the dresses (has, have) a jacket.
6. The package must (of, have) arrived this morning.
7. She (don't, doesn't) seem to mind being late for the opening.
8. Available data for these subjects (is, are) varied.
9. I (will, shall) keep my promise.
10. You (was, were) the last to leave.

An easy quiz? I hope you found it so. Now check yourself on the answers:

Quiz Key

1. has; 2. is; 3. were; 4. are; 5. has; 6. have; 7. doesn't; 8. are; 9. will; 10. were.

To correct slouchy speech habits, check your use of words and phrases against similar usage in the books and newspapers you read, refer to a dictionary, or review the book on grammar that you used in school.

Word study can be interesting. And it is worth your time to bone up now and then on correct speech.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as toneleSSness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Radio And Television

by John Crosby

The Gore Didn't Show

There has to be a first time for everything and thank heavens this one is over. The first fight on color television excited a lot of original speculation among my saloon acquaintances. Would the blood show? Would it be the right color? Would millions of housewives swoon? Or wouldn't they? And so forth.

John Crosby

Well, the great event — the Gustav Scholz-Al Andrews fight in Madison Square Garden—has come and gone and the returns are in. The blood — and my ringside friends tell me there was quite a lot of it—didn't show at all. In fact, to face the matter squarely, there seems to be about as much reason for broadcasting fights in color as there would be to showing a horse race in 3-D. Sure, you could see the flesh tints (graveyard gray) and you could see the gold trunks and the blue shirt on the referee. So what?

For one thing, the camera was tucked up under the mezzanine about 100 feet from the ring, and these color cameras do not bring in distant objects as black and white cameras do. But, as I remarked earlier, who cares? Conceivably, the art of color television will develop to the point where every drop of blood, every bruise, will clearly show up in every living room in America. But I hope not. I'd just as soon these things remained reasonably obscure.

I hate to sound like a sissy, but I found "American Inventory" on Sunday, which was also done in color, infinitely more exciting. It was a trip through the New York Botanical Gardens. (Yes, flowers. And I found them a lot more stimulating than the Scholz-Andrews fight. You wanna make something of it?) The flowers—white, pink, purple, yellow—were breathtakingly beautiful in color and looked like nothing at all in black and white.

I'm still waiting to see my first baseball game in color. I recall how, after watching baseball games on TV for years, I went to the Polo Grounds. I was terribly surprised to find that grass was green and not, as I'd suspected, dark gray. You don't see much grass in New York so how are we to know?

On "Studio One" the other night, there was a drama called "Paul's Apartment" which was about as violent and carnal as television ever gets. Eva Gabor, the noted author, played the part of a murderous trollop with what I consider chilling authority.

Miss Gabor played a doxie who uses her incomparable physical charms as blatantly as possible to gain her ends, which seemed hardly worth all the trouble. Toting up the score at the end, I discovered she was responsible for two murders, had broken two hearts and generally comported herself with a refreshing viciousness which had to be seen to be believed.

And, when at the end, she snarled at her husband: "You will never forget me! Never!", I believe womanhood, as a respectable institution, was set back about forty-five years.

"Paul's Apartment," incidentally, was a darned interesting, taut, and original melodrama and I thoroughly enjoyed it, Gabor and all.

Charles Collingwood has been putting a few pounds on his frame and his suits are getting a little tight. But his tailor is in Washington and he's in New York. The other day he wrote his tailor to take a look at him on CBS' "Morning Show." A cooperative cameraman moved in close and while his tailor, Robert Stein, watched in Washington, the camera showed him where the suit needed altering—here, here and maybe there.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

There has to be a first time for everything and thank heavens this one is over. The first fight on color television excited a lot of original speculation among my saloon acquaintances. Would the blood show? Would it be the right color? Would millions of housewives swoon? Or wouldn't they? And so forth.

John Crosby

Well, the great event — the Gustav Scholz-Al Andrews fight in Madison Square Garden—has come and gone and the returns are in. The blood — and my ringside friends tell me there was quite a lot of it—didn't show at all. In fact, to face the matter squarely, there seems to be about as much reason for broadcasting fights in color as there would be to showing a horse race in 3-D. Sure, you could see the flesh tints (graveyard gray) and you could see the gold trunks and the blue shirt on the referee. So what?

For one thing, the camera was tucked up under the mezzanine about 100 feet from the ring, and these color cameras do not bring in distant objects as black and white cameras do. But, as I remarked earlier, who cares? Conceivably, the art of color television will develop to the point where every drop of blood, every bruise, will clearly show up in every living room in America. But I hope not. I'd just as soon these things remained reasonably obscure.

I hate to sound like a sissy, but I found "American Inventory" on Sunday, which was also done in color, infinitely more exciting. It was a trip through the New York Botanical Gardens. (Yes, flowers. And I found them a lot more stimulating than the Scholz-Andrews fight. You wanna make something of it?) The flowers—white, pink, purple, yellow—were breathtakingly beautiful in color and looked like nothing at all in black and white.

I'm still waiting to see my first baseball game in color. I recall how, after watching baseball games on TV for years, I went to the Polo Grounds. I was terribly surprised to find that grass was green and not, as I'd suspected, dark gray. You don't see much grass in New York so how are we to know?

On "Studio One" the other night, there was a drama called "Paul's Apartment" which was about as violent and carnal as television ever gets. Eva Gabor, the noted author, played the part of a murderous trollop with what I consider chilling authority.

Miss Gabor played a doxie who uses her incomparable physical charms as blatantly as possible to gain her ends, which seemed hardly worth all the trouble. Toting up the score at the end, I discovered she was responsible for two murders, had broken two hearts and generally comported herself with a refreshing viciousness which had to be seen to be believed.

And, when at the end, she snarled at her husband: "You will never forget me! Never!", I believe womanhood, as a respectable institution, was set back about forty-five years.

"Paul's Apartment," incidentally, was a darned interesting, taut, and original melodrama and I thoroughly enjoyed it, Gabor and all.

Charles Collingwood has been putting a few pounds on his frame and his suits are getting a little tight. But his tailor is in Washington and he's in New York. The other day he wrote his tailor to take a look at him on CBS' "Morning Show." A cooperative cameraman moved in close and while his tailor, Robert Stein, watched in Washington, the camera showed him where the suit needed altering—here, here and maybe there.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Joseph C. Niswonger, Winifred Road, Box 491, Cumberland, Maryland, vs. Emma A. Niswonger, Box 334, Scottdale, Pennsylvania. No. 2361 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Respondent.

The Bill states that the parties were married on June 1, 1925, in Cumberland, Maryland; that one child was born of said marriage, who is now an adult; that on January 25, 1948, the parties separated by mutual agreement and have lived separate and apart and without any cohabitation for more than three consecutive years next immediately preceding the filing of the Bill of Complaint and that said separation is permanent and there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation between them; that both parties are adults; that the Complainant is a resident of Allegany County and has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year next immediately preceding the filing of the Bill of Complaint; and that the Respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, but lives at Scottdale, Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

It is, thereupon, this 2nd day of April, 1954, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainant, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 4th day of May, 1954, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill, warning her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 21st day of May, 1954, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Joseph E. Boden, Clerk.

Church Publication Publicizes Keyser

KEYSER — Keyser Presbyterian Church is featured in the current issue of the Presbyterian Survey, an official denominational publication published in Richmond. A picture and a short article, prepared by Paul Rouzer, Keyser, appears in the Church-of-the-Month series. Highlights of the history are noted with particular emphasis on the part played by the church in the evangelization of the surrounding territory in Maryland and West Virginia as well as the challenging future before the church.

The Survey has a circulation of about 27,000 copies per month, mostly in the southern and southwestern states. There are more than 37,000 local churches in the South Presbyterian group at the present time.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE KNOWN AS ALL THOSE LOTS OR PARCELS OF GROUND SITUATED IN POTOMAC PARK, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOTS NOS. 3 AND 4, BLOCK NO. 37 OF POTOMAC PARK ADDITION AND LOTS NOS. 9, 10, 11, 12 AND 13 IN BLOCK NO. 37 IN POTOMAC PARK ADDITION, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, AND IMPROVEMENTS THEREON CONSISTING OF A 1½ STORY FRAME ONE FAMILY DWELLING HOUSE AND ANOTHER SMALL BUILDING.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated September 18, 1951 and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 250, folio 41, and duly assigned to George W. Legge for the purpose of foreclosure and collection, default having occurred in the covenants and conditions in said mortgage, the undersigned Assignee of said mortgage will sell at public auction on South Liberty Street, along side of the Second National Bank in Cumberland, Maryland on

TUESDAY, APRIL 27TH, 1954
At 11:00 o'clock A. M.

Parcel No. 1: All those lots known as Lots Nos. 3 and 4, Block No. 37 of the Potomac Park Addition, a plat of which said Addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, located in Allegany County on the McMullen Highway, about 5 miles West of the City of Cumberland, and more particularly described as a whole as follows, to-wit:

Beginning for the same at a point on the Southerly side of the McMullen Highway at the end of the first line of Lot No. 1, Block No. 37, in said Addition, and running then with said Highway North 69 degrees 31 minutes East 120 feet, then at right angles to said Highway, South 20 degrees 29 minutes East 120 feet to a 20 foot alley, then with it South 69 degrees 31 minutes West 120 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 1, and then reversing said second line North 20 degrees 29 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

Parcel No. 2: All those lots or parcels of land known and designated as Lots Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Block No. 37 in Potomac Park Addition, a plat of which said Addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland situated on or near McMullen Boulevard three miles westward of the City of Cumberland, in Allegany County, Maryland which said lots hereby intended to be conveyed are more particularly described as a whole as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point on the Westerly side of Avenue O at the end of the first line of Lot No. 8, Block No. 37 in said Addition, and running with said Avenue O South 24 degrees 01 minute West 169.9 feet, then at right angles to said Avenue O North 65 degrees 59 minutes West 150 feet to a point on the Easterly side of Avenue N, then with said Avenue, North 24 degrees 1 minute East 129.9 feet to the intersection of a 20 foot alley, then with it North 69 degrees 31 minutes East 57.06 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 8, and then reversing said second line South 65 degrees 59 minutes East 109.3 feet to the place of beginning.

Being part of the property which was conveyed unto Mary A. Wiland by deed of Marvin E. Broadwater et al, dated September 10, 1951, which is recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 235, folio 309.

The above described property is improved by a 1½ story frame one family dwelling, 6 rooms and bath, hot air heating plant, full basement, built-in garage and another small building.

Excepting, however, from the mortgage sale the following described real property. All that lot, piece or parcel of ground lying and being on the southerly side of McMullen Highway known and designated as Lot No. 2, Block No. 37 in Potomac Park Addition located about 5 miles Westerly of the City of Cumberland, a plat of which said addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, which said lot is more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning for the same at a point on the southerly side of McMullen Highway at the end of the first line of Lot No. 1, Block No. 37 in said addition, and running then with said Highway 69 degrees 31 minutes East 40 feet to a stake, then at right angles to said Highway South 20 degrees 29 minutes East 120 feet to the northerly side of a 20 foot alley, then with said alley South 69 degrees 31 minutes West 40 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 1 and then reversing said second line North 20 degrees 29 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

Being the same property which was conveyed unto Eugene B. Gerkins and Martha L. Gerkins, his wife, by deed from James H. Wiland and Mary A. Wiland, his wife, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Cumberland, and South Cumberland Planing Mill Company dated November 3, 1953, recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 254, folio 346.

State and county taxes and other public liens and charges will be adjusted to the date of sale.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash on day of sale as provided in the mortgage and upon the ratification of said sale by the court a good and sufficient deed will be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers thereof.

GEORGE W. LEGGE,
Assignee of Mortgage for the purpose of foreclosure

Market Shows Slight Loss, But Has Successful Week

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP) — The stock market closed a highly successful week today with a slight decline.

Yesterday the market hit a new high for the year, and then it subsided under the weight of moderate selling today.

Throughout the session, prices moved about in a range of about 2 points either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped back 10 cents at $117.70. It had gained 80 cents yesterday at a new high for the year of $117.80, the best level for the average in nearly 24 years.

Volume came to 1,830,000 shares.

Montgomery Ward was quite strong up 2⅛ at 63, and Revere Copper added 2⅝ at 48. Up between 1 and 2 points were U. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers, Reynolds Tobacco "B", and Amerada. Also higher were Skelly Oil, Cities Service, American Telephone, American Woolen, American Cyanamid, and National Distillers.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Boeing, Kennecott Copper, DuPont, General Electric, Southern Railway, and Illinois Central.

U. S. Steel headed the most active list unchanged at 43 on 30,000 shares. It was followed by Glenn Martin up ½ at 24¼, Fedders Quigan up ⅛ at 15⅝, and Zonite products up ⅜ at 5⅛.

The American Stock Exchange was rather mixed. Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were firm.

Joseph C. Niswonger, Winifred Road, Box 491, Cumberland, Maryland, vs. Emma A. Niswonger, Box 334, Scottdale, Pennsylvania. No. 23611 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Respondent.

The Bill states that the parties were married on June 1, 1925, in Cumberland, Maryland; that one child was born of said marriage, who is now an adult; that on January 25, 1948, the parties separated by mutual agreement and have lived separate and apart and without any cohabitation for more than three consecutive years next immediately preceding the filing of the Bill of Complaint and that said separation is permanent and there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation between them: that both parties are adults; that the Complainant is a resident of Allegany County and has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year next immediately preceding the filing of the Bill of Complaint; and that the Respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, but lives at Scottdale, Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

It is, thereupon, this 2nd day of April, 1954, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainant, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 4th day of May, 1954, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill, warning her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 21st day of May, 1954, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Joseph E. Boden, Clerk.

Church Publication Publicizes Keyser

KEYSER — Keyser Presbyterian Church is featured in the current issue of the Presbyterian Survey, an official denominational publication published in Richmond. A picture and a short article, prepared by Paul Rouzer, Keyser, appears in the Church-of-the-Month series. Highlights of the history are noted with particular emphasis on the part played by the church in the evangelization of the surrounding territory in Maryland and West Virginia as well as the challenging future before the church.

The Survey has a circulation of about 27,000 copies per month, mostly in the southern and southwestern states. There are more than 37,000 local churches in the South Presbyterian group at the present time.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE KNOWN AS ALL THOSE LOTS OR PARCELS OF GROUND SITUATED IN POTOMAC PARK, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOTS NOS. 3 AND 4, BLOCK NO. 37 OF POTOMAC PARK ADDITION AND LOTS NOS. 9, 10, 11, 12 AND 13 IN BLOCK NO. 37 IN POTOMAC PARK ADDITION, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, AND IMPROVEMENTS THEREON, CONSISTING OF A 1½ STORY FRAME ONE FAMILY DWELLING HOUSE AND ANOTHER SMALL BUILDING.

Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated September 18, 1951 and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 250, folio 41, and duly assigned to George W. Legge for the purpose of foreclosure and collection, default having occurred in the covenants and conditions in said mortgage, the undersigned Assignee of said mortgage will sell at public auction on South Liberty Street, along side of the Second National Bank in Cumberland, Maryland on

At 11:00 o'clock A. M.

Parcel No. 1: All those lots known as Lots Nos. 3 and 4, Block No. 37 of the Potomac Park Addition, a plat of which said Addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland located in Allegany County on the McMullen Highway, about 5 miles West of the City of Cumberland, and more particularly described as a whole as follows, to-wit:

Beginning for the same at a point on the Southerly side of the McMullen Highway at the end of the first line of Lot No. 1, Block No. 37, in said Addition, and running then with said Highway North 69 degrees 31 minutes East 120 feet, then at right angles to said Highway, South 20 degrees 29 minutes East 120 feet to a 20 foot alley, then with it South 69 degrees 31 minutes West 120 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 1, and then reversing said second line North 20 degrees 29 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

Parcel No. 2: All those lots or parcels of land known and designated as Lots Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 in Block No. 37 in Potomac Park Addition, a plat of which said Addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland situated on or near McMullen Boulevard three miles westward of the City of Cumberland, in Allegany County, Maryland which said lots hereby intended to be conveyed are more particularly described as a whole as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point on the Westerly side of Avenue O at the end of the first line of Lot No. 8, Block No. 37 in said Addition, and running with said Avenue O South 24 degrees 01 minute West 169.9 feet, then at right angles to said Avenue O North 65 degrees 59 minutes West 150 feet to a point on the Easterly side of Avenue N, then with said Avenue, North 24 degrees 1 minute East 129.9 feet to the intersection of a 20 foot alley, then with it North 69 degrees 31 minutes East 57.06 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 8, and then reversing said second line South 65 degrees 59 minutes East 109.3 feet to the place of beginning.

Being part of the property which was conveyed unto Mary A. Wiland by deed of Marvin F. Broadwater et al, dated September 10, 1951, which is recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 235, folio 309.

The above described property is improved by a 1½ story frame one family dwelling, 6 rooms and bath, hot air heating plant, full basement, built-in garage and another small building.

Excepting, however, from the mortgage sale the following described real property. All that lot, piece or parcel of ground lying and being on the southerly side of McMullen Highway known and designated as Lot No. 2, Block No. 37 in Potomac Park Addition located about 5 miles Westerly of the City of Cumberland, a plat of which said addition is recorded in Plat Case Box No. 33 among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, which said lot is more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning for the same at a point on the southerly side of McMullen Highway at the end of the first line of Lot No. 1, Block No. 37 in said addition, and running then with said Highway 69 degrees 31 minutes East 40 feet to a stake, then at right angles to said Highway South 20 degrees 29 minutes East 120 feet to the northerly side of a 20 foot alley, then with said alley South 69 degrees 31 minutes West 40 feet to the end of the second line of said Lot No. 1 and then reversing said second line North 20 degrees 29 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

Being the same property which was conveyed unto Eugene B. Gerkins and Martha L. Gerkins, his wife, by deed from James H. Wiland and Mary A. Wiland, his wife, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Cumberland, and South Cumberland Planing Mill Company dated November 3, 1953, recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland in Liber No. 254, folio 546.

State and county taxes and other public liens and charges will be adjusted to the date of sale.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash on day of sale as provided in the mortgage and upon the ratification of said sale by the court a good and sufficient deed will be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers thereof.

GEORGE W. LEGGE,
Assignee of Mortgage for the purpose of foreclosure.

Market Shows Slight Loss, But Has Successful Week

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP) — The stock market closed a highly successful week today with a slight decline.

Yesterday the market hit a new high for the year, and then it subsided under the weight of moderate selling today.

Throughout the session, prices moved about in a range of about 2 points either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped back 10 cents at $117.70. It had gained 80 cents yesterday at a new high for the year of $117.80, the best level for the average in nearly 24 years.

Volume came to 1,830,000 shares.

Montgomery Ward was quite strong up 2⅛ at 63, and Revere Copper added 2⅝ at 48. Up between 1 and 2 points were U. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers, Reynolds Tobacco "B", and Amerada. Also higher were Skelly Oil, Cities Service, American Telephone, American Woolen, American Cyanamid, and National Distillers.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Boeing, Kennecott Copper, DuPont, General Electric, Southern Railway, and Illinois Central.

U. S. Steel headed the most active list unchanged at 43 on 30,000 shares. It was followed by Glenn Martin up ½ at 24¼, Fedders Quigan up ⅛ at 15⅜, and Zonite products up ⅜ at 5⅛.

The American Stock Exchange was rather mixed. Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were firm.

Grass Fires Scorch Shriver's Hill Area

Numerous Other Blazes Break Out

Firemen of Cumberland, area volunteer companies and forestry workers had a field day all afternoon and last night in combating a number of fires, including a wind-swept grass and brush fire which scorched over five acres of land on Shriver's Hill and endangered a number of homes in that vicinity.

A series of grass fires along the steep slope apparently was started by children at play and the first flames were detected near Independence and Walnut streets. Late last night the fires were reported under control.

With the aid of high winds, the fires ate their way up the hillside, bringing city firemen and volunteer companies into action.

Off-duty firemen were called out during the afternoon to fight the grass fires and several other fires in Cumberland. The first call came in at about 12:30 p. m. when Box 32 was pulled.

Brooms, Rakes Used

Firemen used fire brooms and rakes in an effort to bring the flames under control. Volunteers from Bowman's Addition and Bedford Road companies joined the fight with individual Indian pumps, which contain five gallons of water and are carried on the back.

Difficulty was reported by firemen in getting to the flames. While East Side and West Side companies were out fighting the blaze, volunteer firemen from La-Vale filled in for them.

Central Fire Station was busier than a beehive all afternoon and sirens continually sounded in the city streets as trucks and men were going to and coming from various fires.

West Side received a call from Evergreen Terrace and found the alarm was smoke blowing down from the Shriver Hill section. The call came in at 1:22 p. m.

At 6:03 p. m. yesterday East Side went to the Bedford Street area to check flames from a grass fire and at 6:28, Central firemen joined them in fighting the flames.

Bowman's Addition firemen also went to the area and joined in the fight. Baltimore Pike got into action during the course of the day and battled the blazes.

Volunteers Called

District 16 volunteer firemen from North Branch were called out twice to extinguish a brush fire in the Mexico Farms area, according to Fire Chief Van Malone.

The first alarm came about noon. The North Branch firemen were on the scene about three hours and returned home when they thought they had the blaze out. Wind whipped up the fire again and carried it close to two houses. The flames were burning alongside the Smith family house when the District 16 firemen returned to the scene. South End also answered the first alarm.

About 775 gallons of water were poured on the blaze on the second trip, Malone said. The fire burned about five acres east of Oldtown Road and near the Mexico Farms Road, he added. About 15 volunteer firemen responded.

Several other fires were checked within the city limits during the afternoon.

At 1:10, p. m., West Side reported to the vicinity of the Cumberland Cement Company and extinguished a fire when a telephone pole ignited. Firemen said employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad had been burning brush along the tracks.

Auxiliary Trucks Needed

Even the auxiliary trucks were brought out yesterday and the one from Central station checked an overheated stove in a dining room at 715 North Mechanic Street. The stove, firemen said, ignited the flue. No damage was reported.

South End Company went to Blackiston Avenue at 2:59 p. m. and quenched a grass fire on a vacant lot.

At 4:30 p. m. the same company reported to 31 Mary Street. A resident was burning off a lot and the fire got out of control in the stiff breeze. No damage was reported.

Last night city firemen and volunteers with the aid of forestry workers directed by William H. Johnson, district forester, and other residents were still out attempting to bring the various fires under control as high winds fanned the flames.

PAUL M. FLETCHER

Fletcher Seeks Re-Election As State's Attorney

Will Be Candidate In June 28 Primary

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher announced yesterday he will be a candidate to succeed himself subject to the Republican primary June 28.

Fletcher has served as state's attorney for the past four years and prior to his election to that office in 1950 he had been assistant state's attorney for more than nine years.

He is the eldest son of the late Daniel A. Fletcher and Julia (Barnard) Fletcher and was born at Moscow Mills (Md.). He was educated in the public schools of Cumberland and of Allegany County and was graduated from the Evening Law School of the University of Maryland in June 1929.

He began the practice of law in Allegany County in the fall of 1931, and was married to Gertrude V. Seay the following year. They have one son, Daniel A. Fletcher, now a student at Allegany High School.

State's Attorney Fletcher made the following statement in connection with his announcement:

"During the past four years that I have served as state's attorney I have endeavored to perform the duties of that office honestly, efficiently and conscientiously.

"A consistent effort has been made by myself and those associated with me in the State's Attorney's Office to maintain a steady and continued investigation and prosecution of those who are in violation of the criminal laws.

"No person or group of persons is above the law or exempt from prosecution. With the help of the law enforcement officers of the state, county and municipalities, it is believed that this has been made clear to all who have tried to make a livelihood outside the law.

"I want to thank the Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police, the police departments of Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport, and the Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland Railroad police officers, for their wholehearted cooperation with the State's Attorney's Office during the past four years. Whatever success may have been attained during this time has been entirely due to the active cooperation between all of these law enforcement agencies in our county.

"In seeking renomination for state's attorney in the Republican primary this year, I stand upon the record of the past four years."

The Weather

Yesterday's sunshine and mild temperatures made it pleasant for a stroll, although breezes blew rather briskly. The forecast for today is considerable cloudiness with wind and mild temperatures although it is expected to turn colder this afternoon with possible scattered showers in the west portion. The high temperature recorded yesterday was 65 degrees with a low reading of 22, and at 7:30 p. m. the thermometer registered 57 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 27 per cent.

Barbers Change Hours

Cumberland's organized barbet shops will close at 5:30 p. m. instead of 6 p. m. beginning today, according to a new contract between the Barber Union, Local 314 (AFL) and the shops.

Among the other major changes of the new agreement is a promise that part time barbers will be given a $10 guarantee for Saturdays and days preceding holidays instead of $7.

Officials said that shops will still be closed on Wednesday and that there has been no increase in price for haircuts.

City Voting Rolls Include 14,560 Names

May 11 Is Deadline For Registration

City registration rose to the 14,560 mark on March 31 as the result of 95 new registrations during month.

Listed on the rolls on March 31 were 7,690 white males, 6,599 white females, 173 colored males and 98 colored females.

Yesterday, the registration office, located in the basement of City Hall, registered nine more voters, with women leading six to three.

Officials expect the office to be busy for the next few weeks, since May 11 is the deadline for registering for the primary election, or making any changes in voting records.

Early registration is being urged, since the pre-election registration rush is expected to get under way soon.

The registration office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. Additional hours may be arranged on one or two Saturdays.

The city primary will be held June 1 and the general election on June 15.

Grand Jurors Will Convene Here Monday

Another term of Allegany County Circuit Court will get under way at 10 a. m. Monday when Associate Jurge George Henderson delivers the charge to the 23-member Grand Jury.

John L. Dunkle of Frostburg, retired president of Frostburg State Teachers College, will serve as foreman of the Grand Jury. Six women are on the Grand Jury.

The 25 members of the petit jury panel will not report until 9:15 a.m. Monday, April 19, when criminal trials will start.

The April Grand Jury will be the last investigation of county crime until October. July is a non-jury term of court.

Others serving on the Grand Jury are Frederick D. Steiding, Raymond Purinton, Joseph J. Mattingly, Duke W. Burger, John Park, Edith E. Grose, Harry B. Naugle, Charles S. Catherman Jr., Myers W. Christner, Marguerite T. Findlay and Adolph Blunk, all this city; Althea M. Goetz, Bowling Green; Myrtle Porter and John J. Byrnes, both Eckhart; A. Dewey Mull, Ellerslie; Harry P. Lennox, Zihlman; Shirley May Ferrell, Westernport; Francis Moore, Gilmore; Robert H. Kergan, Wrights Crossing; Mary L. Lemmert, Mt. Savage; Harry C. Walters, Corriganville; and Walter N. Hedrick, Cresaptown.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Joseph C. Niswonger vs. Emma A. Niswonger.

Plan Nature Weekend

Some 20 Scouters of Potomac Council will attend a nature weekend which opens today at 2 p. m. at Camp Potomac.

Four Blazes Burn Timber

District Forester William H. Johnson reported last night that four timber and brush fires occurred yesterday in his four-county Western Maryland district.

One on Wolf's Ridge, on the east side of Dan's Mountain near Pinto, burned one acre of timber and several acres of brush. Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin, Forest Guards George Brown and William Slider, assisted by the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department and Forest Warden Oliver Campbell, extinguished that blaze.

Another at Mexico Farms burned about one-tenth acre of timber, an acre of brush and several acres of grass. District 16 Volunteer Fire Department extinguished this one, after a second trip to stop reviving flames.

In Washington County one-fourth acre was burned on the east side of Sideling Hill. Forest Guard Thomas Dixon and a group of volunteers got that one under control. Another blaze in Garrett County, near Vindex, burned about one acre. Cause of this one was undetermined.

Johnson and several other employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks also assisted city firemen on Shriver's Hill.

Learn About Railroading

Members of a local kindergarten class pose on a Western Maryland Railway train as they begin the 22-mile trip to McCoole yesterday afternoon. They were accompanied by some of their parents, and the others drove to McCoole to provide transportation for the return trip.

County Workers At Institutions Ask Pay Boost

Letter Is Sent To Commissioners

Higher pay for the 119 employes of the County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat was requested in a letter received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Signed by Earl D. Grim, superintendent of the County Infirmary, and Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of the County Home and Sylvan Retreat, the letter asked that the commissioners consider granting higher wages for the employes in preparing the budget this month for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Grim and Messmer suggested that the commissioners might increase wages or adopt some bonus plan which would boost the annual earnings of the workers. Involved are 68 employes at the Infirmary, 37 at Sylvan Retreat and 14 at the County Home.

The commissioners also received reports from State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes disclosing that audits of the accounts of both Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat and former Collector W. H. Strother showed they were in proper order.

The commissioners yesterday also approved the new bonds of Treat and Thomas G. McMorran, tax collector in the Frostburg area.

McKeldin Signs Garrett County Gas Well Bill

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—A Garrett County measure ending State power to regulate the spacing and working of natural gas wells received Gov. McKeldin's signature today.

Sen. Fraley (R-Garrett) and the county's three delegates had protested that a clause in 1953 legislation giving the county commissioners veto rights had halted new operations. So they had the whole thing repealed, including the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources' authority to regulate.

McKeldin signed Fraley's bill, vetoing as unnecessary a similar measure sponsored by the delegates.

BARNET BENEMAN

Barnet Beneman Succumbs At Hospital Here

Barnet Beneman, prominent merchant of Cumberland for the past 50 years, died at 5:30 p. m. yesterday at Memorial Hospital, following a month's illness. He was 85 and resided at 108 Luteman Road.

Mr. Beneman, who was associated with two sons in the firm of B. Beneman and Sons, came to this city from St. Michaels (Md.) in 1902.

He began his career in the mercantile business at St. Michaels as a young man. For the past half century he has been active in commercial and civic life of Cumberland.

Mr. Beneman married the former Belle Rubin and the couple observed their 62d wedding anniversary last August.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three sons, Harry and Milton Beneman, of Cumberland; George R. Beneman, Washington; one sister, Mrs. Ida Korman, Washington, and three grandchildren.

He was a member of B'er Chayim Congregation for 50 years.

A funeral service will be held at the Stein Funeral Home tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. with burial in East View Cemetery.

Pythians Will See Civil Defense Movie

Civil Defense movies will be shown at a meeting of Cumberland Lodge 60, Knights of Pythias, Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Knights of Malta Hall.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Homage To The Queen

Baughman Gets Water Line Job In Frostburg

Town Enlarging Mains For Greater Pressure

The Baughman Construction Company has been awarded the contract and has begun laying a 16-inch cast iron pipe water main from the Frostburg storage reservoir on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain to High Street at the western end of the town.

This project has been under consideration for several years and when completed it will supply Frostburg with a greater volume of water and higher pressure in the city's distribution system.

The laying of this line, according to Frostburg officials, is only the first step to be taken in the enlargement of the numerous water mains which supply water for domestic, industrial and fire-fighting purposes.

Frostburg's water system, designed by Abel Wolman, is rated among the best in this section of the state. During the drought last summer, Frostburg's water consumers had an adequate supply at all times. The city also sold water to the County Board of Education for Mt. Savage High School, and also to the Grahamtown area.

Frostburg's special problem concerning water pressure has been the small water mains in the business section of the town. On several occasions in past years firemen were unable to get more than two or three streams of sufficient pressure to combat flames.

This situation is expected to be corrected to some extent following the completion of the larger main on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Compromise Settles Suit

A $1,000 compromise settlement of a $2,500 suit brought against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company by the widow of a Garrett County man killed by a locomotive was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court with the suit.

The suit had been filed in the name of the State of Maryland, for use and benefit of Bessie Pearl Root, widow and Carl Root, 17-year-old son of George Edward Root, against the B&O Railroad Company.

In the declaration, filed by Attorney Edward J. Ryan, Mrs. Root noted that her husband, then 79 years old, was crossing the B&O tracks at Beckman's Crossing, west of Mountain Lake Park, in Garrett County, last August 31. He was pushing a wheelbarrow and fell between the rails in the path of an approaching locomotive when the barrow's wheel became entangled in some planking, she added. He was killed instantly.

Filed with the declaration was the settlement, which bore the signatures of Ryan and William A. Gunter, attorney for the railroad.

Proceed Notice On Valley Street Bridge Set Monday

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company will be formally notified Monday to begin construction of the Valley Street Bridge, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Mayor Eves made the announcement yesterday after being informed by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, that negotiations for the purchase of the Bowman property had been completed.

Holy Name To Meet

The Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will meet in the church social center tomorrow night after the evening devotions at the church. J. Donald Murray, president, asked that all members attend.

Class Takes Train Ride To McCoole

Keeping a firm grip on green cardboard slips marked "Ticket," some three dozen Cumberland youngsters boarded a Western Maryland Railway train here yesterday for some first-hand experience about railroading.

Planned to round out class study on the subject, the 38 children, most of them members of the B'er Rabbit Kindergarten, made the 22-mile trip to McCoole, accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Stella C. Syckes, and a number of parents.

Many waited patiently at the passenger coach, but a few youngsters took the time to get acquainted with the crew.

C. H. Gilmore, Davis, engineer, and D. T. Ferris, Elkins, the fireman, welcomed the group, and explained in detail to one youngster how coal is fed into No. 209, a K-2 model Baldwin locomotive, one of the engines used for the run to Elkins, W. Va.

The kids got good service from W. H. Bucy, the conductor, who boosted each up the steps into the car for the 42-minute train ride.

The kindergarten children were not the only youngsters being hauled on the train. A number of the children heard the sound of baby chicks and reported the fact to their companions.

All of the parents reported the young travelers have been excited for days, waiting for the journey, but they acted like seasoned travelers as they took off.

Firemen To Attend Short Course At College Park

Two officers of the Cumberland Fire Department expect to attend the third annual Short Course for firemen which will be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, on April 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Chief Virgil A. Parker pointed out that the conference will be conducted by Robert C. Byrus, director of the university's Fire Service Extension, and will be sponsored by State Fire Marshal Charles S. Jackson, insurance commissioner.

A number of qualified speakers will talk on various topics including, "Legal Aspects of Fire Safety," "Fundamentals of Fire Behavior," "Scientific Fire Control," "Hazards of Explosives," and other pertinent subjects.

Teen-Age Boys Admit Taking Newspapers

Two teen-age boys picked up by City Police for taking almost 300 issues of last Friday morning's Cumberland News have readily admitted the theft, according to Lt. James E. Van.

The papers were taken from pickup points for newspaper boys and from in front of stores of two News dealers.

Lt. Van, who apprehended the boys, said police intend to continue checking in order to prevent further pilfering of newspapers from pickup points as well as from doorways after delivery.

24 More Apply For Beverage Licenses

Twenty-four more applications for new alcoholic beverage licenses for the new year starting May 1 were filed yesterday with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

New applications included 10 for beer only, two for beer and wine, seven club-type beer, wine and liquor permits and five other beer, wine and liquor licenses.

They bring to 261 the total number filed. Among them are 125 for beer only, 22 for beer and wine, 42 club-type beer, wine and liquor and 72 other beer, wine and liquor licenses. Hearings on the applications are scheduled for April 26 and 27.

Mahoney Says Administration Is Inefficient

Cites Anne Arundel Welfare Problems

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — George P. Mahoney said today "inefficient management of State fiscal affairs" is responsible for 40 residents of Anne Arundel County, including 36 children, being denied public welfare assistance.

The Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination said most Marylanders will be "understandably surprised" to hear that, out of the State's current 219 million dollar budget, no funds are available to provide the necessities of life for the 40 residents of Anne Arundel County.

"The business conditions which contributed to the present increase in demand for public welfare could not, of course, have been predicted with any accuracy a year ago when the present budget was approved," Mahoney said.

"I think, however, that it serves to point up an example of unrealistic and unbusinesslike budgeting."

Mahoney said the same budget "which has apparently made no provision for the relief of these unfortunates grants a handsome $70,000 as a "contingent reserve" to the administrative offices of a single State institution.

"In other words, one State institution is provided with a fund equal to about nine per cent of its administrative budget—to meet whatever 'emergency' may arise during the year to increase its operating costs. Public welfare funds provided in the same huge budget are insufficient to meet any sudden increase in demand for the actual necessities of life.

"That is not realistic budgeting," Mahoney added. "It illustrates an instance where inefficient management of State fiscal affairs can actually deprive citizens of essential State services and cause real hardship. It is one of the situations which a businesslike administration, such as I hope to offer the people of Maryland, can correct."

Telephone Bills To Reflect Cut In Excise Taxes

Local telephone subscribers will notice the effect of the federal excise tax cuts beginning with their April bills, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company announced yesterday.

C. Walter Haschert, local C&P manager, said this will mean about $20 a year in savings for an average businessman.

The excise tax rate formerly was 15 per cent on local service and on long distance calls costing up to 25 cents.

On calls for which the toll was 25 cents or more, the tax was 25 per cent.

Haschert pointed out that the new, flat 10 per cent rate applies to local and long distance calls as well as to monthly service charges.

The reductions, said Haschert, "will mean, for example, an immediate savings of about $20 a year for a business man in Cumberland who has individual line service and averages $10 per month for out-of-town calls."

Residence users, he said, will benefit proportionately.

He pointed out, however, that the tax cut does not apply to operating taxes the company pays from its revenues.

Judge Determines Driver Negligent

Associate Judge George Henderson decided yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court that Harry C. "Twigg of Mt. Savage Road was guilty of negligence in backing his truck out of a garage at his home.

However, additional testimony must be heard before the amount of damages can be established, Judge Henderson said.

Plaintiff in the $1,500 damage suit are Virgil F. Bowyer of Pittsburgh, Pa., for his own use and the use of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Bowyer's wife contended that their automobile, which she was driving, was badly damaged when it was struck by Twigg's backing truck on Mt. Savage Road.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Thomas G. Andrew of Baltimore and William C. Walsh, this city. Defense attorneys are Thomas N. Berry and Edward J. Ryan.

Barbers Change Hours

Cumberland's organized barber shops will close at 5:30 p. m. instead of 6 p. m. beginning today, according to a new contract between the Barber Union, Local 314 (AFL) and the shops.

Among the other major changes of the new agreement is a promise that part time barbers will be given a $10 guarantee for Saturdays and days preceding holidays instead of $7.

Officials said that shops will still be closed on Wednesday and that there has been no increase in price for haircuts.

City Voting Rolls Include 14,560 Names

May 11 Is Deadline For Registration

City registration rose to the 14,560 mark on March 31 as the result of 95 new registrations during month.

The net gain was only 70, since the names of 25 dead were stricken from the city voting rolls during the month.

Another 29 citizens made changes in their voting records, including changes in names and addresses.

Listed on the rolls on March 31 were 7,690 white males, 6,599 white females, 173 colored males and 98 colored females.

Yesterday, the registration office, located in the basement of City Hall, registered nine more voters, with women leading six to three.

Officials expect the office to be busy for the next few weeks, since May 11 is the deadline for registering for the primary election, or making any changes in voting records.

Early registration is being urged, since the pre-election registration rush is expected to get under way soon.

The registration office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. Additional hours may be arranged on one or two Saturdays.

The city primary will be held June 1 and the general election on June 15.

Grand Jurors Will Convene Here Monday

Another term of Allegany County Circuit Court will get under way at 10 a. m. Monday when Associate Jurge George Henderson delivers the charge to the 23-member Grand Jury.

John L. Dunkle of Frostburg, retired president of Frostburg State Teachers College, will serve as foreman of the Grand Jury. Six women are on the Grand Jury.

The 25 members of the petit jury panel will not report until 9:15 a.m. Monday, April 19, when criminal trials will start.

The April Grand Jury will be the last investigation of county crime until October. July is a non-jury term of court.

Others serving on the Grand Jury are Frederick D. Steiding, Raymond Purinton, Joseph J. Mattingly, Duke W. Burger, John Park, Edith E. Grose, Harry B. Naugle, Charles S. Catherman Jr., Myers W. Christner, Marguerite T. Findlay and Adolph Blunk, all this city; Althea M. Goetz, Bowling Green; Myrtle Porter and John J. Byrnes, both Eckhart; A. Dewey Mull, Ellerslie; Harry P. Lennox, Zihlman; Shirley May Ferrell, Westernport; Francis Moore, Gilmore; Robert H. Kergan, Wrights Crossing; Mary L. Lemmert, Mt. Savage; Harry C. Walters, Corriganville; and Walter N. Hedrick, Cresaptown.

Equity Suit Filed

Plan Nature Weekend

Some 20 Scouters of Potomac Council will attend a nature weekend which opens today at 2 p. m. at Camp Potomac.

Learn About Railroading

Members of a local kindergarten class pose on a Western Maryland Railway train as they begin the 22-mile trip to McCoole yesterday afternoon. They were accompanied by some of their parents, and the others drove to McCoole to provide transportation for the return trip.

County Workers At Institutions Ask Pay Boost

Letter Is Sent To Commissioners

Higher pay for the 119 employes of the County Infirmary, County Home and Sylvan Retreat was requested in a letter received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Signed by Earl D. Grim, superintendent of the County Infirmary, and Raymond G. Messmer, superintendent of the County Home and Sylvan Retreat, the letter asked that the commissioners consider granting higher wages for the employes in preparing the budget this month for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Grim and Messmer suggested that the commissioners might increase wages or adopt some bonus plan which would boost the annual earnings of the workers. Involved are 68 employes at the Infirmary, 37 at Sylvan Retreat and 14 at the County Home.

The commissioners also received reports from State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes disclosing that audits of the accounts of both Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat and former Collector W. H. Strother showed they were in proper order.

The commissioners yesterday also approved the new bonds of Treat and Thomas G. McMorran, tax collector in the Frostburg area.

McKeldin Signs Garrett County Gas Well Bill

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP)—A Garrett County measure ending State power to regulate the spacing and working of natural gas wells received Gov. McKeldin's signature today.

Sen. Fraley (R-Garrett) and the county's three delegates had protested that a clause in 1953 legislation giving the county commissioners veto rights had halted new operations. So they had the whole thing repealed, including the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources' authority to regulate.

McKeldin signed Fraley's bill, vetoing as unnecessary a similar measure sponsored by the delegates.

BARNET BENEMAN

Barnet Beneman Succumbs At Hospital Here

Barnet Beneman, prominent merchant of Cumberland for the past 50 years, died at 5:30 p. m. yesterday at Memorial Hospital, following a month's illness. He was 85 and resided at 108 Luteman Road.

Mr. Beneman, who was associated with two sons in the firm of B. Beneman and Sons, came to this city from St. Michaels (Md.) in 1902.

He began his career in the mercantile business at St. Michaels as a young man. For the past half century he has been active in commercial and civic life of Cumberland.

Mr. Beneman married the former Belle Rubin and the couple observed their 62d wedding anniversary last August.

Surviving, besides his wife, are three sons, Harry and Milton Beneman, of Cumberland; George R. Beneman, Washington; one sister, Mrs. Ida Korman, Washington, and three grandchildren.

He was a member of B'er Chayim Congregation for 50 years.

A funeral service will be held at the Stein Funeral Home tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. with burial in East View Cemetery.

Pythians Will See Civil Defense Movie

Civil Defense movies will be shown at a meeting of Cumberland Lodge 60, Knights of Pythias, Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Knights of Malta Hall.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Baughman Gets Water Line Job In Frostburg

Town Enlarging Mains For Greater Pressure

The Baughman Construction Company has been awarded the contract and has begun laying a 16-inch cast iron pipe water main from the Frostburg storage reservoir on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain to High Street at the western end of the town.

This project has been under consideration for several years and when completed it will supply Frostburg with a greater volume of water and higher pressure in the city's distribution system.

The laying of this line, according to Frostburg officials, is only the first step to be taken in the enlargement of the numerous water mains which supply water for domestic, industrial and fire-fighting purposes.

Frostburg's water system, designed by Abel Wolman, is rated among the best in this section of the state. During the drought last summer, Frostburg's water consumers had an adequate supply at all times. The city also sold water to the County Board of Education for Mt. Savage High School, and also to the Grahamtown area.

Frostburg's special problem concerning water pressure has been the small water mains in the business section of the town. On several occasions in past years firemen were unable to get more than two or three streams of sufficient pressure to combat flames.

This situation is expected to be corrected to some extent following the completion of the larger main on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Compromise Settles Suit

A $1,900 compromise settlement of a $2,500 suit brought against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company by the widow of a Garrett County man killed by a locomotive was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court with the suit.

The suit had been filed in the name of the State of Maryland, for use and benefit of Bessie Pearl Root, widow and Carl Root, 17-year-old son of George Edward Root, against the B&O Railroad Company.

In the declaration, filed by Attorney Edward J. Ryan, Mrs. Root noted that her husband, then 79 years old, was crossing the B&O tracks at Beckman's Crossing, west of Mountain Lake Park, in Garrett County, last August 31. He was pushing a wheelbarrow and fell between the rails in the path of an approaching locomotive when the barrow's wheel became entangled in some planking, she added. He was killed instantly.

Filed with the declaration was the settlement, which bore the signatures of Ryan and William A. Gunter, attorney for the railroad.

Proceed Notice On Valley Street Bridge Set Monday

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company will be formally notified Monday to begin construction of the Valley Street Bridge, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Mayor Eves made the announcement yesterday after being informed by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, that negotiations for the purchase of the Bowman property had been completed.

The Bowman site is the last of three parcels of land which were needed for the new steel span.

Holy Name To Meet

The Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will meet in the church social center tomorrow night after the evening devotions at the church. J. Donald Murray, president, asked that all members attend.

Class Takes Train Ride To McCoole

Keeping a firm grip on green cardboard slips marked "Ticket," some three dozen Cumberland youngsters boarded a Western Maryland Railway train here yesterday for some first-hand experience about railroading.

Planned to round out class study on the subject, the 38 children, most of them members of the B'er Rabbit Kindergarten, made the 22-mile trip to McCoole, accompanied by their instructor, Mrs. Stella C. Syckes, and a number of parents.

Other parents drove to McCoole to pick up the children and return them to their homes.

Many waited patiently at the passenger coach, but a few youngsters took the time to get acquainted with the crew.

C. H. Gilmore, Davis, engineer, and D. T. Ferris, Elkins, the fireman, welcomed the group, and explained in detail to one youngster how coal is fed into No. 209, a K-2 model Baldwin locomotive, one of the engines used for the run to Elkins, W. Va.

The kids got good service from W. H. Bucy, the conductor, who boosted each up the steps into the car for the 42-minute train ride.

The kindergarten children were not the only youngsters being hauled on the train. A number of the children heard the sound of baby chicks and reported the fact to their companions.

All of the parents reported the young travelers have been excited for days, waiting for the journey, but they acted like seasoned travelers as they took off.

Firemen To Attend Short Course At College Park

Two officers of the Cumberland Fire Department expect to attend the third annual Short Course for firemen which will be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, on April 6, 7, 8, and 9.

Chief Virgil A. Parker pointed out that the conference will be conducted by Robert C. Byrus, director of the university's Fire Service Extension, and will be sponsored by State Fire Marshal Charles S. Jackson, insurance commissioner.

A number of qualified speakers will talk on various topics including, "Legal Aspects of Fire Safety," "Fundamentals of Fire Behavior," "Scientific Fire Control," "Hazards of Explosives," and other pertinent subjects.

Teen-Age Boys Admit Taking Newspapers

Two teen-age boys picked up by City Police for taking almost 300 issues of last Friday morning's Cumberland News have readily admitted the theft, according to Lt. James E. Van.

The papers were taken from pickup points for newspaper boys and from in front of stores of two News dealers.

Lt. Van, who apprehended the boys, said police intend to continue checking in order to prevent further pilfering of newspapers from pickup points as well as from doorways after delivery.

24 More Apply For Beverage Licenses

Twenty-four more applications for new alcoholic beverage licenses for the new year starting May 1 were filed yesterday with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

New applications included 10 for beer only, two for beer and wine, seven club-type beer, wine and liquor permits and five other beer, wine and liquor licenses.

They bring to 261 the total number filed. Among them are 125 for beer only, 22 for beer and wine, 42 club-type beer, wine and liquor and 72 other beer, wine and liquor licenses. Hearings on the applications are scheduled for April 26 and 27.

Four Blazes Burn Timber

District Forester William H. Johnson reported last night that four timber and brush fires occurred yesterday in his four-county Western Maryland district.

One on Wolf's Ridge, on the east side of Dan's Mountain near Pinto, burned one acre of timber and several acres of brush. Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin, Forest Guards George Brown and William Slider, assisted by the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department and Forest Warden Oliver Campbell, extinguished that blaze.

Another at Mexico Farms burned about one-tenth acre of timber, an acre of brush and several acres of grass. District 16 Volunteer Fire Department extinguished this one, after a second trip to stop reviving flames.

In Washington County one-fourth acre was burned on the east side of Sideling Hill. Forest Guard Thomas Dixon and a group of volunteers got that one under control. Another blaze in Garrett County, near Vindex, burned about one acre. Cause of this one was undetermined.

Johnson and several other employes of the State Department of Forests and Parks also assisted city firemen on Shriver's Hill.

Homage To The Queen

Miss Florabelle Walker, who is presiding as Queen Maple VII at the Somerset County Maple Sugar Festival, receives the tribute of loyal subject Billy Paxton during festivities yesterday in Meyersdale, Pa. Miss Walker, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker, Berlin, Pa. The celebration ends with a historical pageant Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Mahoney Says Administration Is Inefficient

Cites Anne Arundel Welfare Problems

BALTIMORE, April 2 (AP) — George P. Mahoney said today "inefficient management of State fiscal affairs" is responsible for 40 residents of Anne Arundel County, including 36 children, being denied public welfare assistance.

The Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination said most Marylanders will be "understandably surprised" to hear that, out of the State's current 219 million dollar budget, no funds are available to provide the necessities of life for the 40 residents of Anne Arundel County.

"The business conditions which contributed to the present increase in demand for public welfare could not, of course, have been predicted with any accuracy a year ago when the present budget was approved," Mahoney said.

"I think, however, that it serves to point up an example of unrealistic and unbusinesslike budgeting."

Mahoney said the same budget "which has apparently made no provision for the relief of these unfortunates grants a handsome $70,000 as a "contingent reserve" to the administrative offices of a single State institution.

"In other words, one State institution is provided with a fund equal to about nine per cent of its administrative budget—to meet whatever 'emergency' may arise during the year to increase its operating costs. Public welfare funds provided in the same huge budget are insufficient to meet any sudden increase in demand for the actual necessities of life.

"That is not realistic budgeting," Mahoney added. "It illustrates an instance where inefficient management of State fiscal affairs can actually deprive citizens of essential State services and cause real hardship. It is one of the situations which a business-like administration, such as I hope to offer the people of Maryland, can correct."

Telephone Bills To Reflect Cut In Excise Taxes

Local telephone subscribers will notice the effect of the federal excise tax cuts beginning with their April bills, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company announced yesterday.

C. Walter Haschert, local C&P manager, said this will mean about $20 a year in savings for an average businessman.

The excise tax rate formerly was 15 per cent on local service and on long distance calls costing up to 25 cents.

On calls for which the toll was 25 cents or more, the tax was 25 per cent.

Haschert pointed out that the new, flat 10 per cent rate applies to local and long distance calls as well as to monthly service charges.

The reductions, said Haschert, "will mean, for example, an immediate savings of about $20 a year for a business man in Cumberland who has individual line service and averages $10 per month for out-of-town calls."

Residence users, he said, will benefit proportionately.

He pointed out, however, that the tax cut does not apply to operating taxes the company pays from its revenues.

Judge Determines Driver Negligent

Associate Judge George Henderson decided yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court that Harry C. Twigg of Mt. Savage Road was guilty of negligence in backing his truck out of a garage at his home.

However, additional testimony must be heard before the amount of damages can be established, Judge Henderson said.

Plaintiff in the $1,500 damage suit are Virgil F. Bowyer of Pittsburgh, Pa., for his own use and the use of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Bowyer's wife contended that their automobile, which she was driving, was badly damaged when it was struck by Twigg's backing truck on Mt. Savage Road.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Thomas G. Andrew of Baltimore and William C. Walsh, this city. Defense attorneys are Thomas N. Berry and Edward J. Ryan.
